WAYNE AND SHUSTER OFF TO BRITAIN

Wayne and Shuster, Canadian comedy stars who in the past year have captured themselves millions of U.S. fans while appearing on the Ed Sullivan show, are out to do the same thing in the U.K. The two comedians, Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, are shown here with stewardess Marilyn Wade as they leave Malton (Ontario) for England where they will do two TV shows in the next three weeks.

Steep Rock Mines Expect Record Year Despite Strike

Steep Rock Iron Mines at Attikokan may produce more than 2½ million tons of ore this year despite the gigantic steel strike in the U.S. The mine will likely be busier than ever for the rest of this year, Neil Edmestone, company vice-president said Wednesday.

Steep Rock will work "full blast" if the pattern of the last big steel strike in the U.S. in 1956 holds true for this one, said Mr. Edmestone. This is due to the fact not all contracts of U.S. plants run out at the same time.

Not only will Steep Rock continue to supply ore on those contracts which are still valid, but it will also produce a stockpile for the winter which the plants need when the strike is over.

There will be terrific "pressure" on the ore producers in Canada and the U.S. to replenish the stockpiles to winter use. Large demands by the U.S. steel plants, contracts of which are still operative will, keep most of the Canadian ore producers working full time this year.

The Canadian plants will be looking for more ore also to meet the heavy consumer demand for steel products. This will force iron ore producers to operate at the same level they are at now but with more "pressure" on them than ordinarily.

An indication of the changing tempo in the steel industry is the output by Steep Rock of 1,053,000 tons this year compared to 199,000 tons last year at the same time.

The way the capital expenditure program in the U.S. is going now, said Mr. Edmestone, 1960 will likely be a better year than 1959.

How much better? Production should boom ahead to at least three million tons of ore out of Steep Rock mines alone next year. The forecast at Steep Rock for 1959 by Cyrus Eaton was 2½ million tons. The mine will produce this and likely go higher than 2½ million tons before the 1959 operations cease.

Drive With Care Mayor Ratuski Urges Holidayers

Local residents were urged today to relax, and for once forget about being in time, when they take to the highways for their vacations this summer.

Mayor Ratuski, issuing a statement in support of the "Slow Down and Live" drive sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, pointed to the "harming desire to get there as fast as possible" as one of the major causes of summer highway disasters.

The Mayor declared that he found it almost unbelievable that there are people willing to gamble their lives and futures, and those of their families, against the possible saving of a few minutes.

"This is a time when they should forget about being on time. They should slow down, relax, and keep their minds and eyes on the highway. That way they'll be sure of reaching their destination," he added.

Mayor Ratuski also urged strongly that motorists get a good night's rest before hitting the road, make sure their cars are in top running order, take periodic coffee-breaks along the highway, and keep a steady flow of fresh air moving through the automobile. "These are some of the most effective ways of staying alert and alive," he said. "Let's hope that every one in our community adopts them, and comes back safely from his holidays."

Five Local Boys Attending Army Cadet Camp

Larry Abbey, R. A. Lunny, C. R. Olson, Howard M. Stephens and Kenneth Van Male of the Kenora-Keewatin area are among 165 Army Cadets getting their first taste of Military life at a tented camp overlooking Clear Lake, 65 miles north of Brandon, Manitoba.

The youths, mostly 14 years of age and all in their first year of army cadet life, are being taught leadership and teamwork. They are drilled on a parade square, fire rifles on the camp range and learn camouflage and infantry fieldcraft methods in the surrounding wooded areas.

Included in the outdoor program is a generous share of physical training, softball, volleyball and swimming. Many will be awarded Red Cross certificates for proficiency in swimming and water safety.

Tourists Stream Across Border At Fort Frances

Fort Frances — Between three to six thousand people daily are entering Fort Frances over International bridge, Canadian immigration figures revealed today.

This month will probably equal the volume of 106,652 persons counted headed north through here last July. About two-thirds of the travellers are Americans, the balance being Canadians returning home. The figures include local traffic as well as tourists.

June saw the bridge crossed by most of the 91,023 boundary-hoppers counted by the immigration officials, although the total also included airplane and boat traffic. The total was almost 5,000 persons more than counted in June, 1958. It included 30,119 Canadians returning home.

Every second Canada produces some 700 lbs. of pulp or paper.

Paving Started At Vermilion Bay

Steady progress is being made by Towland Construction crews in paving the Trans-Canada Highway in the Vermilion Bay area. Work commenced on the paving program about two weeks ago.

Although hampered by rain for several days, Towland, working from west to east, has stretched its black ribbon into Vermilion Bay and is proceeding on to Waldhor corners. When completed, pavement will extend from a point some five miles west of Vermilion Bay through to a point east of Drynet, a distance of some 60 miles.

Re-construction is continuing on the Trans-Canada west of Vermilion Bay and in the Ignace area.

features not considered basically essential to a house but which homeowners often insist on having. A fire place, a built-in garage, an extra bathroom, all these are now part of the plus package. Picture windows with seated-in insulation and wall-to-wall carpeting are other conveniences now installed as regular "built-in" features. The kitchen may be vented to the outside by means of an electric fan and, indeed, a full range of kitchen equipment may be provided with the house. An air conditioning unit is no longer considered a luxury. It is often installed integrally with the heating system and included in the sale price of the house.

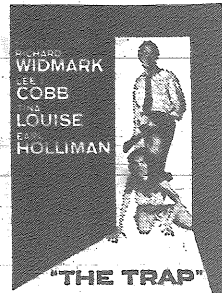

No specific costs can be quoted for these items, since the prices of materials and services vary from one locality to the next.

Whether the extras are considered as necessities or luxuries depends on the customer's living habits. And whether the added convenience and advantages they provide outweigh the additional cost will also have to be decided by the purchaser in each case.

Choose Between Stripped House Or "Plus Value"

Everyone shopping for a new home is looking for the best bargain obtainable. The builder, too, tries to give the customer the most for his money.

From the builder's point of view there are two ways of looking at the question. Some will cut costs in every way possible while maintaining an acceptable standard of construction, and pass these savings on to their customers. This method enables those with limited funds to obtain a house with a minimum down payment and lower monthly mortgage instalments.

Other builders feel that they are giving the customer a better deal by putting in all the extras when the house is built. They pass on to the owner the discounts obtained through bulk purchasing of materials and equipment. The cost of these extras is added to the mortgage debt and payment is therefore spread over a number of years, eliminating the need for heavy cash outlays that might otherwise be necessary.

Letter To The Editor

July 16, 1959.

The Editor,
Daily Miner and News,
Kenora, Ont.
Dear Sir:

May we, through the columns of your newspaper, make public the appreciation of the leaders of The Salvation Army for the excellent support given by your publication to the recent Red Shield Appeal.

Indications are that the appeal will again be successful nationally, when delayed campaigns are conducted and all returns are in. This gives cause for gratitude to God.

The part played by the Fourth Estate in bringing the appeal to the attention of the people is fully realized. Fund raising is not easy, therefore it is essential that the public be made aware of the Salvation Army's needs, its purpose and its program.

Thank you for generous and competent assistance.
Yours Faithfully,
(L. Bursey),
Lieut.-Colonel,
National Campaign
Director

Get The Most From Power Motor

It's lawn-cutting time again and here are a few tips on getting the most out of your power mower.

Across the country there are some 1,600,000 or so power mowers, of about 100 different makes, in use. What's more, they have made life easier for probably 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 people—husbands, wives and teenagers who face the task of keeping the grass down to size.

So the engineers at AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors offer this advice to all "mower jockeys."

If your mower has a two-cycle engine (the kind where you mix gasoline and oil together and put in the tank), be sure to use the fuel recommended by the manufacturer, leaded or unleaded gas.

Use outboard motor oil if available. If not, buy a good grade of auto oil of the correct weight.

Mix the oil and gas in a clean can, not in the engine tank.

If yours is a four-cycle engine, most manufacturers suggest you use regular gasoline and any good grade of oil in the right weight.

Incidentally, be sure to fill your crankcase with new oil before you go into action on the yard.

You may have some trouble getting the engine started after it has been sitting all winter.

This could be due to: clogged fuel line, faulty ignition, fouled spark plug, or a worn out plug.

Some engines, by the way, operate on a rich fuel mixture which tends to cause plug fouling more easily.

AC recommends, therefore, that you install a new plug at the beginning of the season and keep another on hand for use as needed. Your service station or dealer has a chart to specify the correct plug.

When you finish using a mower, fill the tank with gasoline. This will prevent gum from forming in the carburetor during the mower's idle period.

Dirt is bad in the engine and there often is a lot of dust churned up when mowing. Your engine will be more dependable if you use a funnel with a strainer when you fill the gas tank.

Keep your engine clean. It'll operate more efficiently. A small paintbrush is good for dusting off the cooling fins. Never use gasoline for cleaning. It's too explosive. Kerosene is better for removing grease and oil—but wait until the engine cools.

CHICORY

Summers come and go, but come the month of July, and in many parts of Ontario in fence rows or waste places, along water courses, and sometimes in spring grain will be seen the bright blue, attractive blossoms of the Chicory, reports the field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. By noon the blossoms close and remain closed until the next morning.

Chicory, Blue Sailors, Blue Daisy, of coffee weed, as it is sometimes called is a perennial with a long thick root. The stems grow two to three feet in height. They are branched and hairy. The flowers are bright blue, nearly two inches in diameter, and are attached direct to the main branches. The juice is milky.

Chicory is the only weed with a large blue flower. Two other blue-blossomed weeds are blue-weed and blue burr, or stickseed. Both these weeds have small flowers.

Frequent cutting or a short rotation of crops keeps this weed pretty well under control.

Effective control can be obtained chemically by spraying with 2,4-D, up to 6 ounces of acid per acre if in spring grain, or 8 to 12 ounces acid if in non-crop areas.

Chicory if eaten in quantity by cows may impart a bitter flavour to the milk. Chicory roots in some countries are dried and roasted and used as a substitute for coffee.

A Message For Our Day

THE KENORA MINISTERIAL ASSOC.

Our Lord said, "No man can serve two Masters". It is a blunt statement. Many try it, however, not realizing that when it comes to Christ and His Church, there is no such thing as neutrality. Either we are for Him or we are against Him. Conceivably one can be neutral at a football game; we are not forced to hate one team and love the other. But great faith demands whole-hearted allegiance. It has always been so. Moses came down from Mount Sinai to find that the Children of Israel had taken their old Egyptian gods and worship back into their lives. His brother, Aaron, had encouraged and helped the making of a golden calf. It did not take long for Moses to make it clear that they could not serve two Masters, nor did he allow his brother, Aaron, to dodge his responsibility in the affair. Aaron tried to tell Moses that he had taken the earrings and golden trinkets of the people and had put them in the fire and, "out came this calf." No responsibility, nobody made it, the calf just happened, everyone was neutral. Indeed! The calf was there because it had been deliberately created. "Choose you this day, whom ye will serve," says Moses. He would not permit neutrality.

"No man can serve two masters." It was out of our Lord's experience that He learned that the chief enemies of God are not the men who revile Him, but the men who claim the privilege of being neutral. He condemned the people who stood aloof, who were confronted by human need but did nothing. They thought that they didn't have to serve either God or mammon, but they did and they do. In the parable, "The Good Samaritan," our Lord did not hold up the robbers for condemnation. It would be easy to point the finger at them. His scorn was for the priest and the levite, the men who knew the difference between charity and heartlessness, between good and evil and refused to act.

Many a man says, "I let others handle the church business," thinking he can be an agreeable observer on the sidelines in the battle between good and evil. But he is not neutral. His action is a negative spiritual influence on children, neighbours and country.

In this day of struggles between tyranny and freedom, human dignity and regimentation, between atheism and at least religious liberty, there are no neutral people.

"Those that are not for Me are against Me", says our Lord. The Rev. S. G. Tomes, Assistant Curate, St. Alban's Pro-Cathedral.

At Full Gospel church, Vasa Hall, Lakeside at 7:30 p.m., the famous T.V. star and singer, Toni Fontaine's amazing recent conversion as heard in Vancouver.

A delightful lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her mother Mrs. D. Matwey. Guests numbered 20.

setting certain standards of quality and workmanship.

Minimum housing standards prescribed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for houses financed under the National Housing Act have been set up with a further aim in mind. They establish a norm of acceptable construction in order to protect the lender's investment.

Housing standards prescribed by CMHC are prepared by the Division of Building Research, National Research Council, and cover the requirements for planning, construction and materials for detached houses, semi-detached houses, duplex houses and row housing. For apartment buildings constructed with NHA financing the Apartment Building Standards are applicable.

There are also provincial and municipal codes governing the building of houses and the installation of services such as plumbing, electrical systems and gas. In some cases these are even more exacting than the standards prescribed by CMHC, but no conflict arises since the Corporation recognizes that the higher standards must apply.

Many of these local building codes are based on the National Building Code which has been adopted by some 200 municipalities across Canada. The use of a single building code for the entire country should facilitate the work of builders and suppliers of building materials, real estate agents and mortgage and finance companies. It is also comforting to the prospective home purchaser to know that whatever house he selects, if it has been financed through an NHA insured loan, it conforms in general to the full requirements set out in the N.R.C. Housing Standards.

Standards Protect Customer And Community

Building standards for residential construction help the homeowner in a number of ways. They not only ensure the structural safety of the house and the satisfactory performance of equipment but also help to provide adequate shelter, comfort and fire protection. The appearance of the house itself, both exterior and interior, can be enhanced by

"WHEN PAIN GROWS SHARP AND SICKNESS RAGES"

(Author's Name Below)

Pain is an indication of sickness. Persistent recurring pain is nature's warning signal that something must be done soon to correct the condition or serious danger may result.

No one but a physician has the knowledge to determine if a pain is the result of a minor or serious condition. Pain is just one of many other symptoms to be studied if a cure is to result. Do not wait till pain grows sharp and sickness rages. Consult your physician immediately to prevent other pain-filled days and possible serious sickness.

Booklet Tells Of Police Work In Ontario

Handy booklets featuring Ontario's provincial police force and entitled "Your's For Safety" are being distributed to local and visiting motorists who encounter provincial patrolmen this month.

In a prelude, Attorney General Kelso Roberts has stated: "The Ontario provincial police force is one of the largest and finest in the world, and one of which you, as a resident of Ontario can be justly proud."

"From a small group that was first assembled 50 years ago has gradually emerged a modern, efficient law enforcement organization, competent to perform its many and varied duties."

"Results of the current highway safety assignment demonstrate this. Facilities on the roads paralleled by members of the force decreased appreciably in 1953 in comparison with both 1952 and 1956, notwithstanding a sharp increase in the number of vehicles on the road and total miles driven."

"It is hoped that this publication will introduce the force and its functions to residents of Ontario, and to our many visitors, so that mutual understanding and respect will result in this province becoming an even better place in which to live."

The well-illustrated booklet describes the duties and organization of the provincial police and also relates the functions of special branches such as the criminal investigation bureau, and other branches dealing with weapons, anti-highgrade operations, anti-gambling and liquor control.

CPR WINS SIXTH SAFETY AWARD

Montreal — The Canadian Pacific Railway was Thursday awarded for the sixth consecutive year with a golden rail-spike plaque by the National Safety Council of Chicago, Ill., in recognition of its "outstanding public safety program last year," for the general public and employees.

Since its inception six years ago, Canadian Pacific has been honored with this award each year. Fifteen other U.S. and Canadian railroads won awards from the council.

The award is not competitive but selected by a board of judges appointed by the president of the National Safety Council each year. One of the main features of Canadian Pacific's safety program is the extensive coverage of school children. During the past year, 283 schools were visited and some 90,000 children acquainted with the dangers of trespassing on railroad property. In addition, the company places its library of safety films at the disposal of organizations interested in accident prevention.

Priest Urges - Pray Before Driving

DARLASTON, ENG. — A Church of England minister has started a campaign to get every car driver to pray for 10 seconds before starting out in his automobile.

Said Rev. Vyvyan Watts-Jones, vicar of All Saints' church: "Christians ought to be safe drivers because courtesy is an ingredient of Christian character."

The minister composed a driver's prayer which he hopes every driver in Britain will copy and paste on his dashboard.

"Help me, O God, as I drive, to love my neighbour as myself, that I may do nothing to hurt or endanger any of your children."

Give my eyes clear vision and skill to my hands and feet. Make me tranquil in mind and relaxed in body.

Deliver me from the spirit of rivalry and from all resentment at the actions of others and bring me to my journey's end."

The productivity of Canadian forests can be maintained forever.
