Learning to communicate with others is one of the fundamental skills painstakingly taught handicapped youngsters who receive help through the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. A well-equipped and professionally staffed speech therapy department is included in the plans for the proposed $4,088,490 Ontario Crippled Children's Centre, for which a public appeal will open January 12th throughout the province.

HOW CAN WINTER EMPLOYMENT BE STIMULATED? SPEAKER TELLS HOW

Mr. T. E. Wakeman of the Kenora office, Unemployment Insurance Commission, recently addressed the Kinsmen Club on the subject "How Can Winter Employment be Stimulated?" The entire speech as given by Mr. Wakeman is being published since it is a topic of vital importance to Kenora and surrounding area.

WHAT IS SEASONAL UNEMPLOYMENT

Each year a fairly regular cycle of increasing employment, full employment, increasing unemployment and considerable unemployment occurs in Canadian industry. During the peak of employment in the summer months it has become increasingly difficult to find suitable help. During the peak of seasonal unemployment which occurs in the winter, much man power is wasted and money lost to the unemployed worker with resultant distress and hardship.

I believe that you will agree with me that one of the greatest catastrophes that can befall any

Magistrate's Court

Only case on the docket this morning was the sentencing of two Kenora youths, one aged 17 and one 18 years old. Both had been found guilty earlier of stealing and breaking probation. On the theft charge they were given 6 months in an Ontario Reformatory and for breaking probation 6 months definite and three months indefinite.

Rotary Club To Assist With March Of Dimes Campaign

"Their tomorrow begins today," was the theme of a campaign meeting of the Kenora Rotary Club to prepare for the Ontario Crippled Children's Centre Building Fund which begins within the next few days, as members received canvassing kits and saw a film of the plans which will provide for crippled children of Ontario the first centre of its kind in the world.

President W. H. Marr presided, and one visiting Rotarian from Fort Frances was welcomed. Attendance was 87.27% and last week 90.91%. Dr. R. G. Davidson was welcomed back, as well as Gordon O'Neil and Art Richmond who spent the Christmas holidays in Florida, and came back from a temperature of 82 above to 33 below zero.

It was announced that the international Goodwill meeting of the Winnipeg Rotary Club would be held on Saturday, February 21st at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. The Kenora club is usually strongly represented at this meeting.

PRESENT SITUATION LOCALLY

Presently there are 699 men and 220 women in the area served by the Kenora office of The National Employment Service who are unemployed and registered with the office although this compares favourably with last year when there were 932 men and 137 women were unemployed and registered with the office. Still these are people without work. The majority of these people have been able to qualify for and are receiving unemployment insurance benefit.

While unemployment insurance does, to a degree, help to bridge the gap between jobs; it does not completely overcome a person's loss in wages and the resultant reduction in his or her standard of living.

WHY DO WE HAVE SEASONAL UNEMPLOYMENT

Why, do we have seasonal unemployment? Most of you will say "it is the cold weather". Yes, many of us still believe that seasonal unemployment is the inevitable and unalterable result of climate. A trite and ready comment is: "It's the climate and you can't change that". But is that the right attitude? What progress would have occurred if, through the years, man had maintained that there was no way to carry a load but upon one's back. What progress would have occurred if man had been convinced that

COUNCIL TO BE ASKED TO ARRANGE FOR THE TAKING OF AN EARLY VOTE

By a large majority show of hands, members of the Kenora Chamber of Commerce and other citizens attending the meeting on Monday evening, went on record to request the Town Council to hold a referendum on the establishment of a lounge license for the sale of liquor, and dining room lounge license for the sale and consumption of liquor with meals.

President D. Kennedy was in the chair, and he welcomed those attending the meeting who had accepted the board's invitation. K. McInnis, director of the Chamber, said he was in favour of the proposal to hold a referendum. Speaking as an individual he felt Kenora should be brought into line with other communities in this regard.

Those applying for licenses would have to develop their premises, if granted the licenses, and would have to meet stringent regulations. It would be a sizeable investment and bring about more taxes and permanent employment of from fifteen to twenty men as extra staff and keep dollars in town now going to Sioux Narrows and Falcon Lake.

It would bring about better restaurant facilities to serve citizens and visitors, and with no reflection on local restaurants he felt they could be dressed up and offer more attractive facilities of a social nature if granted the dining room licenses.

The speaker was also of the opinion that the granting of licenses would bring about a curtailment of drinking, for the present system of purchasing liquor left much to be desired, for the bottle purchase generally meant the bottle consumed. He personally would wholeheartedly endorse the application.

Mr. I. Edmundson pointed out Port Frances was also planning to make application, Mr. A. R. Reeves said he was not in favour of cocktail bars, and pointed out that Montreal was cutting down on such facilities, more and more.

In reply to an inquiry, T. A. O'Flaherty, gave information on those eligible to vote on such a referendum. All were eligible who resided here three months prior to preparing of the voters list, who were British subjects and over 21 years of age.

A three-fifths majority of the voters for the affirmative was necessary, to place the Ontario Liquor Board in a position to consider applications for the issuance of licenses. It required a special voters' list. The town would look after the polls, and the Province supplies ballots etc., and the town provides the polling places. The referendum had to be advertised three months prior to the taking of the vote. The Town council would have to pass a resolution asking for the taking of the referendum, or in the event that the council did not do so, a petition signed by 25% of the eligible vote would be required to secure the vote.

Other opinions were expressed before the vote was taken indicating that a large majority of those present favoured asking for the referendum.

Prior to the discussion on the referendum, Reeve E. W. Byers of Jaffray and Melick addressed the meeting on the proposed road from Duluth to Winnipeg, and the formation of the Duluth Seaport Construction Corporation whose plans called for a one hundred million project to include enlargement of Duluth harbour and storage facilities. A resolution of Winnipeg was president and four of the seven directors.

Mrs. D. Sewell Wins Prize In National Baking Contest

That Kenora's cooks rate with some of the best in the country is evident when two local ladies have been awarded prizes in a country wide baking contest.

Mrs. Doreen Sewell like Mrs. Sawchuk also of Kenora has repeated a feat of a year ago in winning one of the many prizes offered in a national bakefest. Mrs. Sewell has been advised that she has won a food mixer.

In a telephone conversation with Mrs. Sewell, she stated that she had sent in three recipes and one for orange-lemon fig bars had been selected by the judges. Mrs. Sewell also said that she had won her first baking contest in England at the age of sixteen, the prize being a scholarship. "Now I'm trying to think up a recipe for this year's contest to see if I can win top prize," concluded Mrs. Sewell.

INTRODUCING THE FILM
I have here a 13 minute whimsical cartoon film called "It's a Crime."

This film was considered by many to be the most entertaining and original at its premiere showing at the Stratford Film Festival in August of 1957. This is the first public showing of the film in Kenora. Unfortunately, there was so much demand I was not able to get this film last winter.

The film depicts a debonnaire gentleman safecracker, who has long grown used to thin pickings when the snow flies. Escaping from the police he discovers how many a business beats the winter slump. He picks up a pointer which he puts into practice himself and through this eventually finds year around employment.

AFTER THE SHOWING
Please, don't forget if you decide to have a job done this winter let me know about it no matter how small the job seems to be.

58 Years Guardian Of Canada's Woods And Waters

The Canadian Forestry Association is referred to frequently as the schoolmaster of natural resources. For nearly 60 years, this unique citizen group has combated threats to Canada's woods, waters, and wildlife by creating better-informed public opinion, by stimulating constructive changes in government policies, and in the practices of forest industry.

Association action and influence, affecting all ten provinces, requires a wide variety of methods for the spread of information and in securing remedial action. In addition to the generous service provided by daily and weekly newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations, provincial branches and affiliates of the Association operate regional programs of high practical value to the natural resource cause.

The British Columbia branch specializes in training Junior Forest Wardens, through leadership courses conducted at Association school camps in forest settings. Thirty thousand B.C. boys already have been given woods instruction, with 5,000 trainees currently in active service.

In the prairie provinces, a railway tree-planting car is used to help the farm population in the planting of field shelterbelts and farmstead windbreaks essential in the growing of home gardens. To reduce forest fire losses in the valuable timberlands north of the prairies, the Association's "motor caravans' help the provincial departments organize local populations as forest protectors. This year 490 Association meetings were held in the prairie provinces, with an attendance of over 50,000.

Working from coast to coast, our railway motion-picture theatre, the Association's Conservation Car has instructed 43,000 persons at 450 conferences, held in small railway towns between Yarmouth N.S., northern Alberta and British Columbia.

The strength of the conservation movement throughout Canada, hardly perceptible a half-century ago, has now reached a point that seems to assure Canada's renewable but perishable natural resources as an "endowment" policy! The long crusade of the Canadian Forestry Association, still continuing, will pay off in large public dividends from our soils, waters, forests, and wildlife capital reserves.

MADE NOISE LIKE A MOUSE

Montezuma, Ga.—The scurrying of what she thought was a mouse awakened Mrs. W. B. Fokes several nights in a row.

The other night she set a mouse trap and dozed off. The trap snapped shut and there was pandemonium in the bedroom.

Mrs. Fokes said some animal was leaping from floor to bed to dresser to table, carrying the trap with him.

She ran out of the room, slammed the door shut and spent the remainder of the night in another room.

In the morning she cautiously opened the bedroom door and peered inside.

Caught in the trap was a flying squirrel.

Its facilities, the finest available anywhere, will include swimming and hydrotherapy pools, physical occupational and speech therapy services, nurseries and academic classrooms, 105 beds for in-patients and services for 300 out-patients a day. $4,088,490 is needed, and Kenora Rotary Club has been allocated a quota of $3200, over a three year period.

Campaign Chairman Larry P. Johnson distributed campaign kits among the members who will make their calls on prospects before the end of the month. Contributions can be stretched over a three year period. Citizens who may not be on the initial lists but who desire to do so, may contact any Rotary Club member or mail to P.O. agreed to meet, the Chamber members and council on his next visit.

The Chamber delegated A. M. Delamere and K. McInnis as representatives on The Industrial and Publicity Board. L. Johnson tendered his resignation as Chamber Vice-president in view of his election to the Town Council, and Mr. J. K. Doner was named vice-president. Directors for 1959 will be K. McInnis, A. W. Reeves, A. E. Minor and W. E. Marr.

Resolutions were passed asking for the cleaning out of Ash Rapids and possible widening out of the channel to Shoal Lake as a winter employment measure, and discussion took place on the height of Main Street dock under present low water conditions, and the proposed height of the new small boat dock at Water Street which is being constructed, which will be investigated by a committee of the Chamber.

How Can Winter Employment

the only source of heat and light was direct from the sun? What progress would have occurred if man had continued to insist that illness was caused by evil spirits?

Fortunately man did not feel that way. Rather, because of his impatience with conditions that impeded the achievement of an increasing degree of comfort, convenience, protection, prosperity and happiness, man wrought a multitude of miracles that comprise modern civilization.

OVERCOMING SEASONAL UNEMPLOYMENT

The problem of seasonal unemployment is no different: It is allowed to continue to exist because of outmoded habits, ideas and traditions. If we are willing to use our imagination to conceive, our abilities to plan and our initiative to perform, we won't let the climate lick us in the battle for more winter jobs. With careful planning and scheduling; with intelligent use of new technological innovations; with diversification of production, etc. seasonal unemployment can be minimized.

AUDIENCE URGED TO ASSIST

Whether you are a businessman or a homeowner you can contribute to creating more winter work. Have that building addition, alteration or decorating done now. Be ready for spring by having that old chesterfield recovered or by having those drapes dyecleaned. Have that power mower or outboard motor overhauled and put in shape for summer.

Do it now! Don't wait until spring!

Mayor Eunice Wishart had telephoned Prime Minister Deifenbaker, and had later been advised by Mr. Freeman that Duluth had a population of 40 million within a 600 mile radius, and freighters wanted a guarantee of 500 tons for each sailing. This would make for cheaper freight rates. Mr. Byers contended that if this project was developed and a four lane highway built to Winnipeg, the Lakehead cities would merely become a port of call, for ocean cargoes would be unloaded at Duluth. He strongly urged every action possible to have the highway between the Lakehead and Winnipeg through Kenora, completed at the earliest possible moment, or Northwestern Ontario would be adversely affected. It was mentioned that Manitoba had already granted a franchise to a truck company from Duluth. It was also mentioned that return cargoes were a big factor.
President Kennedy advised that Mr. Proctor, engineer in charge of sewage disposal had

THEY DIDN'T GET YULE MESSAGE

This is the season of brotherly love and peace on earth, but the news didn't penetrate the ice palace in Detroit when the Toronto Maple Leafs were guests of the Red Wings. Charlie Burns, right, and Carl Brewer flailed the air and each other for a few short stanzas but did no apparent damage. The score was a welcoming Christmas for the cave-dwelling Leafs who won, 2-0.

What's The Color Of Your Tie?

When quiz shows were the big rage on the radio, one of the best was Information Please. It set the pattern for a lot of the "panel" programs that came along later. I'm not sure whether it's still on the air or not, but when I used to listen to it they had four of the brainiest people in the States on the show every week to answer the most difficult questions people could send in.

I remember there was an automobile accident once that was blamed on information Please.

It was a minor accident, a man went through a red light and struck another car. When it got to court, he explained it this way:

"Your Honor, I was listening to Information Please on the car radio and after a lot of difficult questions they asked the four experts to suddenly close their eyes and tell what color of necktie they were wearing."

"Franklin P. Adams and John Kiernan and the others closed their eyes and they couldn't remember what tie they had on."

"I was playing along with them trying to answer the questions and I closed my eyes just as I got to the corner. And, you know, I didn't know what tie I was wearing either."

He lost the court case, too.

Radios, I guess, can be a distraction when you're driving, some people refuse to have them on. I like the radio on for long drives, I think it helps keep you alert. I'm not one to close my eyes as I reach an intersection, anyway.

When you're shopping for a used car, the fact that some cars are already equipped with radio can be a big consideration. When you're looking them over at our place, take the car of your choice out for a test drive first, and try the radio, too.

when the Roman Empire fell prey to savage tribes. The fall came for one basic reason. Romans ceased to be Romans. The world ran out of courageous individuals consecrated to worthy purposes, and willing to accept the disciplines, sacrifices and effort necessary to achieve these worthy purposes. Roman public life became a mockery of "bread and circuses," elections degenerated into wining, and dining and bribing, as the politicians of that day poured out public money to please a rabble that once had been a group of thinking and acting citizens.

During the recent federal election there was much evidence that we are running out of good Canadians . . . and may be repeating the Roman performance. The leaders of all parties pledged to be disgustingly free with our tax money once they were elected. They swore either to spend billions, or to save same; promises they were no more capable of carrying out than you are capable of flying to Mars tomorrow at noon. I did not hear one political speech that dared to show real insight into Canada's problems. But there were fantastic and half-baked ideas — from all parties — about employment. That was a safe topic. One could skirt truth, blame the other fellow, make vague allegations, and still be on pretty safe ground.

While our politicians didn't quite present the equivalent of a Roman circus, they come close. The whole campaign, says Bruce Hutchison, speaking in Vancouver, was conducted more like a Miss Canada Contest rather than a serious issue in politics.

That politicians are forced to utter such flagrant insults to our intelligence is not their fault, of course. They know better but how else can they compete for our attention. We force them into these extravaganzas. Maybe things were different in some places, but in my town all during the campaign the most important topic of conversation was not any question of politics or unemployment. It was "Who curls who on the first draw."

Politicians are not the only ones whom we invite to insult us at every turn. Advertising agencies proclaim us as nitwits several times every hour in radio commercials. On the pretext of reaching the masses, what is portrayed on TV, in movies, is so often reduced to the lowest level; there is blatant use of the sex motif; and misleading statements spew out in endless stream. Nowadays no manufacturer dare come out and say "My product will do this. It will not do that. For the money asked I believe it is the best product that can be produced." If he did he'd go broke, for we want ballyhoo, Hollywood style.

Something has happened to dignity, reason, critical thinking, and an appreciation of hard work in North America. Parents see this in our young people and rail at them for their folly. But they forget that teenagers are the mimics of ourselves in the world we, not they, have created. Teenagers are not born, they are produced by society, and we made them what they are.

In our neon signed, chrome plated, plywood and plastic world, we have assumed that free enterprise means freedom to enter, wherever you can, and pry as hard as you can, with the sales graph the sole criterion of what is good and right. With phoney values drummed into their heads by day and night by magazines, by radio, and TV, by uncouth advertising, and high pressure merchandising, how can we blame the kids when they can see no point in concentrating on education. Don't tell me they are afraid of the painful process of acquiring an education, because today's teeners have. All it takes to do anything people ever have done before. But you can't fool them. They found out a long time ago that eating crusts won't make hair curly. Teeners also have learned that we don't pay people for what they know, and we don't pay them for loyal service and hard work. Sharp practice is what pays off to-day. Success means dollar bills and who cares how you get them? Success is not the possession of skills, nor integrity, nor the ability to do a job well. Once in a while students in school tell me what is wrong with the world, and I listen because they are so often so very right.

One grade 10 sharpie, with two parts in his greasy hairdo, said in class discussion just last May . . . "Sure I know Elvis is a lousy singer. Sure I know he only got where he is because we kids are suckers for the press agents. But he drives a gold plated Cadillac, and I don't see Mr. Thomas driving no fancy car, for all his going to University. So I'm goin' to get a job as soon as I can . . . I want out of schol as soon as possible."

But he hasn't gone yet. He is in school still, learning to be a doctor, according to his father. And he sits in school . . . in grade 10 . . . doing nothing for his fourth year in high school . . . a nice kid . . . 17 years old, and no power that our democratic way of life will accept can make him get down to business.

Don't be too surprised at this lad. He belongs in a group with so many of our population — a group that just can't be expected to do anything very much, except be nice, kind, polite, quiet, harmless people following the line of least resistance — good average Joes, all of them.

Just think of any group to which you belong: lodge, service club, church group, home, and school. Isn't it the same few in each group who do it all? How many willing horses are there in this group for instance? Did you ever have to phone 15 persons to get two people to make a canvass of one street? Did you ever sit on the nominating committee seeking to find a slate of new officers? Oh! You can think of all sorts of people who could do the job, but will they?

Yet, for some reason we expect our children to be different from

PREFER NAPPING TO SCRAPPING

Debunking conventional ideas of warfare, Spud the cat and Porgy the dog would rather nap than scrap together at Springfield, Mass. Sharing a double bunk, the two pals are united against the photographer who awakened them from their afternoon nap. The roommates are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Underhill.

RESCUER, RESCUED GET DUNKED

Francis Basile, a Long Island, N.Y., patrolman, joined two lads in the icy water of a pond at Woodmere when he tried to rescue them after the ice broke while they were skating. The boys, Theodore Linder and William Dichter, were in frigid water for an hour as Basile tried to reach them by crawling along the ice. After getting dunked, Basile made a second try and hauled the boys out one at a time.

BOAT, HELICOPTER SAVE 43 ICE FISHERMEN

A crack in the ice of Lake Erie, opening to 100 feet within minutes, threatened 43 fishermen with death by freezing or drowning until police went to their rescue in a duck boat and a U.S. navy helicopter picked up 12. The crack appeared without warning and caused the loss of hundreds of dollars worth of fishing equipment. Here is a scene off Belle river pier as four men were brought in on the police duck boat.

STUDENTS STUDY ALCOHOL PROBLEM

High school students, attending the Provincial Youth Conference on alcoholism in Toronto heard many views expressed by experts. Psychologist David A. Stewart said alcoholics are reeking all the benefits of religion when they drink. He said that alcoholism is a personal or religious disorder. Another speaker, Rev. John Limon, observed that it is indigenous to Western culture and was no problem among Mohammedans or Buddhists. Even European alcoholism differs from North American addiction in that it resulted from drinking moderate amounts steadily for many years. North America, he said, was the centre of heavy drinking.

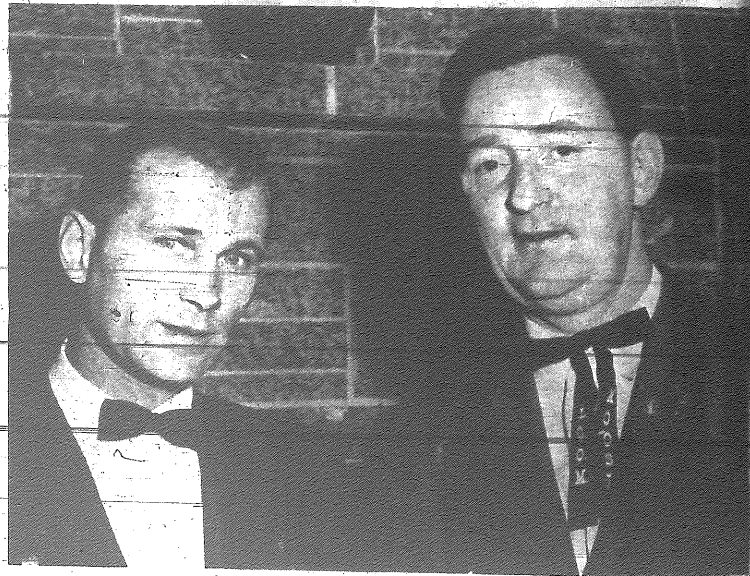

GETS SYMPATHY BUT NOT BOY FRIEND

Sad-faced, Margaret Cator, 17, the girl who tried to stow away from England to Australia to see the boy she wants to marry, leaves the liner Corfu which arrived in Hilbury, Sussex, from Singapore. That is as far as Margaret got on her way to Australia, and boyfriend Alan Wood, aged 21. Her mother refused to allow her to go any further, although an Australian newspaper had offered to pay her fare for the rest of the trip. The Australian government also offered a cheap-rate passage. The romance of Margaret has warmed the hearts of the shipping line and they are not going to prosecute her for stowing away. But Margaret has now to wait until she is 21. Four more years of waiting.

Miss Leslie England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank England, was chosen Queen of Ken-Teen-Ville at a holiday "Holly Hop" Dance. Miss England will now go to the Lakehead in the spring to enter the competition there.

Conn McCreary, 37, noted for his strong finish with a thoroughbred, rode his first winner on July 13, 1939 at Arlington Park. He's a native of St. Louis.

WILL NOT ENTER POLITICAL ARENA SAYS CHIANG'S SON

While a Nationalist Chinese soldier works on the turret of a tank behind him, Major-General Chiang Wego, 42, head of Nationalist China's armored forces, smiles proudly. Wego is the younger son of Nationalist China's President Chiang Kai-shek. He speaks fluent English, having studied in military schools in the United States. He was promoted to his present rank during the Nationalist's war against the Chinese communists. Disclaiming any political ambitions, Wego says, "Some day, when the army has no further use for me, I'd like to run a school or a farm, even work in a factory."

"So Our Schools Are No Good"

adults. We certainly ask our high schools to accept 100% of the child population and in four years get most of them to do what only 50% are able to do, and only some 25% seem willing to do.

Don't tell me that if we search diligently enough we shall find some new course that everyone wants to do in school. That I do not believe. Our American friends tried with something akin to that lot of jolly activities I mentioned before. But it didn't work.

The philosophy of teenagers is not basically different from adults. Most of them want a pleasant job, without much responsibility, with good hours, and good wages, just like our adult population.

When adult citizens are talking shorter hours, more pay less responsibility, a more paternalistic government, and a levelling of the social strata, and are chuckling over smart ways of evading the income tax and fixing a traffic ticket; let us not expect our teen-age citizens to leap forward and proclaim hard work, devotion to duty, self-sacrifice, honesty and integrity are the watchword of society. When you see it in teenagers, maybe you don't like the North American philosophy of life! But until we change it in ourselves — if we want it changed — education is going on at the status quo.

Well, I am one person who wants it changed... before western civilization topples as did ancient Rome... for want of good Romans.

Just carry on a little longer with the idea that putting in time is doing a good job and is worth good pay.

Just shut our eyes a little longer to civic neglect, to political knavery, accept the principle that undisciplined and sensational journalism should continue to numb public opinion... just give the advertising agencies free reign over radio, TV, for another 10 years and Khrushchev's boys can take over from there... and they won't have to shoot their way in.

I'm not a sensationalist when I say this. I'm a realist. There is a frightening philosophy of civic apathy in North America today. People make such indiscriminate responses to things especially these of government, education, taxation, politics. That insulation curtain we have had to build up against the commercials has become too easy to extend, and we have let it swing out to encompass other things that we should not be hiding from ourselves. Did you ever stop to realize that now we have reached the stage where we must have the highest pressured, type of shove based on very low human motives to get our charity campaigns under way.

The greater danger to our way of life stems not from Russia, but from wrong attitudes that are gnawing away at the pillars of our society unseen and unrecognized like termites in wood.

The Toronto Star said, in a meditative moment last spring, "While Russia was building space satellites, North America was building cars with higher tail fins. Both products are results of cock-eyed thinking. Heaven knows there are things the Russian people need more than sputniks! But what are tail fins but symbols of the frivolity in which our society abounds?"

If this nation is going to be saved, the saving will be done only as we repudiate these attitudes which are our deadly internal enemies. We Canadians will have to find ourselves again, so that by speaking, thinking, voting, acting wisely, we will be able to topple the ballyhoo and emptiness of capitalism without a soul.

Surely there is a happy medium between Sputniks and Tailfins. We can do no better service to Canada than to start looking for it right now. When we begin that search for sanity we shall have solved the greater portion of the educational problems that supposedly plague this nation. "Meanwhile there is nothing basically wrong with secondary education. It can improve. Such improvement will come from the ten thousand secondary teachers, principals, and administrators, and not from the laymen. Let us stop asking people who do not know the answers. Let us find them for ourselves!"

AUSTRALIANS SURPRISING

Melbourne, Australia—A Melbourne air conditioning and refrigeration firm has applied to use the United States talking Atlas satellite to advertise its wares from outer space.

Soon after the Atlas orbited on Dec. 22, the firm cabled authorities at Cape Canaveral: "Please quote rates for 30-word spot announcement to be broadcast to earth from Atlas satellite featuring our firm."

B. G. McNabb, operations manager at Cape Canaveral, Fla., for Convair, the missile's builder, wired back Thursday:

"We admire your ingenuity but unable help. Suggest you contact advanced research project agency at department of defence Washington."

THOUGHTFUL GIFT FOR CHRISTMAS

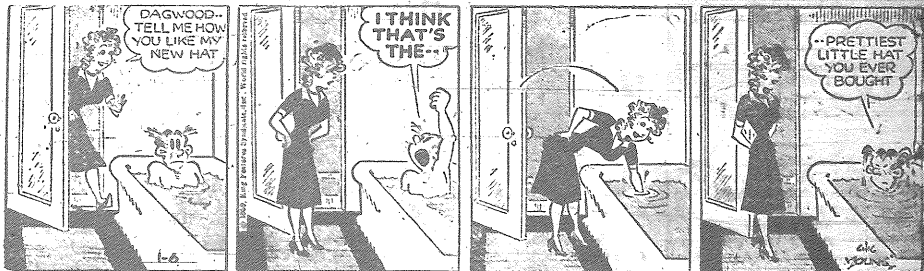

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — Police say that Theresa Ryan gave her imprisoned boy friend something really useful for Christmas—two hacksaw blades.

She was arrested and charged with aiding and abetting an attempted jail break.

Her boyfriend, 19-year-old James McCormack had succeeded in sawing out two cell block bars before he was discovered.

Miss Ryan, 20, shipped him the blades when she visited McCormack on Christmas morning.

EX-PRESIDENT DINES WITH TRUCKER

Former President Harry Truman takes time out from his brisk morning walk to enjoy a cup of coffee in a New York drugstore. He joked with the construction workers breakfasting there and ordered coffee or tea for the newsmen who accompanied him on his stroll. The counterman declined to accept payment for the refreshments.

Teacher's Assoc. Cancels Agreement

Toronto-The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation has cancelled an agreement with the Ontario School Trustees' Council that prohibited advertising for and hiring teachers before March 1.

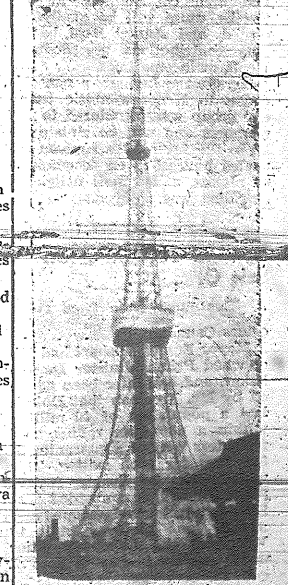

A federation spokesman said the agreement was cancelled because the federation felt advertising and hiring should be allowed at any time of the year.

The agreement was designed to give all school boards an equal chance to hire teachers.

The federation at the conclusion of its three-day annual conference, also passed a resolution giving teachers permission to accept newly-created teaching posts whether they are advertised or not.

The federation supported the Ontario Teachers' Federation in opposing an 11-month school year. The teachers said they opposed any extension of the school year beyond 200 days.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS TOKYO TOWER IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

The 1,092 feet high mammoth television structure, "Tokyo Tower," soars into Tokyo's skyline at dusk, symbolising the nation's new architecture. The television tower, topping Paris Eiffel Tower by 108 feet, was formally inaugurated Dec. 23. At least 10,000 tourists are expected to visit the tower daily to see the Japanese capital and the surrounding area from the observation platform 377 feet above. Four television stations will use the tower within the next three months.
