PINECREST DAY - 2.30 TO 4.00

District Citizens Invited To Pinecrest on Saturday

by Ruth King

Tomorrow, Saturday August 15th, has been set aside by the Board of Management of Pinecrest as "Pinecrest Day". People from the whole district are expected to attend from 2.30 to 4 p.m.

Pinecrest, the Home for the Aged, is just Pinecrest to some 123 folk who are residents. It is a spacious brick building of 3 floors set on 1 1/2 acres. Pines fringes the crest of the hill which gradually slopes up behind the building and spacious lawns with flower beds ring the front. The outdoors is brought in through the large picture style thermopane windows.

Mr. Walter Cunningham, the Superintendent feels proud of the building which is under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Welfare, Homes for the Aged branch.

The goodwill between the people of the district and Pinecrest is outstanding," he said, "and this makes many things possible such as the Library, the books being contributed by the citizens of this area. A great deal of appreciation is felt by all the residents and the Board of Management to Service Clubs, Lodges and various organizations for services and equipment to make

Dunc King Gets 29 Count In 4 Handed Cribbage

Dunc King of Norman last night held a perfect 29 hand in a game of 4 handed cribbage. Mr. King's partners and also witnesses, which he will probably require were, his wife and Mr. A La Riviere and Mr. W. Mitchell all of Norman.

Getting a 29 count is not as rare as it once was, since cribbage is becoming more popular all the time, but getting the 29 count in a four handed game is extremely rare, almost a once in an era deal since the odds of obtaining a perfect hand in a two hand game is 216,579.

Now who else can top Mr. King's record?

life at Pinecrest as comfortable and happy as possible."

Before proceeding, let's take a look at the people who are vitally connected with the operation of the Home. First there is the Board of Management of which Magistrate J. V. Fregeau is the chairman. Members are as follows: Mr. J. H. Keane, Sioux Lookout; Mr. O. J. Mathews, Cochenour; Mr. W. Hambleton, Dryden and Mr. Cleo Gaudry of Sioux Narrows.

The capable staff under the direction of Mr. W. Cunningham are Mrs. R. Park, Housekeeper; Mr. J. Archibald, in charge of maintenance and Miss Peggy Broughton in charge of cooking. Mr. Jack George is groundsman. The office stenographer is Miss Helen Hendrickson. In the Special Care section, Dr. J. P. Paton is the examining physician and Miss Mary Leighton R.N. is the supervisor of nurses.

Pinecrest is under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Dept. of Public Welfare receiving the Provincial grant. The Board of Management has established a figure of $129.00 per month. Each resident whose sole income is $35 a month pension is charged $45 the remaining $10 to be kept by the resident. Indigents are fully paid for by member Municipalities of the District of Kenora and Provincial Government grants. Those who have no income, are given an allotment of pocket money.

The main floor of the Home is very well planned. Here we find the Physician's examining room. The nurses' station which besides Miss Mary Leighton R.N. has a staff of three registered nurses. One of these is in attendance at all times as are ward aids. Found on the ground floor too are the nurses' utility room and bed-care lounge. For special care there is the therapeutic stab. All rooms have large thermopane windows to let in the sunshine. Hand rails are another addition for extra help. The normal care bathroom has 2 bath tubs, 4 wash basins, showers and 7 enclosed toilets.

Capacity at Pinecrest is 127 beds. There are 3 types of care offered: bed care special care and normal care for both men and women.

There are 2-bed and 4-bed accommodation in all types of care. Each resident has a locker in the Home and in each room is found a costume for immediate needs. There are lounges for the residents and a very attractive main lounge where all residents can visit with friends and enjoy entertainment. Men's normal care is on the ground floor and women's normal care is on the main-floor. Married couples can be accommodated and at present there are two couples in residence.

The dining room is comprised of 21 tables with accommodation

Beginners Asked To Pick Up Red Cross Buttons

The Red Cross Beginners Buttons have arrived for all Kenora and Rabbit Lake beginners who passed their swimming tests. The buttons are at Johnson's Pharmacy on Second Street where they are to be picked up. Please cross your names off the accompanying list when you pick up your button.

Pre-beginner cards and Junior Awards for those who did not receive them on Presentation night may also be picked up at Johnson's.

The Kewatin awards may be picked up at the Memorial Building.

Here and There With Tom Johnston

A newspaper reporter in a town the size of Kenora quickly becomes involved in covering a variety of assignments.

Most of them are interesting; only a few are dull. One "beat" which generally provides more than a fair share of excitement is when you are assigned to cover sports events.

When I was on the Miner and News as a young reporter, I covered a lot of hockey games, some football, quite a bit of baseball and a variety of other jobs. But in the sports field, I think I most enjoyed covering activities of the Kenora Rowing Club. Part of the reason, perhaps, was economic.

I used to spend quite a bit of time around the rowing club, and before long I had picked up the jargon peculiar to that sport. Thus, I knew what lapstreak and workboat meant, learned to call a boat a shell and delved into some of the interesting history of sculling.

The time thus spent served me in good stead, for when the Northwestern International Rowing Association regatta was held in Kenora, as it was at regular intervals, I generally managed to cover the events as a special correspondent for such newspapers as the Regina Leader-Post, the Minneapolis Star and the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. Crews from those cities usually took part in the regattas, and their home town supporters were eager to learn, from an on-the-spot reporter, how their crews had fared in the races. I was just as anxious to provide the service, for I was well paid for my reports and it was heady stuff for a youngster to have his copy prominently featured in the pages of distant metropolitan dailies.

Oscar Martin, the coach of the Kenora rowing club, was the

PILOT PRESUMED DEAD IN SUBMERGED PLANE

A plane crash in the wilds of north Central Patricia sometime Thursday is believed to have claimed the life of the pilot. Presumed dead is Gerald Allard of Val D'or, Quebec, who was employed as a pilot for Severn Airways Ltd. of Sioux Lookout.

Provincial Police at Kenora reported this afternoon that according to information received from Corporal George Sangster of the OPP at S.oux Lookout, the Cessna plane had taken off early Thursday for North Caribou Lake to pick up some prospectors. When it did not return, a search was made and at 8.30 last night searchers discovered the plane almost totally submerged in Lake Eyatanikana. One wing tip was showing approximately 300 feet from shore. No sign of life was evident. At press time it was not known if there were any others in the plane.

Planes from Sioux Lookout were unable to take off today due to poor flying weather, but it is expected that they will be able to fly to the scene early Saturday.

Car Insurance Dies With You

Ed. Note — The current issue of the Financial Post features a news item which will have far reaching effects on most families in this country. This startling decision recently handed down by the Ontario Supreme Court could affect your family and business and it may mean changes in auto insurance policies. The article is as follows:

A precedent-making decision by the Ontario Supreme Court has rocked the ranks of the nation's auto insurers.

In two related cases, the court held that an insurance company's liability under an auto insurance policy terminates on the death of the policyholder.

This decision — which caught the insurance industry by surprise — could have widespread repercussions.

It will likely result in early re-drafting of most auto insurance policies used in Canada.

Here's how this decision could affect you.

Let's assume you have an auto insurance policy issued in your name which also covers your wife while she is driving the family car.

If you were to die at the office while your wife is driving about town, she would not be covered in the case of an accident that takes place after your death.

"This is in spite of the fact that she would be covered in the same accident, provided that you are alive.

"I do not think it would be proper to leave the cases without expressing the view that there is a very dire need for statutory amendment of this situation," Mr. Justice W. F. Spence wrote in his decision.

The case was heard in June. Indications are this topic will be thoroughly thrashed out at the annual conference of Provincial Superintendents of Insurance to be held at St. Andrews, N.B. next month.

In Canada, provisions of auto insurance policies are prescribed by provincial statute. All provinces except Quebec use the same policy form.

In Quebec the form is similar to that used elsewhere in Canada, but slightly different in wording and some details.

Car Accident This Morning

Town police report that a car owned by Roger Longe of the Redditt Road was extensively damaged in a non-collision accident which occurred this morning at 4.45.

Mr. Longe who was travelling east on Highway 17 lost control of his car as he was rounding the curve at Chaloner's Cabins, causing it to leave the road and crash into a rock cut. The driver was uninjured.

Magistrate's Court

Four persons appearing on drunk charges constituted this morning's docket at court. One, a third offender from the Kenora area went to jail for three months. The other three, all first offenders, were given options, a man $25 and costs or ten days and the other two, both women, $10 and costs or seven days.

LAKELAND ENTERS PLAY-OFF PICTURE

It was good football weather last night and the teams made the best of it. Coca Cola upset Acme-Kenora Cleaners 17-14 and Lakeland downed Lions 19-13 in a rain shortened game. It was the end of the schedule and some confusion reigned due to an error in the standings. After a careful check it was found that Lions and Lakeland each had the same 6-9 won lost record. Thus a play-off was needed and the semi-finals were delayed until Saturday.

Neither Lakeland's Richard Marcine nor Lion's Greg Duggan and Ricky Erickson were effective in the chilly weather. Lakeland tallied 13 runs in the first and were never behind. The high scoring game had to be halted by plate umpire Bob Michash after four innings due to rain and darkness. A last inning home run by Jerry Townsend chased over the tying and winning runs as Coca Cola came from behind to win 17-14. Billy Cook had two home runs for Acme and Allan Minor one for Cokes, besides Townsend. The Dingwall-Lumber King semi-final begins Saturday with the second game Monday on 'A' diamond. Lakeland and Coca Cola start their semi-final series Monday on 'B' diamond. Each is a best of three series.

Hunting Dates Set For District For Next 3 Years

Ontario hunting seasons for deer, moose and upland game birds have been set for three ensuing years. Hon. W. J. Spooner, Minister of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, announced recently to the Legislative Committee on Fish and Game.

Commenting on the Department's decision, Dr. W. J. Harkness, Chief of the Division of Fish and Wildlife, stated that the long distance dating of seasons will assist to plan vacations well ahead, and permit camp operators and outfitters to accept advance reservations with some sense of security.

From the biological standpoint, he said, there seems to be no logical reason why these seasons, which have varied little from year to year, may not be extended over a longer period than a year.

Hunting dates for 1959, 1960 and 1961 are as follows:

MOOSE

In lake of the Woods area residents only may hunt from Oct. 1 to Dec. 24 in 1959 and 1960, from Sept. 30 to Dec. 23 in 1961.

In Rainy River District, residents only may hunt from Oct. 22 to Nov. 25 in 1959.

In the rest of northern Ontario north of Lake Superior and the previously mentioned areas, residents and non-residents may hunt from Oct. 1 to Dec. 24 in 1959 and 1960, from Sept. 30 to Dec. 23 in 1961.

DEER

In Rainy River District residents and non-residents may hunt from Oct. 22 to Nov. 25 in 1959 and 1960, from Oct. 21 to Nov. 25 in 1961.

North of the northernmost CNR line west from the Quebec boundary to the Manitoba boundary, including all of the Kenora District, residents and non-residents may hunt from Oct. 21 to Nov. 25 in 1959 and 1960, from Sept. 30 to Nov. 25 in 1961.

UPLAND GAME BIRDS

The new regulations also outline an open season for ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and spruce partridge, on the three-year basis, in the area north and west of No. 17 Highway from Saunt Ste. Marie to Mattawa. The season will be from Sept. 15 to Nov. 25 with bag limits of five a day and 20 in possession.

Operation Beaver Continues Again In This District

A continuity of the programme started last year in the live trapping and transplanting of beaver is again in full swing in the Kenora District, according to Assistant Senior Conservation Officer M. Linklater, Kenora.

The beaver population in the Big Trout Lake area of the Patricia's in the Sioux Lookout Forest District was almost completely wiped out by an epidemic of tularemia about 10 years ago. Periodic checks by biologists of the Department of Lands and Forests showed that the beaver were not recovering as might be expected and that the disease was still present up until two years ago.

In 1958, when the area was found to be free of contamination, it was decided to live trap and transplant 200 beaver from three different parts of the Province so that in effect we would be introducing beaver with three different genetic backgrounds.

During the summer of 1958 a total of 200 beaver were live-trapped and planted in the Big Trout Lake area. Of this number 100 came from the Tweed-Lindsay area, 50 from the Kapuskasing District with the Kenora District contributing another 50.

A survey carried out in the area this summer by senior officials of the Department of Lands and Forests shows that the beaver planted in 1958 have succeeded very well in establishing themselves in their new surroundings. As a result of these findings a further planting of 400 beaver was decided upon.

This year 400 beaver are being live trapped and flown by beaver aircraft to the planting areas. The goal of the Kenora District staff this year is 100 beaver. Up until Monday August 10th, 1959, 69 beaver have been live trapped. Of this number 56 have been planted with the remaining 13 being held pending additional beaver for a full load.

All the beaver are being live trapped by Treaty Indians and are held at a central holding pen on Coney Island, prior to planting. Here the beaver are weighed, sexed, tagged on both ears and tattooed on the rump.

In addition a new method of marking live beaver is being experimented with. This consists of a device used to impress a mark upon the beaver, not unlike that used by livestock ranchers in branding cattle. This means of identification in animals recovered will give Wildlife Officers much valuable information concerning growth, sex ratios and distribution of the planted beaver.

It will be a few years before the complete results of the planting can be assessed but it is hoped that the beaver will succeed in establishing themselves firmly in their new homes thus adding to the economy and welfare of the northern trapper.

B. C. NUDIST CLUB PLANS OPEN HOUSE

Vancouver—The Sunny Trails Nudist Club Sunday approved Aug. 17 for an open house visit by the public.

A spokesman for the club at nearby Fleetwood, B.C., said: "This is the only way we can show the public exactly what nudists do. The public will have a chance to see members going about their usual Sunday activities . . . in their usual Sunday garb."

At previous open houses members were clothed. Only single men will be excluded from the visit.

GERMAN COURT SAY MAMA'S VOICE EQUAL

Karlsruhe, Germany, — West Germany's Constitutional Court has knocked out Papa's traditional last word on how the family should be run. Mama, it ruled, has precisely equal rights when it comes to the educational and legal representation of the children.

The ruling was made July 29 in accordance with the provision in West Germany's Constitution that men and women have equal rights. It declared unconstitutional two paragraphs in the civil code that gave the father final authority in case he differed with the mother.

Four mothers carried their cases to the court, the country's highest authority in constitutional matters.

TO ALL BOAT OWNERS AND OPERATORS ON LAKE OF THE WOODS

At this time of the summer season when numerous gas boats and pleasure craft are operating and company tug boats are towing pulpwood and logs, we respectfully solicit your co-operation in our endeavour to keep the lake clear of floating pulpwood, logs and dead heads. When gas boats run too close to a tow of pulp or logs, the swell has a tendency to wash out some of the pulp and logs, and it is for this reason that we ask you to:

- (1) When passing a tow, either being towed by tugs or in storage, keep at least 100 feet from boom. When it is not possible to do this, if in narrows, slow down till past the tow or boom.
- (2) When following a tow of pulp or logs, watch for any stray logs or pulpwood sticks which may have worked out from rear of tow.

If these precautions are observed by all boat owners, it will keep the lake free from floaters and will help eliminate damage to small craft.

friend and counselor who kept me advised of all that was newsworthy around the club. Oscar had been the coach when Kenora won the coveted Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy for the first time in 1930. By 1936, Oscar was convinced that Kenora again had the oarsmen who could win the grand aggregate championship against the best that all the larger cities on the circuit had to offer. The competition was formidable, for Winnipeg had such sculling greats as Theo DuBois and Con Riley, Jr., and Fort William had Hugh O'Leary, all of them among the great figures in the sport.

It's history now that Oscar Martin was right; Kenora did win the NWIRA championship and the Lipton Trophy, and they did it on one of the hottest days that most Kenora people can remember. The races were staged that year on Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11, the two concluding days of Kenora's monster Old Home Week. My recollection is that the thermometer topped 100 degrees that Saturday afternoon, and it was under those difficult conditions that the Kenora youngsters came on to win the regatta honors.

The local boys haven't won the Lipton Cup since that wonderful year, but Oscar Martin tells me that the 1960 edition of the Kenora club bids fair to be a real challenger. I hope he's right, and from my past experiences with his predictions, he very well could be.

Oscar has a remarkable memory for events relating to his favorite sport. Space doesn't permit detailing all the interesting things he told me, but he took particular pride in relating that C. S. Riley, one of the immortals in Canadian rowing, classed a Kenora four-oared crew as "the best he (Mr. Riley) had ever seen". That was the Kenora crew composed of Bob Gibson, Bill McCann, Gunnar Bergman and Jim Miller.

Oscar Martin told me another interesting thing I hadn't heard before. He said there is an iron marker, near the foot of Hennepin Lane and close to the waterfront, which marked the original boundary between Ontario and Manitoba. I intend to go down there to see if it may still be seen for it is surely an item of considerable historical significance. The entire story of this community having been half in Ontario and half in Manitoba, of course, ranks as one of the most interesting in Canadian historical lore. It's one of the stories I intend to tell my boy, Kent, some day soon.

By the way, have you sent in your entries to the Paramount theatre contest suggesting things Kent should see or do while visiting here? The contest closes Saturday night, so get your entries in quickly. Prizes are $5, $3 and $2, as well as five additional prizes of double passes to the Paramount. All you have to do is complete the phrase: "As well as seeing Royal River, I think Kent Johnston should see _____ and then suggest some local attraction or event."

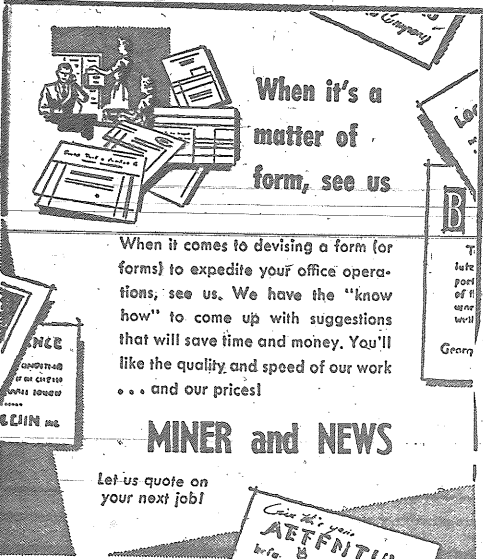

Royal River, the National Film Board picture, about the trip by Her Majesty the Queen and Prince Philip along the St. Lawrence seaway, is continuing to draw enthusiastic response from Paramount patrons. I think you'll enjoy it, too.

My thanks to all who have taken the trouble to let me know they've enjoyed my contributions to the Miner and News columns this week. I've had fun writing them, and it's pleasant to know some folk have also found them of interest. My thanks, too, to Stuart King publisher of the Miner and News,

U.S. Firms Seek To Boost Import Of Canadian Gas

Washington, U.S.A.
United States pipeline companies are seeking to bring a lot more Canadian gas into this country. The coal industry is against the idea, fearing loss of some of its markets to a flood of foreign fuel.

Whether or not the pipeline companies get the Canadian gas they want hinges on two things:
1. Federal Power Commission approval of their proposals.

2. Canadian Government permission for export of the gas.
The United States commission has indicated it is going to have to be shown that Canadian gas definitely is available before it will grant any of the importing applications.

And the Canadian Government apparently is not going to grant any more export applications unless it has assurance that plenty of gas will be left for the dominion's own needs.

The Canadian gas now coming into this country is marketed in the Northwest.

St. Lawrence Gas Company, Ogdenburg, N.W., is seeking FPC authority to import gas for use in the Massena-Ogdenburg area in New York State.

The importing proposals are being opposed by the coal industry, spokesmen for which will appear at the various hearings.

Women's Meet Calls For End Of Nuclear Tests

A world convention of country women at Edinburgh, Scotland, has called for an end to nuclear weapons tests.

The ninth triennial conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World passed a resolution Wednesday, August 5th, urging the suspension of all nuclear tests "destructive to humanity" for the sake of "safeguarding the human race from extinction and in the names of innocent women and children."

The conference, grouping about 1,000 delegates from rural women's clubs in 34 countries, opened Tuesday, August 4th and continues until August 15.

The association grew out of a union of women's rural associations set up to improve the standard of living of countryfolk. In the vanguard of the movement was the Canadian Women's Institute, founded in Stoney Creek, Ontario in 1897 by Mrs. Adelaide Hunter Hoodless.

Mrs. Hoodless decided rural women should have a chance at instruction to reduce the hazards of country living. Her own son died after drinking infected milk.

Another Canadian, Mrs. Alfred Watt, who died in Montreal in 1948, brought the Women's Institute movement to Britain in 1913. Mrs. Watt was a driving force behind an assembly of all known rural women's organizations in London in 1929.

The founding of the ACWW in Stockholm in 1933 grew out of the London meeting. The association, now representing some 6,000,000 women in more than 100 different organizations was granted consultative status by the United Nations in 1947. The 7th triennial conference was held in Toronto six years ago.

St. John Ambulance Ask For Public Support Saturday

Tomorrow Saturday, in Kenora the St. John Ambulance will hold a tag day, the first one to be held locally in three years. The general public is asked to give their fullest co-operation to this very important cause.

The St. John Ambulance contributes a great deal to this town and district and the following facts tell only a portion of the work that is being accomplished.

The St. John Ambulance trains annually some five thousand persons in First Aid to the Injured, Home Nursing, and Child Care. A small charge, which by no means covers cost of instruction, and supplies, is made to senior candidates on registration.

Conducts classes for nurses, teachers and school students at no cost whatsoever to them.

Trains Civil Defence Volunteers at the requests of the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Taught in addition in 1958, over six thousand people the most modern method of artificial respiration - absolutely free.

Maintains units of the St. John Ambulance Brigade in the larger Urban centres. Members of this uniformed body of trained personnel give cheerfully of their time to maintaining their efficiency and may be seen on duty whenever crowds gather. Others help in hospitals and at the homes of the needy sick. Members serve voluntarily and are not allowed to accept remuneration from patients. The Brigade may be called upon at any time during a national or local emergency.

Has organized active Auxiliaries to the Brigade in number of the smaller towns. Members are trained and pledged to give voluntary service in the event of any emergency. Services include helping at clinics, attending First Aid Posts and acting as voluntary nurses aides.

Maintains in association with Manitoba Red Cross Society, 43 Highway First Aid Posts in this District.

KITCHEN CLASSICS

Green apples are the prolific crop of the moment, so take advantage of this gap between the Apricots and the Peaches, to make some of the preserve cupboard specialties you won't have time for later on.

First apple treat, of course, will be apple pie, but they also offer an excellent opportunity to stir a little imagination into the jelly kettle. The first green apples make the best jelly, so make your mint and herb jellies now.

Remember, too, how well they pair with choke-cherries. One part to three parts choke-cherry makes the best jelly.

Roast lamb served with green apple and mint jelly can become the high spot of any meal.

APPLEMINT JELLY

- 2 cups chopped fresh mint leaves
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 4 lbs. tart green apples
- 1/2 cup cider vinegar
- 3/4 cup sugar and green coloring

Chop enough mint to measure 2 cups. Add boiling water and 1/2 cup sugar, let stand 24 hours. Strain.

Cut apples, cores, peel and all, into coarse pieces in kettle, cover with water, cook until mushy. Drain through jelly bag. Add vinegar and salt to apple juice, measure and add 3/4 cup sugar for each cup of fruit. Add food coloring to tint a delicate green. Bring to a boil, boil rapidly to jelly stage, adding mint extract during last few minutes of cooking. Pour into jelly jars, adding 2 or 3 fresh mint leaves, if you wish. If fresh mint is not available, add mint flavoring to taste when jelly is removed from the heat.

If you have never tried herb jellies you don't know what you are missing. Served with meats or cheese and crackers, they can make any meal something special.

Fresh herbs are best, but good results can be had with dried herbs. You can use rosemary, sage, tarragon, thyme, marjoram or savory, or any other you think would make a nice combination. In general, these herbs go best with the following meats:

- Sage - poultry, pork.
- Thyme - beef, ham.
- Marjoram - pork, beef, poultry.
- Savory - lamb, duck, sausage.
- Rosemary - pork, sausage.

HERB JELLY

Cut green apples, cores, peel and all, in coarse pieces. Add water just to cover. Simmer until soft. Pour into jelly bag and drain overnight.

Measure the drained juice and add 1 tablespoon cider vinegar and 1/2 cup fresh herb leaves (leaves and tender stems packed tight) for each cup of apple juice. If using dried herbs, add 1/2 to 1 tablespoon.

Bring to boil, cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Strain and measure again. Then measure 1/2 cup sugar for each cup juice. Add to juice. Stir until sugar is dissolved, then cook rapidly to jelly stage, about 55 minutes. If desired, add a few drops food coloring; delicate yellow for savory and sage, a little each of yellow and green for thyme, rosemary and marjoram. A small leaf of fresh herb may be put in each jelly glass for decoration.

NOISE AROUND ACTOR'S HOME IS PROTESTED

Hollywood — Neighbors complain that it's too noisy around actor Steve Brodie's house.

They told the city attorney's office that: Brodie works late at night with a power saw, plays an outside radio loudly, his horseshoe playing "sounds like an iron factory" and the Brodie children bat baseballs into other yards.

Brodie appeared before Deputy Samuel Copeland Palmer III Tuesday and said he had quit the midnight sawing a year ago, had removed the radio speaker and shifted the horseshoe pits. Palmer suggested that the kids play ball without a bat on a vacant lot. He set another hearing in two weeks to see how things go.

Car Insurance Dies With

Insurance industry circles note that, until now, Canadian insurers had assumed on auto insurance policy continued in force until the estate was settled or the policy expired.

They have been paying — and were expecting to pay legitimate claims after the policyholder's death.

General theory was that if such claims would have been payable were the person to whom the policy was issued alive, they would be equally payable after his death.

This belief was reinforced by the fact that most auto insurance policies state "the insurer agrees to indemnify the insured, his executors or administrators . . . against the liability imposed by law . . . on the insured . . ."

In the Ontario case, Global General Insurance Co. denied liability in the case of an accident involving an automobile belonging to an estate.

Company contended that the contract for insurance, so far as it was a contract in indemnity against third party liability, was a personal contract and terminated on the death of the named insured.

This contention was upheld in the lower court and confirmed by the Supreme Court decision.

"I have come to the conclusion that the contention of the defence is correct: that the policy lapsed . . ." Mr. Justice Spence said.

He added that as far as he knew no insurance company had previously taken the position that a policy for third party liability lapsed on the death of the person to whom the policy was issued.

Insurers have been well aware that, under common law, personal contracts terminate on the death of one of the parties.

However, they thought that requirements imposed by provincial insurance acts overrode the common law rule.

Mr. Justice Spence wrote:

"These indemnifications against third party claims in automobile insurance policies are issued only on an annual basis and, therefore, if the liability under the policy continued in favour of the executors and administrators for the balance of the term of the policy, (as such liability could not extend for more than 12 months,) it would be no great hardship upon the insurer to assess such liability by statutory amendment.

"The present situation creates a great hardship on the estates of deceased policyholders and a great hardship on members of the public who are injured by the negligent driving of automobiles the property of those executors."

In the U.S. most auto insurance contracts specify that the policy continues in force for several months after the policyholder's death.

Canadian insurers will likely seek amendment of present policy forms to create a similar provision. A three-month extension is being mentioned widely in industry circles.

Insurance men note the Ontario Supreme Court decision could still be appealed to a higher court.

There is no indication at present whether such an appeal will be launched.

Here and There With

for so generously giving me so much space in which to reminisce about many happy days in Kenora and Keewatin.

Dryden, I notice is holding its Decoration Day on Sunday. The last Decoration Day ceremony I attended in Dryden was a memorable day. It was on the first Sunday of September 1939, and I shall never forget the scene.

The people of the town, together with many visitors from all parts of Northwestern Ontario, were gathered at the Dryden memorial to pay tribute to those who had served in the First World War. Suddenly, in the midst of the service, news-boys began moving through the crowd, selling "extra" editions of the Winnipeg daily newspapers which had just arrived on the afternoon train. The papers headlined the sinking of the liner

"Athenia", and the fact that war was imminent.

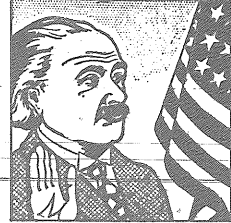

It was a moment packed with drama; and it is the moment I recall each year when I read in the papers that so many years have now passed since war was declared.

good discipline, dress and deportment, has been part of the daily programme.
 Kenora boys attending camp are: H. G. Dowswell, Robert Korts, N. F. Long, B. C. McKellar, C. E. Sinclair, R. M. Smith, W. A. Thompson.

Each day the cadets have been taking part in physical training including exercises and a small obstacle course. Combined with the recreational and camp sports programme, the physical training has given the boys more self-confidence. They not only played games, but were taught the rules and how to officiate. Baseball, softball, volleyball and field events were part of the programme.

Most of the training has been outdoors and each cadet has spent one week at Camp Strathcona, part of Dundurn. There they lived in tents and carried out normal training, returning to the main camp as a well-knit team. On the rifle ranges and in lectures, they have become proficient in the handling and use of the Army's FN (C1) rifle, some 250 qualifying as first and second class shots.

Cadets on the transport operator's course were trained to be efficient and safe drivers. The 15- and 16-year-old boys acted like veteran drivers as they wheeled three-ton Army trucks through rolling countryside. Cadets were required to park Army lorries in simulated parking areas, taught to detect mechanical and other defects and to make minor repairs. Each cadet was assessed as he drove over a winding and hilly driving course generously sprinkled with regulation highway and city-type traffic signs, and now all must take a written examination.

On the signals course the boys had an opportunity to work with various Army radio and field telephone sets as they learned proper voice procedure, the operation and minor maintenance of the signals equipment. Next Thursday they will conduct their own marching-out parade to mark the end of camp. On the parade square the appointments of commanding officer, troop officers, sergeants-major and sergeants will be held by the cadets themselves. Evaluating their commands and appearance, and accepting the salute in a marchpast will be Major-General W. J. McGill, General Officer Commanding Prairie Command, who will be reviewing his last formal parade prior to retirement on Sept. 1st.

Observing the parade, with other spectators will be Regular Army and Cadet Services of Canada instructors who have devoted their summer to training the cadets. According to Major Ralph Young of Winnipeg, Cadet Chief Instructor, it was a summer well spent in which the cadets "gained a little in knowledge, experience and maturity, all of which contribute to the development of leadership qualities in our cadets."

On returning home with certificates of military qualification, it is certain the cadets will be more proficient in cadet work. It is also certain they will be more adept in "domestic" life after seven weeks of doing their own laundry, pressing and even sewing.

for 4 at each. There are also 2 special care dining rooms and a staff dining room.

THE KITCHEN

The kitchen, which is the special pride of Pinecrest, has stainless steel equipment. There are electric stove grills and 5 bake ovens. Every day approximately 450 meals are served. There are vegetable steamers, electric steam tables to take food to the special care sections for 50 to 60 people, stainless steel sinks, a dish washer and dryer are also in operation. A huge mix master, a propane gas toaster which turns out 32 slices at a time, are also in constant use. There are stainless steel tea and coffee urns. On the ground floor is a deep freeze and off the kitchen 3 walk-in refrigerators for dairy products, vegetables and meat. An electric elevator, with a capacity of 300 lbs., carries food from the stockroom to the kitchen. A potato peeling machine is also in use. Thirty-two dozen eggs have been scrambled for one meal at the Home, so that is why the frying pans are Lilliputian in size—3 feet across and 6 inches deep.

The laundry boasts a washing machine, tumblers, mangle and steam press all huge in size.

Natural gas is used for heating but Pinecrest has a coal-fed boiler as a stand-by. There is an incinerator on the ground floor of the Home. Papers, etc. are thrown in a chute and immediately burned. There are 12 heating zones automatically controlled in such a way that when the temperature drops outside, the amount of radiation on the inside of the Home increases.

There are 12 time stations for safety. A watchman punches a clock at every hour from 4 in the afternoon until 8 the next morning, when the next shift is taken. There is an automatic connection between the Home and the Firehall. Fire extinguishers are placed strategically. Exit doors are equipped with panic hardware making exit very easy in case of emergency. For further fire protection there are heat activated alarm systems in fire proof rooms such as storage rooms and laundry rooms.

In visiting Pinecrest one must see the hobby shop down stairs with 2 work tables and $250.00 worth of tools which were donated for use of the residents. Beautiful bird houses among other items are turned out here.

The ladies have their hobby craft room, a pleasant centre presided over by Joey, the paragon. This is a cheery room equipped with a new sewing machine a place where the ladies can sew and attend handicraft groups twice a week, supervised by the Ladies' Auxiliary group. In the rotunda is a display table for crafts. Each resident who makes an article for sale has a number on the product, the resident receiving the difference between cost and sale price.

Really they have everything at Pinecrest, a men's and a ladies barber shop are on the main floor. The Ladies Shop has a hair dresser and an electrically heated table. A barber and a hair-dresser come out once a week to attend to Residents' needs.

One could not leave Pinecrest without a last view of the grounds which is Mr. Jack Georges domain. Here we find beautiful flower beds and lawns and nestled in the trees a barbecue with tables. Mr. George had 5,000 plants under fluorescent light in the early spring. This June saw the completion of the polyethylene green house outdoors. Residents who are able can work in the vegetable garden and on the grounds and are paid for their work.

Religious services are held every Sunday at Pinecrest. The Roman Catholic Service is held at 10:30 a.m. Every Sunday afternoon at 1:45 a Protestant denominational service is held. All winter Knox United Church conducted Sunday School on the main floor for 70 youngsters from the area who make use of the facilities granted by the Home.

A final suggestion - take a quick step into the Tuck Shop, the pride of the Pinecrest Ladies' Auxiliary. Auxiliary members serve you with anything from candy to shoe laces. Mr. Cunningham feels great credit should be given to the Ladies Auxiliary to Pinecrest. Mrs. W. G. Saunders, president and her committee chairmen who help so much in re-activating the residents with the many programs which they provide.

Opened officially on October 2nd 1957 the Home has been in operation since March 30th 1957. Visitors to Kenora from United States and the western provinces are particularly pleased and interested with the plan of the building and are carrying back with them many ideas for future use in their own localities.

Tomorrow - Saturday Aug. 15th is "Pinecrest Day". By your interest you can help make the day a success. The hours again are from 2.30 to 4.00. Be sure to attend.

ROYAL CHARTER

The City of London, England, received its first royal charter in 1067.

Wood-fired steamboats of the 1850's used about 150 cords of wood on the average trip through the Great Lakes.

Covered bridges are still being built occasionally in the new England states; one at Sheffield, Mass., was dedicated in 1953.

In the Great Lakes area alone the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners during 1958 granted seven licences applicable to 75 ships.

Comparative Price Advertising Is No "Gimmick" at EATON'S

WHEN EATON'S QUOTES COMPARATIVE PRICES
THIS IS WHAT IT MEANS . . .

● When we compare an EATON special price with the "Ordinary price" prevailing — a thorough survey is made of the local market, to make certain that the special price to be quoted is substantially lower than the price at which a comparable article is being sold RIGHT AT THE PRESENT TIME in other stores as well as our own. Only when this condition is fulfilled will we quote comparative prices in our advertising.

● Whenever we quote a "regular price," we refer to the last price at which the merchandise was sold at EATON'S even though that price may have been a reduction of an earlier "regular price." Thus, if we sell an article at 4.95, reduce it to 3.98, and later on reduce it to 2.98 — it will be advertised as "Reg. 3.98. Special Price 2.98."

Throughout its history EATON'S has steadfastly scorned misleading price comparison practices. Above all things, we value your confidence . . . and we safeguard it by sticking to this simple, straight-forward rule.

EATON ADVERTISING MUST MEAN WHAT IT
