DISTRICT PICTOGRAPH SURVEYS — SUCCESSFUL

Miner and News readers will recall a recent article in this paper which dealt with the subject of pictographs and the search for same conducted by Selwyn Dewdney. Mr. Dewdney was in the Kenora area recording finds from July 31st to August 12th. To date he has recorded a total of 35 sites at Sudbury, North Bay, Gogama, Geraldton, Port Arthur, Sioux Lookout and the Port Arthur areas and of course the Kenora District. With this summer's work he has recorded a total of seventy sites all together.

In an interview with Mr. Dewdney, he stated that newspaper publicity was responsible for the investigating of new sites in this area. Most notable example was an exciting find in the Sioux Narrows area brought to the attention of Mr. Dewdney by two Winnipeg residents, Bruce and Dorothy Johnson. The Johnson's, who holiday at Sioux Narrows, guided Dewdney to a dramatic site at the south end of Fergus Channel, in Whitefish Bay.

The site visible from the lake was accessible only by a tricky climb up a fifty foot cliff. This interesting pictograph included among its symbols a turtle, a bird man, a dog and two ladder like objects.

To refresh memories, a pictograph is a small red painting on vertical rock faces by the water. They are quite small, usually about a foot square and smaller. Mostly they are in red but they have been known to be painted in white. One must be very observant to spot one. The drawings co-related with local folklore and other evidence of vanished cultures, will help to rebuild a picture of stone age man in the Shield country.

Mr. Dewdney is sponsored by the Quetico Foundation, the Wilderness Centre in Minnesota and the Royal Ontario Museum. Tracings, measurements and photos in color are the basis for the final drawing made to

While in Kenora Mr. Dewdney with the co-operation of the Department of Lands and Forests who provided transportation, made three excursions by plane and two by boat. On a flight to Grassy Narrows, three sites, one at the narrows and two in Delaney Lake were recorded.

A session with three of the older Indians, including Chief Pierre Tapookeezhik added to the mythological material already collected, which concerned the Mamaygwaysewuk, men said to live inside the rocks where the pictographs are, and believed by the Indians of the past to have painted the pictographs. The session reached a climax when the Chief presented Dewdney with the medicine bag of one of the last practicing medicine men of the area, who died recently. The Chief asked that the medicine bag and its contents be preserved in the Museum.

In a flight to Whitedog and Rex Lake, pictographs were recorded at White Dog and two sites north of the reserve. Later in Kenora, Canon Sanderson completed the details by telling Mr. Dewdney the story of the white dog shown in the pictograph, which according to legend, appeared on the rock after a feast and thus the lake received its name.

On a flight to Dryberry Lake, two sites were recorded on the northeast shore of the lake. One of these was first noticed by geologist McInnes in 1895.

On a boat trip to Sunset Channel, one of the most interesting sites was found, following a lead provided in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institute of 1893. This was a petroglyph, or a rock carving. This was found on a reef near a small island off the south shore of the channel. These carvings are probably much more ancient than the paintings. Only one other site is known of in Ontario and it is north of Peterborough. Mr. Dewdney is now in the Fort Frances area, and will be returning shortly to his home in southern Ontario. He was accompanied on his excursions by his wife Irene and sons Peter and Christopher. On air flights, Peter acted as his dad's assistant, while wife Irene and the other son served in the same capacity on boat trips.

Mr. Dewdney is well known to many in Kenora since he lived here for a great many years. As well as his present work, he is a noted illustrator of children's books.

Hubert S. Galloway Died In Victoria

Word has been received in Kenora of the death of Mr. Hubert S. Galloway, of 1155 Rockland Avenue, Victoria, British Columbia. The death occurred in that city on Wednesday, August 26th. The late Mr. Galloway was a former well known resident of Kenora. Funeral arrangements are pending and when received, the complete obituary will appear in this paper.

Keewatin Diocese To Be Represented At General Synod

The election of a new Primate (chief bishop) for the Anglican Church of Canada and a two day discussion of the contents of a revised Prayer Book will be the main items of business when the General Synod of the Church meets at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, from September 1st to September 9th.

Representing a constituency which numbers approximately one eighth of the population of Canada, some 450 leading churchmen will converge on Ste. Anne's for the meetings. They will come from every province and from the Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

Going from Kenora and other points of northern Ontario and representing the Diocese of Keewatin will be: The Right Reverend H. E. Hives, The Very Reverend L. M. Watts, Mr. E. L. Carter, Archdeacon L. R Willis of Churchill, and Mr. S. G. Hancock of Atikokan

There are 43 bishops eligible to attend, and the 28 dioceses will also be represented by an equal number of clergy and laity numbering almost 300. Two of the lay representatives will be women, one representing the Diocese of Toronto and the other the northern British Columbia Diocese of Caledonia. Heads of departments from Church House, Toronto will be there to present their reports.

The election of a Primate will take place in St. George's Anglican Church on Saturday September 5th.

The newly installed Primate will be installed in office at a service in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal at a service on the evening of the following day.

Prayer Book revision will occupy the attention of the Synod at morning, afternoon and evening sessions on Thursday and Friday September 3rd and 4th.

New Savings Bonds Go On Sale In October

Ottawa, — The 1958 Canada Savings bonds will be withdrawn from sale Aug. 31 and a new series will be issued in October.

Finance Minister Fleming said yesterday detailed terms of the 1959 Canada Savings loan—14th in the savings bonds series—will not be announced until September.

However, Mr. Fleming said the new bonds will "retain all the advantages of immediate liquidity and convenience of purchase which has made past offerings so successful."

The finance department has a thorny problem to solve in pricing the issue.

In view of current high interest rates in Canada, the new savings bonds will have to yield a high rate to attract buyers—but a too-high rate would simply induce holders of older savings bonds to cash them in and buy the new issue.

Sales of the 1958 series have reached $921,000,000. They are 15-year bonds, maturing Nov. 1, 1973, with an effective rate of 4.19 per cent, if held to maturity.

WE REGRET

In yesterday's issue of the Miner and News, a full page advertisement told of the forthcoming visits of Swift's Money Man to numerous stores. Missed in the list were Perrin's Grocery, Raymond's Grocery, Smith's Grocery, Public Grocery and Alex's Grocery.

The Swift's Money Man will certainly call at these stores, too. Please watch for him.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD AUTHORIZES RENOVATIONS TO VARIOUS SCHOOLS

Business pertaining to the school buildings and grounds was dealt with at length by the Kenora Public School Board at its regular meeting on Monday night. It was agreed to share with the High School Board the cost of surveying part of Block "B", Plan No. 158, known as the "Pond", and to apply to Town of Kenora for title to 2.22 acres of this area for the enlargement of the North Ward playground. Architectural fees for various renovations and installations were authorized paid as were survey fees for a contour and site plan of the West Ward School area, preparatory to completion of final plans for the addition. Some further landscaping work is required at Evergreen to complete the project. It was agreed that a larger riding lawn mower would be required next year to take care of the greater grass areas at the various schools.

Moving into the schools, it was agreed to proceed with the installation of vertical fabric drapes at King George VI School as the present drapes are at the end of their usefulness. At South Ward School, front blackboard lighting is to be installed and furniture ordered for the new kindergarten room. This classroom is now complete except for the installation of a folding partition. The purchase of a frig, drapes, and furniture for the teachers' rooms at Central School was also authorized. The Norman Community Club building has now been leased for a temporary classroom and Mr. Caron, the caretaker at West Ward, has agreed to take care of this room as well.

It has always been the policy of the Board to encourage the use of school buildings after school hours for worthwhile community efforts and it is noted that increasing use is being made of them. For the sake of efficient administration, rules and regulations have been formulated. These will be available to interested organizations as soon as they are received from the printer.

In other business, the Board approved for payment accounts totalling $30,387.68. For the Board office, it was decided to buy a new adding machine but to hold in abeyance for the time being the matter of air conditioning equipment.

40 LOCAL STURGEON SHIPPED TO RUSSIA

Some 40 young sturgeon from district waters are bound for northern Russia. The story came to light last week-end when the Miner and News visited the local fish hatchery in company with Mr. Mickey Linkletter, head of the Fish and Wildlife Division of the Dept. of Lands and Forests.

It seems that the exchange of sturgeon between the two countries was deemed a fair trade. Unfortunately, on the first attempt, the local sturgeon were placed in conditions in Eastern Ontario which proved fatal. A four attempt was made with the sets being placed in Namakan Lake, east of Fort Frances. After a week of searching, the men of the Department found litterly thousands of young sturgeon in one certain spot in the lake. They netted a thousand and selected the best 40 for shipment to Russia. They were flown by Otter aircraft to the Kenora Hatchery where Mr. Ed Turner kept tract of them until they were again ready. A second Otter aircraft picked up the fish and flew them to Eastern Ontario early this week.

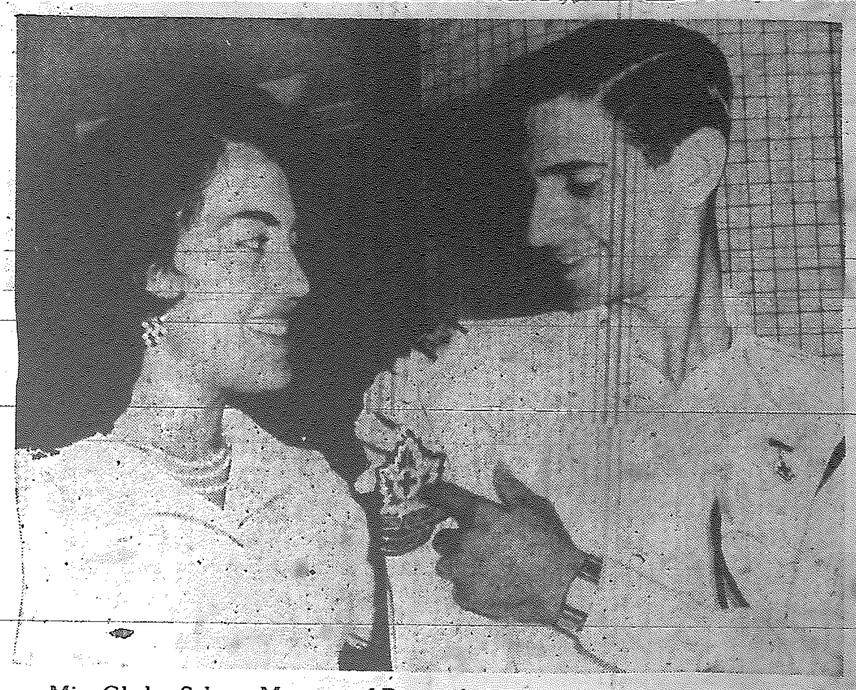
The sturgeon captured in Namakan Lake averaged between 8 and 40 inches and were up to 20 years of age.

Russian Fish

In exchange, Russia is to supply sturgeon to Ontario. The Russian sturgeon mature at an age of three or four years rather than required by ours.

They are a smaller fish than ours reaching an average length of two to three feet. Ours are not legal until they are 38 inches long.

Russian sturgeon may provide an interesting and valuable species to Ontario water.



Miss Gladys Salazar Moscoso of Peru, who attended the recent Junior Red Cross International Study Meetings at Toronto and who spent a week in Kenora, the guest of Miss Margaret Ann Jackson, is pictured above. She is getting a first hand view of the conference crest worn by Bejan Vakaria of Pakistan. Each of the two hundred delegates wore one of the crests. Miss Marilyn Gunn of Kenora represented the high school at the sessions.

Decision On Winter Work By Sept. 1st

Ottawa—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday he hopes a decision about the government works program for the coming winter will be made by Sept. 1.

Speaking to reporters on his return by air from a western trip, he also reiterated his statement that the government is not following any policy of tight money.

He was asked what the difference is between the existing money situation with chartered bank loans sharply rationed and the Bank of Canada interest rate at a record height—and the situation that existed about three years ago under the former Liberal government.

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that "there has been no freezing of the money supply" at this time.

But three years ago the Bank of Canada — "apparently with the knowledge and certainly with the connivance of the Liberal government" —was following a policy of restraining chartered bank lending.

The prime minister didn't elaborate on the point.

External Affairs Minister Green, who came to Uplands airport to greet the prime minister, was asked about the current tense situation in Laos. He said reactivation of the Laos truce commission comprising Canada, India and Poland, is not imminent.

But he said the Canadian government is concerned, and watching events in Laos closely.

Port Arthur May Hike Grade 12 Average To 60%

Port Arthur—Port Arthur secondary school students this year may be required to achieve a 60 per cent average in grade 12 before undertaking a full course in grade 13.

Now under study by Port Arthur Board of Education, the new move was discussed Tuesday at the regular meeting following a letter from the superintendent of secondary education in Ontario. It indicated a student should not anticipate success in grade 13 unless 60 per cent is achieved in grade 12 subjects. To date only a 50 per cent average has been required.

High school principals have long favored the average hike.

May Have To Repeat

Letters from Collegiate and Lakeview heads have requested parents to consider their children entering grade 13 only with the suggested average.

Principals are of the opinion students failing to achieve 60 per cent but having at least 50 per cent should be assigned to those subjects in grade 13 the principal feels the student can handle, and be asked to repeat certain grade 12 subjects to obtain better grounding and standing.

Those failing some grade 12 subjects will be asked to repeat them but will be allowed to take grade 13 subjects which 60 per cent has been achieved.

Gordon P. Dalzell, Port Arthur director of education, was requested to submit a report for study at the next meeting.

MINIMUM AGE FOR MARRIAGE

RHODES, Greece — The World Council of Churches heard a plea [illegible] "convention of marriage," fixing 15 years as the minimum age at which a girl can be legally married.

The plea was made by Madeleine Barot of the French Reformed Church.

She said the convention also should provide that the consent of the bride as well as the groom should be required, plus that of her father, brother or guardian.

Every marriage should be registered in writing so that a marriage could be broken off only by a written document.

The suggestions were included in the report of the commission on ecumenical action.

Council members represent Anglican, General Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches throughout the world. The Roman Catholic church is not a member, although it has two priests here as observers.

I like to win the games I play,
But whether I have lost or won,
Whatever be the sport I say:
I only play a game for fun.

I do not play for argument,
I stop when quarrels are begun,
To work for money, I'm content
I only play a game for fun.

I'd hate to quit a game in shame;
In bitterness to have it end.
I'm happier to lose a game
Than win, and lose a friend.

CANADIAN NAVY

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Due to the fact that certain remarks were made in regard to the outcome of the first final game on Monday evening, which cast an unsavoury reflection on the coaches, umpires and officials of the league, I wish to make clear to everyone concerned that these remraks were not those of any league representative. The only official releases given to press and radio are the vital statistics of all games played and the write-ups of Mr. Bob Baker who is now on vacation.

In consequence, a special meeting of the executive was called last evening to explain and discuss this matter and to clear up any misunderstanding and ill-feeling that may have been prevalent between the persons concerned.

It was mutually agreed therefore, to protect the dignity of the league, the players, the coaches and the umpires, that the 6th inning of this game will be continued from the point of play where the contention arose, to the completion of the game.

I would kindly ask all exuberant parents of boys playing in the league, to please refrain from coaching from the fence and stands. They have their instructions from their individual coaches and this practice only contends to distract them from the game. Cheer them in, yes, but let the coaches concerned do their job.

Jack W. Salmon,
President.

fall so that the grass is well established before winter sets in. Well-rooted plants will suffer less from drought and heat next summer.

Start your final seedbed preparation about ten days before the chosen sowing date. Stir the soil occasionally to destroy the weeds that have started. Roll and rake the area to produce a fine, level seedbed. On large areas, try dragging a plank back and forth to produce the same level effect. At seeding time most of the soil should be as fine as sifted ashes.

Don't skimp on seed. A seeding rate of 3 to 5 pounds per 1,000 square feet is best when Kentucky Bluegrass forms a high percentage of the mixture. Sow half the seed over the entire area. Then seed the rest at right angles to the first. To insure an even job it is best to sow when there is little wind.

After seeding, rake the soil lightly to cover the seed to a depth of ⅛ to ¼ inch. Rake in one direction, to prevent collection of the seed in ridges A light covering of screened topsoil may be applied as an alternative.

Rolling to firm the soil around the seed will encourage uniform germination. Be sure that the roller is dry, or else some seed may be picked up and wasted. Roll again after the grass germinates and after the first cutting.

Watering? Use a fine spray. Be careful not to wash away seed. Keep the area uniformly moist, but not saturated.

SINGING NOT GOOD ENOUGH

YAKIMA, Wash. — Philip Lombardo, 65, was charged with creating a public nuisance. He sang operatic arias — too much and too loudly, said his neighbours.

Said Lombardo: "I sing because I am full of happiness."

When Justice of the Peace Thomas Grady asked for a sample, the defendant sang lustily.

"Good?" he asked.

"No," said Grady.

He gave Lombardo a four-month suspended sentence.

For Better Lawns Seed In The Fall

It's a good idea to follow nature's plan and sow your lawn in the late summer or early fall, according to horticulturists of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Why? Well, during this period heat is not so intense and there are fewer weeds. What's more, the cooler weather encourages good rooting. Sow in the early

Juvenile Baseball

Glenn Young's Cubs are worthy champions of the Kenora Juvenile baseball league. Scoring a convincing win over Keewatin Pony All Stars, making two straight in a best of three series. If there were shining lights or stars if you wish, then, they should go to Blair Swanson and Joe Phelan. Blair was the master, Joe was the worker. This writer's opinion, all members of both teams were excellent. I do not wish to take anything away from any who took part, but the two gentlemen above named had it when it was most needed. Final score Cubs 18 Keewatin 10

Summary by Innings

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	R	H
Cubs	0	1	2	6	1	3	5	18	9
Keewatin	1	2	1	3	2	1	0	10	5

Winning pitcher B. Swanson.
Losing pitcher W. Garrow.

This closes a most successful season. Speaking for myself and my co-worker, Mr. Stan Cox, we were well rewarded for all time and effort we put into this by the behaviour of the boys, true sports in every sense of the word. And the Keewatin boys, you were most worthy challengers, a fine team of ball players, and we hope we have the pleasure of meeting you again next season. In the meantime be good boys and stay as you are.

Our sincere thanks to George Styles umpire behind the plate, Tom Davidson 1st base, and Bill Dunford 3rd base, for outstanding service. To the fans in Keewatin and Kenora thanks for your attendance, we enjoyed your enthusiasm and hope you enjoyed the games. To the Kenora branch of the Canadian Legion, thank you gentlemen for the donation of baseballs. On behalf of the personnel of this League, we wish to say thanks to the Radio and Press, we wish you all the best in your endeavour of presenting our cause to the reading and listening public, the best of good luck to you all. So until next year when we hope to be bigger and better, we say au revoir.

Now to football when we shall meet most of you boys again displaying your talents.

Bye for now and God Bless you.
Bill Watkinson.

Soils and Trees

Realizing the need for training its employees in the proper assessment of all the factors which enter the picture regarding soils for the reproduction of trees, the Department of Lands and Forests conducts periodic courses, one of which was recently held at Fort Frances for the benefit of employees from the Sioux Lookout, Kenora and Fort Frances Districts.

The study of soils is regarded by most people as a subject closest to the agricultural use of land.

In timber management a thorough knowledge of soils is just as necessary. Before farm crops are planted, many factors are taken into account; the soil is turned, cultivated and fertilized. Similarily, before tree crops are planted, the planting area is studied to find out which species of trees are most suited to the site. This insures that the maximum amount of growth is obtained from the tree crop, plus assurance that the trees will grow to be good healthy specimens yielding top quality timber. Type of soil, depth, acidety nutrient content and availability of moisture are all taken into consideration. At the same time we ascertain if scarification and fertilization are required.

How each of these factors affect a tree not only when it is planted, but througout its entire lifetime must be taken into account.

Farm crops are harvest every year and may be rota annually; but with trees taki a hundred years or more mature, the right start is impo ant. The trees we plant tod will have to supply our needs timber in the future.

You and Your Camera

ARTICLE NO. 12
by Jerry Field

You can compare them with automobiles!

Many of us grew up with Model T cars and box cameras - and they both served us well. Yet, just as there's a world of difference between the elementary gas buggies of yesterday and the quick-starting, easy - handling, and smooth-riding autos of today, so is there a whale of a difference between the early limited - range cameras and some of the modern models that make easy pictures better pictures, difficult ones simple, and "impossible" ones probable.

But in both instances, it hasn't all been done with equipment alone! Fuels and films had to keep pace. Just as a modern car could never perform without advanced gasolines, so would a modern camera be denied its full range without the tremendously improved films now available. And, just as the auto has to have the carburetion and compression factors to put high-octane fuels to work, so does a cameras need the right lens and shutter combination to do justice to the new speed and texture of black-and-white films and the color range of full-color emulsions.

The camera that fully meets these standards is surely that small but mighty picture maker - the "35". And the films that are made for it are many and wonderful.

Most owners of 35 mm cameras, lean toward slides and color prints. Yet the black-and-white films made for them are certainly worthy of mention.

For average shooting there are fast and fine-grained emulsions with a basic sunlight exposure of 1/200th of a second at f/11 - but of course you have to have a camera that will shoot at a 200th or faster in order to appreciate them. Then there are ultrafine-gained films of reasonable speed - and they're the ones to use if you're looking ahead to good-sized enlargements which are very possible from the detailed images recorded by a 35mm camera's fine lens. And there are super-fast films with which, plus the wide-opening lens of a "35", you can pretty much shoot by an if-you-can-see-'em, you-can-get-'em yardstick. All three films, for 35 mm cameras, are supplied in 20 - and 36-exposure rolls - and priced very reasonably thanks to the small-sized film these cameras take. You can shoot fast, and often.

But it's in color that these cameras really shine.

From the "35's" small but crisp color negatives made from one of the leading films on the market, processing labs can now automatically make 2½-by 3½-inch color prints, just as from the larger negatives of other cameras. And with this same film you can obtain reasonably-priced color enlargements up to 11 by 14 inches. Also, from these negatives, you can get high-quality black-and-white prints - thanks to the recent debut of a new-type panchromatic paper. But if color slides are your primary objective, you'll need another type color film, which by the reversal process, results directly in full color slides for viewing or greatly magnified projection. Prints and enlargements can be made from this film too - although at a somewhat higher cost.

With another new and modern film, you can either have it processed for you by local labs - or you can process it yourself into full-color transparencies . . . for viewing or projection . . . or for prints and enlargements. It's about a stop and a half faster, with beautiful and warm coloring. But its big appeal, of course, is to the do-it-yourself picture maker who wants to follow through himself all the way from shooting to showing. The home processing requires pains, sure enough - but not too much time or money.

Personally, I'm a lazy photographer - which is why I like the 35mm camera. I'm all for good pictures. But I also like all possible help in getting them. Which believe me, is precisely what a sure-shooting little "35" and its fine stable of low-cost film add up to!

CANADIANS SAID NARROW-MINDED

NORTH BAY — Shapely Serena Cody, 22, fresh from Portugal, thinks Canadians are narrow-minded because she was ejected from a local motel for wearing a bikini on the motel's private beach.

Serena and her 241-pound wrestler husband, Bud, moved to another motel here where she said there were no objections. She was back on the beach, in one of her four handkerchief size bikinis.

"No woman should be afraid to display her figure if she is blessed with a good one," she said. Hers is 37-22-36 moulded in a five foot seven frame.

"I'm surprised Canadian women take so little care of their appearance," she said. "They come out on the beach with curlers in their hair as though they worked in an iron foundry."
