EDITORIAL VIEWPOINT

RESPONSIBILITY LACKING

A case presently before the Courts in Kenora, concerning the severe beating of an Indian in Keewatin late on the night of September 12th, is attracting nation-wide interest. There is no question that a brutal crime was committed, but it is not on that grounds that news services are featuring the story, for similar beatings and resultant charges are unfortunately fairly common.

The Miner and News printed a fair report on the case as it developed up to Monday, September 14th, with a lead story on page one. No evidence has yet been heard by the Magistrate, and until the case is heard, the interests of justice are not served by those who expound their views and versions of the case.

Other newspapers receive this newspaper daily. Not until they were made aware that charges of racial discrimination were being levelled did they suddenly take notice - fully 10 days after the published report of the incident was first available to them. This was the fact that they choose to print rumor and gossip, to us hardly seems in keeping with their dignity and responsibility.

The Canadian Press carried the following report: "Police Chief Jack Beckworth of Keewatin said today four men charged with assaulting an Indian September 12th, have been remanded because no witnesses would come forward. HE REFUSED TO GIVE THE NAMES OF THE MEN ALTHOUGH THE CHARGE HAD BEEN READ TO THEM IN A PUBLIC COURT ROOM. HE SAID THE NEWSPAPERS IN NEIGHBOURING KENORA HAVE AN AGREEMENT NOT TO PUBLISH NAMES OF PEOPLE CHARGED IN POLICE COURT."

Contrast this with the report carried by the Free Press (as reproduced on Page 5), and evidence is clear that the conviction and punishment of any responsible person for the crime is not the primary concern of those who wish to become prominent in the matter.

It might be well, to state here, what is obvious to any responsible citizen - the Miner and News cannot (even if it wanted so to do) bargain with the Police or with Magistrate's Court in any matters at all. This includes the publishing or withholding of names or events. Our policy has been to withhold names in cases below Supreme Court level and including divorce actions. The reason is simple: in a town this size, the publicizing of names would punish the innocent, sensitive children as well as other adults. We do not believe that this policy has hampered police.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION DISCUSS SCHOOL DRESS, GRADES 1 - 6

The King George VI and South VI School and the new principal Ward Home and School Association held their regular meeting on Monday evening, Sept. 21 at the King George VI School at 8:15 p.m.

The singing of "O Canada" led by Mr. Wager followed by the Lord's Prayer officially opened the meeting. The parents were then given an opportunity to meet the teachers. Mrs. S. Burris, the President called on Miss Kron of the King George VI School and the new principal Miss Kemp of the South Ward School to introduce the teachers of the respective grades.

The president then pointed out that after reviewing last year's Executive, that a President, a Vice-president, a Secretary and a Programme Convener are still needed. Also, after reviewing some of the very creditable results that this Home and School organization had accomplished, it was felt that to anyone who was able to fill any of these offices it would be a real privilege to work for the schools and the community.

It was moved and seconded that an attendance prize be given to the grade having the most parents present at the Home and School Meetings.

There was much lively discussion on the wearing of tunics for Grades I to VI.

A question and answer period was enjoyed by the parents and the teachers.

Mrs. Burris then introduced Rev. Floyd Johnson who spoke on U.N.I.C.E.F. One special feature of his talk was that in Borneo, Halloween was a beautiful occasion much different from ours. When our children take their penny boxes around for U.N.I.C.E.F. on Halloween it is not only the remuneration for healing that is sought, but the instilling in our children the love for others, unselfishness, the act of giving, not always the act of receiving which in the end has its just rewards.

The president thanked Pastor Johnson for his inspiring and enlightening talk.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Queen after which a social hour followed.

Cooking School Making A Hit With Local Ladies

Mrs. Alice Wood, Home Economist and lecturer who is conducting the Safeway Cooking School here, all this week had many nice things to say about Kenora when interviewed prior to this afternoon's session.

This is such a lovely place, she said, and the people are so nice and friendly. This has been a very good cooking school, Mrs. Wood continued, with the audience interested in all the various recipes and cooking hints. Crowds have been increasing too, she said with more people coming every day.

Mrs. Wood, possessor of a charming personality and the friendliest of smiles is making a real hit with her audiences. Her visit to Kenora marks her second trip to Canada and her first time to Ontario.

Friday afternoon will see the conclusion of the five day school. The afternoon will be climaxed by the awarding of a spanking new gas stove, the latest in design, which will be given to some lucky lady, compliments of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. Each afternoon fifteen hampers of groceries are

Salvation Army Musical Group Coming To Kenora

On the week-end of September 26 and 27 a musical group will be coming to The Salvation Army in Kenora where on Saturday at 8:00 p.m. they will be presenting a special musical programme. The programme will consist of a girl trombone soloist, a girl tenor horn soloist, an ectionist and a Marimbaphone soloist. The girl's sextette will sing group and solo numbers throughout the weekend. This will be a special musical weekend and all are cordially invited to attend.

With flags flying and band playing International anthems, citizens of the United States and Canada met in the middle of the International bridge between Fort Frances, and International Falls on Wednesday at noon, to witness the placing of highway markers of Minnesota and Ontario signifying the designation of the Ontario route extension of the "Great River Road" from New Orleans to the Trans-Canada highway. Dignitaries from both countries were on hand for the historic ceremony.

Minnesota has begun to place its markers along the designated routes in that State, and the route from Bemidji to International Falls into Ontario was marked on Wednesday. Ontario markers also available will be placed on the highways in Ontario, 71, 70 and 17 to mark the connecting link between the two great highways: the Great River Road and Trans-Canada highway at Longbow Corners, 13 miles southeast of Kenora.

The first ceremony was held on the International Falls side of the bridge, with Mayor Pat Roche of the Falls giving the address of welcome. The splendid band of the International Falls High School, under the direction of Irving Peterson played the national anthems of both countries. Canon J. V. Temple of Fort Frances asked the blessing on the great international project between the two countries.

J. A. Sherrett of Kenora, Canadian Co-Pilot of the Mississippi River Parkway Planning Commission, and chairman of the Ontario delegation was master of ceremonies, and the speakers who appeared were Mr. Charles

Farmers Are Human

That seems a silly caption but sometimes we wonder if some of our local hunters and berry-and-mushroom pickers realize that farmers do have human feelings.

How would you feel if some daf clambered all over your garden fence, breaking it down so that your favorite cocker spaniel escaped; then proceeded to trample your petunias and set up a target in your back yard? Examine your thoughts as you spent half a day searching for the cocker and another half day fixing the fence.
How would you feel if someone who should know better, dumped a load of garbage on your front lawn?

Did you ever have a high powered bullet singing past your ear and end up killing your valuable pet canary?

Complaints are being received in the Department of Lands and Forests these days from farmers and country dwellers almost as absurd as the foregoing, because someone has not stopped to think.

We repeat, farmers are human, and most of them will readily give permission to hunt over their property, pointing out the safe places to go to avoid wounding cattle or trampling the fall wheat, and quite often telling

Public Can Assist In Fish, Wildlife Enforcement

Sometimes an interested person has information that should be given to a Conservation Officer but hesitates to do so because he is unwilling to let his conscience wrestle with the term "squealer". Such people do not seem to realize that fish and game belong to all the people, and those who steal it are entitled to the same kind of action as chicken thieves and bank robbers, according to Conservation Officer C. Vanston. We can classify information received into two groups, good and poor.

In order for information to be good it must be correct - furnish essential details, give exact locations, and report it without delay.

Poor information comes from tampering with evidence, late or inadequate reporting, or careless talk under such circumstances that the violator may be tipped off. It does take evidence that will stand up in court to convict a violator. It cannot be done on rumors and hearsay. On the other hand, don't hesitate to report to an officer just because you have not got everything needed for an air-tight legal case. Given some reliable information and some time in which to work, an officer may be able to gather the evidence he needs.

To summarize, the best way the public can serve the Conservation Officer and themselves is to call when in doubt about conservation regulations and to furnish accurate, timely information on conservation, law violations and violators.

Division Bureau of Statistics

Manufacturing:

Shipments by manufacturers in July were down in value from June - the usual trend - but were substantially higher than in July last year. Estimated value for the month was $2,001,797,000 compared to $2,081,775,000 for June and $1,839,692,000 for July 1958. Cumulative total for the seven months was $13,324,468,000, some 4% above last year's $12,554,888,000. New orders were 7% lower than in June but 10% higher than in July a year ago.

External Securities Trade:

Net capital inflow from all portfolio transactions amounted to $126,000,000 in the second 1959 quarter, down from $168,000,000 in the first quarter and $239,000,000 in the second quarter last year. Retirements of foreign-held Canadian securities were up to $72,000,000 from $37,000,000 in the first quarter, accounting for most of the change in this comparison.

Merchandising:

July sales of chain stores were 9.5% higher this year than last, bringing the gain for the seven months to 6.5%. Grocery and combination stores had somewhat larger gains of 10.9% and 6.7%, respectively, than all chains together. Sales of department stores in July were 8.6% higher than last year and for the seven months were also 6.5% higher. Gain in numerical sales of new motor vehicles eased off to 3% in July compared to over 15% for the January-July period. Sales of vehicles from overseas countries were 17% and 47% larger in the two periods.

Business Trends:

Value of cheques was a fifth larger in July this year than last for the seven months over 14% larger. Business failures in the first half of the year numbered 1,029 against 1,114 last year with defaulted liabilities 11% lower.

Transportation:

Railway carloading in August were nearly 16,000 larger than a year earlier at 339,077 cars. For the eight months there was an increase of 1.7%.

Food & Agriculture:

Estimated farm cash income in the first half of 1959 was 3% above last year at a record $1,318,366,000. Total income from field crops was up 3% in spite of lower returns from wheat, and those from livestock and products rose somewhat over 3% in spite of a drop from cattle.

How To Store Garden Produce

If your house basement has a temperature range of 55 to 65 degrees Fah., and is fairly dry, you can store tomatoes, pumpkins and squash. Any cool, dry location is ideal for storing dry beans and peas, according to the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

A lot of tomatoes are still out in the garden at the time of the first frost. Save these from freezing by picking and placing them in the basement to ripen. Select only the fruits that have gone from a dark green to a lighter green or pink color - this shows that they have started to ripen. Store them in shallow trays, or spread out on a table. Discard any that may be rotting. Light is not essential. Do not let the temperature go below 55 degrees or above 70 degrees.

Pumpkins and squash must be fully mature before going into storage. Cut them from the vines, leaving the stem on. Pile them in some warm location for about two weeks so that they cure properly before basement storage.

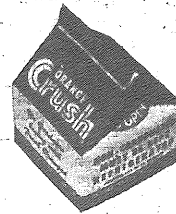

Then, space them a bit on shelves in the coolest part of the basement. Handle carefully, because bruised skins can lead to rotting.

Dry beans and peas may be best stored in an unheated location, such as an outside porch. Pick the beans and peas as soon as they are ripe. Spread them out in a warm, dry place until the pods are quite dry. Then shell, and store the seeds in poly bags or glass jars.

Father came downstairs carrying his jacket over his arm. He looked hard at his wife and then at his son.

"That boy has taken money from my pocket," he stormed. "Henry," she ejaculated, "how can you say that? Why, it might have been me!"

"No, dear," he replied, "It wasn't you. I've still got some coppers."

PLUM CONSERVE

Yield: About 12 medium glasses (6 lbs. conserve)
 2 cups prepared plums (about 4 quarts ripe plums)
 1 cup seeded raisins
 1 cup chopped nut meats
 6 cups (2 lbs. 10-ounces) sugar.
 1 cup water
 1/2 bottle liquid fruit-pectin.

First, Prepare The Fruit. Pit (do not peel) about 2 quarts fully ripe plums. Cut in pieces and chop. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the conserve. Add raisins, nut meats, sugar, and water to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skin by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with 1/4 inch hot paraffin.

NOTE: Sour Clingstone plums make the best conserve. For sweet or Italian prune plums, substitute 1/4 cup lemon juice for 1/4 cup prepared plums. Omit water and use 5 cups of sugar. Yield: 10 medium glasses (5 pounds conserve).

Norway had an apple crop of 50,000 tons in 1958, about 3,000 tons higher than the previous year.

Coal was first mined in Cape Breton Island in 1872 and in Alberta in 1872.

Race Bias Alleged

BY FRED CLEVERLEY
Free Press Staff Reporter

KENORA, Ont. (Special) — Twelve days ago, a young Keewatin Indian Sam Bearman, was brutally beaten by a gang of young white men, and left lying in a pool of blood near the intersection of Main and Wharf Streets.

Almost two weeks later, Keewatin police are hoping to round up enough of about 40 people who witnessed the beating to make their case stand up against four Kenora youths.

Police have charged the four, Robert Brignall, Garry Wickman, Garry Satterland and Glen Grotke, all 20 years of age, with assault occasioning bodily harm. They have appeared before Magistrate J. V. Fregeau on two occasions and have been remanded.

A Presbyterian missionary who has charge of 10 Indian reserves in the Kenora district, Ivan Robson, is convinced this month's beating is just another example of the kind of racial discrimination which, he says, makes the Kenora-Keewatin district unique in Canada.

Mr. Robson said, and was supported by other Kenora citizens, that the beating was not the first to be administered by young whites who were out for "kicks" and got them by beating up Indians.

Natural Thing

Keewatin's police chief, youthful Jack Beckworth, says there is no hint of racial discrimination in the reluctance of witnesses to come forward with information. He says it is a natural thing, not only in Kenora, but throughout Canada, for people to stay away from any kind of trouble which does not directly involve them.

Police Chief Beckworth admitted he had more than the usual amount of difficulty in locating witnesses. Mr. Robson, in a sermon delivered Sunday in Kenora's First Presbyterian Church, said a crowd of 40 people, many of them Legionnaires from a nearby Legion hall, witnessed the beating, and none came to help.

Mr. Robson was not quite correct. At the beginning of the fight, a passerby who had come from the Legion hall pitched in to help the Indian, but was laid out cold by the attackers. It was this helper's testimony that led police to the arrest of the four Kenora youths.

What was true was that a crowd of more than 40, from the No. 13 branch of the Canadian Legion, two nearby beer parlors and two cafes did watch the beating, and offered no assistance.

Police have found it most difficult to secure witnesses. By running down every possible lead, they managed to locate 14 people who admitted seeing part of the scrap. Six of these have agreed to appear in court, and the police chief is determined to summons all of them.

Telephoned Police

The chief is convinced there is no racial discrimination involved. A Kenora businesswoman, who operates a cafe on Main Street, disagreed. She said she has often witnessed Indians being picked upon by the younger men, and has on occasion telephoned police for help.

The particular beating of Sam In fact, Constable Degagne had just left the area when the fight began. He had been called to stop a street fight, and was taking a prisoner to the Kenora cells — six miles away — when the second fight call came to the Keewatin police office.

Lying In Street

The Keewatin police wagon has no radio and the constable could not be reached until he arrived at the Kenora police station. He hurried back to the fight scene, and found the injured Indian lying on the street.

The policeman took the injured man to St. Joseph's Hospital in Kenora where he remained unconscious for 15 hours.

Around Kenora, there still seems to be some doubt about Sam Bearman's fate. Several citizens questioned had heard he was dead when, in fact, he was allowed to leave his hospital bed a few days ago. He will be in hospital for another month.

An agreement between the local news sources and the police keeps names of people who appear in police court out of the newspaper, and no one seemed to know the identity of the men arrested for assault.

Police Chief Beckworth had no hesitation in releasing the names. He said he could not understand an arrangement which kept the information from the Kenora public.

Gets Warning

Mr. Robson, whose sermon was the first public announcement of the incident, was warned Wednesday that he would find the "going rough" because he had chosen to publicize the beating. He said he was convinced the warning came from sources which were only interested in keeping Kenora happenings quiet.

Mr. Robson said Wednesday that he found Kenora to have a racial prejudice against Indians that was unique in Canada. He said Indians had only certain restaurants in which they would receive service, were denied the use of other services in the city, and were even barred from public washrooms.

Police Chief Beckworth said he thought this description was "slightly exaggerated."

Now, 12 days after the beating of an Indian the police appear to have sufficient witnesses to proceed with their case. They will attempt to locate three other Indians who are believed to have seen the fight. If these can be found before the weekend, other witnesses will be summoned to appear Monday.

BOATING WITH STAN DAVIES

Boat Storage Care Now, Pays Off in Spring

The 1959 boating season is just about over; and thousands of week-end out-board skippers the rig which was a joy all summer is now just a pain in the neck.

But remember this, all you boaters, proper storage of boat and motor now, or in the next few weeks, will pay off big dividends next spring. One winter can be harder on a boat and motor than two or three summers.

It is the medium sized boats, which present the greatest problem. Big boats, cruisers, heavy inboard launches, etc., must-of-necessity be stored in a boat yard where marine railway facilities are available. There, on proper cradles, they get good support and are easily accessible. Protection from weather can be expensive. A shed-roof or even a tarpaulin tent built over them to keep off the sun and snow is worth the money.

Light boats of the car-top variety offer little problem. They can be stored upside down, supported at several points, or they may be stood upright, preferably flat on the transom.

Keep in Shade Naturally, indoor storage—not too dry—is preferable for all wood and metal boats. For plastic boats, best storage conditions are not yet entirely known but it is only common sense to avoid weather extremes.

One thing to watch with plastic boats stored outside—leaks. Stress may also throw the boat out of shape. This may cause reduced speed and may even be dangerous with a fast planing hull.

Wooden boats stored right side up should be equipped with canvas covers. A made-to-fit cover is the only kind that can be counted on to stay put in storms, and these are very popular.

Ventilation Poor But such covers have one extremely harmful disadvantage... ventilation is mostly inadequate. Some are fitted with small cowls which keep snow out and let air in. But they are rare.

Probably the best solution is to remove the cover on good crisp winter days to air the whole craft.

Storing the outboard motor is simpler and requires only a basic routine. First, remove all gasoline by disconnecting tank, then running motor until it stops. If running is not practical, drain carburetor and fuel lines. This is to prevent gum formation.

Tilt motor back and forth to drain water from cooling system, where it may do harm by freezing. Drain grease from lower unit or force in new lubricant until old is expelled. This drives out water, too.

Next, remove sparkplugs and squirt a teaspoon of engine oil into each cylinder. Crank engine a couple of times to distribute oil.

North Ward Home School Association Installs Officers

The highlight of Wednesday nights' Home and School meeting at North Ward School was the installation of officers for the new term. Mrs. E. Creodon of the Home and School Council installed the following officers:

- Pres. - Mrs. M. Innard
- 2nd Vice Pres. - Mrs. G. Martin
- Treas. - Mrs. V. Kirk
- Rec. Secty. - Mrs. B. Latham
- Publicity - Mr. D. Innard
- Membership - Mrs. D. Brown
- Social Convener - Mrs. J. Gan
- Executive - Mrs. N. Munn, Mrs. H. Rosamund, Mrs. D. Canfield, Mrs. N. Kesloski and Mrs. E. Ziesman.

Prior to the meeting parents visited the classrooms and met the teachers, who showed some of the work done by the pupils up to this time. In welcoming the large number of parents and teachers to this first meeting of the year, Mrs. Innard, President, read the Home and School Creed which outlined the aims of Home and School. The short business session was followed by the introduction of the teachers to the parents, by the Principal, Mr. L. Hunt.

For entertainment an excellent travel film was shown entitled, "Heart of England." During the Social half hour that followed, parents and teachers were asked to list the type of programme they would like the Home and School to put on for future programmes. These suggestions will be discussed at the next executive meeting, so that it is hoped to have the type of programme most people want.

Norman CWL Plan Many Activities For Coming Season

A very well attended meeting of the Norman parish council of the Catholic Women's League was held at the home of the president Mrs. M. Roy on Monday, September 14th.

The meeting opened with prayer and following the usual manner of business the president, called on the various conveners for their reports.

The subscriptions to the "Canadian League" were renewed with a good percentage of members receiving this most interesting and informative magazine. Many orders were also received for the League pin and members were urged to wear same.

Every first Sunday of the month has been designated as "Communion Sunday".

Many new ideas were discussed for the coming year, and it was decided to hold a Tea and Bake Sale on Saturday, September 26, at the Norman Community Club at 2:30 p.m. A door prize will be awarded some lucky lady. Mrs. R. Baker accepted convener-ship of the tea. The bake table will feature such goodies as buns, bread, pies and cream puffs.

A "clothing drive" has been started to prepare bundles of clothing, toys, etc. for some of our needy Indians. Mrs. J. Copeland will accept any articles from this date on until a substantial amount has been collected.

During the summer months, a lovely "Missal" was purchased and presented to Rt. Rev. Msgr. E. Hebert for the Sacred Heart Church in Norman.

Following regular business Mrs. R. Caron, spiritual convener, led the members in a devotional period and the meeting closed with prayer.
