LATE NEWS BULLETINS

World wheat production in 1970 - 1971 is likely to be lower, but stocks available for export will continue to be high. This comes from the Federal Agricultural Department in Ottawa, which also says immediate future prospects are for somewhat higher world exports, stable prices, no reduction in stocks held by major exporters and no "sharp movement" in the world situation.

A department statement says there is reason to expect that prices may not go lower than their present level. It says Soviet production in the 1969 - 1970 crop year is expected to be down 17 per cent. Argentina down anywhere from 33 million to 58 million bushels and Australia down some 100 million bushels. But Canada's 1969 - 1970 production is expected to be 684 million, 300 thousand bushels - 35 million bushels higher than last year.

Meanwhile, Otto Lang, Minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, says he's quite optimistic about orderly marketing in the International Grain Market. He said in an interview today the wheat exporting nations have learned their lesson and stability has returned to International trading.

He also said federal policy has stemmed the tide running against orderly marketing of prairie grain. He said the marketing system would save broken down completely but for firm action against bootlegging in grain. He said the rules are going to be enforced and indicated police action will continue against bootleggers.

Saskatchewan Provincial Treasurer D. G. Steuart still has hopes for a balanced budget in the 1969-1970 fiscal year. But he says the province has far more serious problems than balancing the budget right now. The provincial government's semi-annual white paper on the economy says there is more than one billion, 37 million bushels of unsold grain in Saskatchewan, worth almost one billion, 400 million dollars. It says there is little prospect of selling more than a third of this next year and even an average crop would further increase the stockpile.

Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, Roy Jenkins, says the Labor government's tough economic measures are beginning to pay off. He says Britain has reached a period of strength in its balance of payments position it hasn't enjoyed in many years - and is determined to keep it that way. Speaking today in Chicago, Jenkins said Britain has fought too hard and too long to be prepared to let this favorable position slip away.

Jenkins is in the U.S. on an eight-day tour. He spoke today at a luncheon of the British-American Chamber of Commerce and the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations.

Several residents of Edgartown, Massachusetts, testified today at the secret inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. One was Russell Peachey, manager of the Inn at... Senator Edward Kennedy was staying. He told earlier of seeing Kennedy a few hours after his car plunged into a tidal pool, carrying Miss Kopechne to her death. He said Kennedy appeared composed and was wearing dry clothing.

Meanwhile, two of Kennedy's close friends are reported to have told the inquest they thought at one point that Kennedy was going for police help when he swam from Chappaquidick Island to the mainland. Joseph Gargan and Paul Markham are quoted as saying it was the next day they learned that Kennedy had not sought the help of police.

U.S. Defence Secretary Melvin Laird says the U.S. will have to consider possible production of a new strategic bomber or deploy more strategic missiles at sea if Russia's offensive threat continues to mount. He says new offensive weapons may be required if Russia continues its high rate of deployment of S-S-Nine Missiles and if there is no progress in the U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks.

The Soviet missiles are reported capablee of knocking out U.S. retaliatory forces. Laird made clear at a meeting today with newsmen no decision has been made yet to go into new offensive arms production. But he siad various options will be considered by the Nixon administration in deliberations by the U.S. National Security Council.

George Barry Bouchey, one of the Ontario Department of Transport's recently appointed vehicle inspection officers, will serve in the Districts of Kenora, Rainy River and Thunder Bay. His office will be located at the Inter-City Plaza, 862 Fort William Road Thunder Bay.

Friends Thought Kennedy Headed For Police

Edgartown, Massachusetts- Two friends of Senator Edward Kennedy are said to have testified at the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest they thought he was going to police when he dived into a channel separating Chappaquiddick Island from Martha's Vineyard.

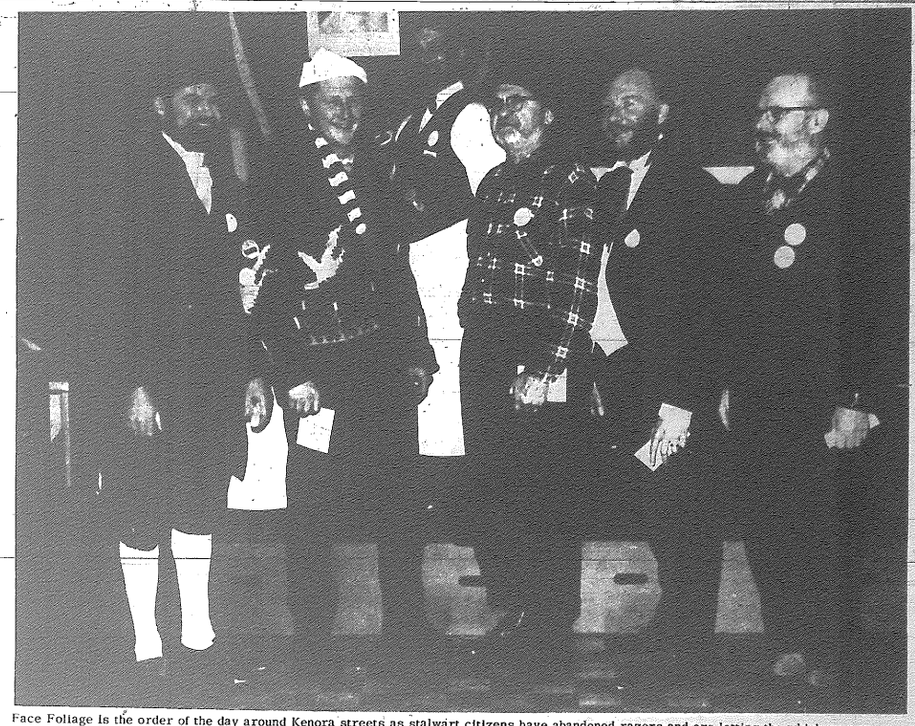

A source close to the case disclosed today that the two - Joseph Gargan and Paul Markham - testified at the closed session yesterday. Kennedy has said the two helped him search for Miss Kopechne in the pond where his car fell and were with him when he dived into the channel last summer. The source says Gargan and Markham testified that it was not until the morning after the incident that they learned Kennedy had not gone to the police.

They ... said to have testified they urged the Senator to go to police after their unsuccessful search for Miss Kopechne - around Kennedy's submerged car. They are said to have told the inquest , Kennedy's failure to do so reflected the great confusion and distress in which they believed him to be.

The source says Gargan and Markham told of taking Kennedy by car to the Edgartown Ferry slip on Chappaquidick after the search. It was at this point that Kennedy jumped into the water and swam to the other side.

RUBBERY-VIOLENCE NETS B.C. MAN 5 YEAR TERM

A thirty year old resident of British Columbia was sentenced at Kenora Tuesday by Judge J.V. Fregeau to serve five year in Penitentiarly for a conviction of robbery with violence.

The man, who had several aliases and other convictions of a similar nature was arrested following a complaint laid by Domenik Bernashall, 49 of Minaki, who told police he had been accosted on the street at 12.30 in the morning of December 17th, beaten about the head and body and relieved of $186 in cash.

Judge Fregeau said that he had not had to experience a similar case in his 13 years on the bench in Kenora and was assessing the five year sentence as a means of deterrent as he said actions of this nature will not be tolerated on the streets of Kenora.

HYDRO WORKERS PRESENT NEW CONTRACT DEMANDS

On Friday, January 2nd 1970, the Ontario Hydro Employees' Union Local 1000 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, presented its bargaining agenda to Management for a new contract covering its 10,000 members across Ontario. The Demands include:

- a 14 % general wage increase in a one year agreement.
- a revision of the present cost-of-living escalator clause that will provide a 1% wage increase for each 1% increase in the cost of living.
-double time for all overtime.
-improvements in the present vacation entitlements that will provide: 3 weeks after 1 year; 4 weeks after 10 years; 23 days after 15 years. 5 weeks after 20 years; 6 weeks after 25 years; as well as a "sabbatical" vacation system that will provide an extra 5 week vacation in the 15th year and once every five years thereafter.
-a clause that will permit members of the Union to honor picket lines.
-a maternity leave provision.

"The Union's proposals are in line with the most recent contract settlements in the electrical industry in Ontario", stated Local 1000 president, Bill Vincer, "The Union feels that items like maternity leave and sabbatical vacations are provisions that should have been available to its members long ago, since they affect the lives of the Hydro employees as people."

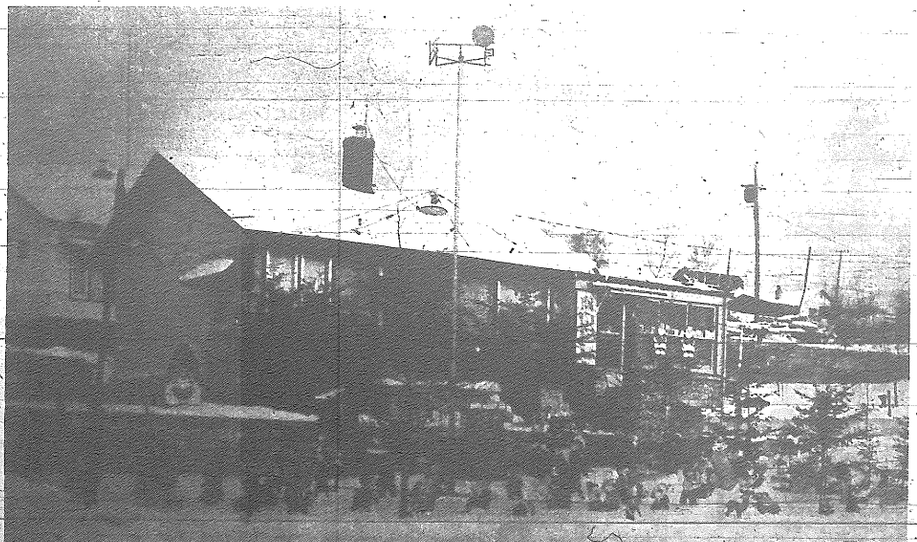

The change in the cost-of-living escalator is simply meant to maintain the negotiated wages and prevent erosion of buying power through rising prices.

"We are looking forward to a productive set of negotiations " stated Kealey Cummings, 1st Vice President of the Union and Chairman of the Bargaining Committee

People Drink for Various Reasons, Doctor Reveals

VICTORIA — A moderate drinker can get drunk faster by drinking whisky than by drinking beer, the B.C. liquor inquiry commission was told Monday.

But it all depends on whether the drinker has food in his stomach.

Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, director of Rutgers University centre for studies in alcohol, said the absorption rate for distilled spirits is faster than that of beer.

He was testifying during cross-examination of the Brewers Association of Canada, by the Canadian Association of Distillers.

"The whole phenomenon of drinking can't be taken separately from how people drink and why people drink," Dr. Greenberg said.

He said moderate drinkers consume alcohol for a number of reasons: Tension lowering, euphoria, anxiety relief.

"When this person has a drink he isn't drinking a certain prescribed amount of alcohol—he's drinking to get a certain effect and that's related to blood alcohol content," he said,

NO FOOD

Dr. Greenberg said figures on absorption rates are based on research with subjects who had no food in their stomachs.

"As soon as you introduce food, all your figures on absorption rates go down the drain."

He said since alcohol in beer is absorbed into the blood stream more slowly than alcohol in spirits, the body has more time to biologically burn up the alcohol, which it does at a rate of three quarters of an ounce an hour.

Boy Aboard Small Boat Found Safe

WINTER GARDEN, Fla. — When his 15-foot boat started to sink on a wind-whipped lake, 40-year-old James Sloan lashed his young son to the bow, said a prayer and swam frantically for shore.

Three hours later nine-year-old Larry Sloan was rescued by sheriff's deputies who said they found him "wet, tired and cold."

Sloan swam a mile and a half to shore Sunday night to where his car was parked and raced six miles to a telephone to call for help. Air pockets kept the boat's bow on the surface.

Father and son were fishing on Lake Butler in central Florida when rising winds started to whip up three foot waves which began to swamp the boat. Sloan couldn't start his 35-horsepower motor.

His wife, Marilyn, said Monday:

"My husband saw this rope hanging from the bow of the boat . . . and after he was sure it wasn't going to sink any farther, he looped the rope around Larry's shoulders and told him not to let go of that line for anything."

She said her son reported: "The waves were coming over my head, but I could breathe all right. That didn't scare me.

Russians Approve Canada's Decision

MOSCOW — Soviet newspapers, long opposed to Canada's plans to bolster its national hockey team with professionals, today reported with obvious approval the Canadian decision to withdraw from the world championship.

Articles in Komsomolskaya Pravda, published by the Soviet youth organization, and Soviet-sky Sport (Soviet Sport) recounted in detail the world hockey dispute.

While the articles made no direct comment on the Canadian withdrawal, the accounts clearly approved last Sunday's showdown meeting in Geneva and the banning of professionals by the International Ice Hockey Federation.

Discussing a decision in July to admit a limited number of professional players to the world championships, Komsomolskaya Pravda commented:

"But the participation of professionals in the world championships, their presence at that festival of amateur sport, is the first step toward the merging of two different sport worlds, two sport concepts between which there is a gap.

"On the one hand, there is the Olympic spirit of sport mobility outlined in the well-considered rules of play between friendly opponents.

"On the other hand, there is the merciless clash of teams, guided by profits, in the name of victory at any price, the crude rules of play for the pleasure of the public, bribery, and blackmail."

In its background account of the dispute, the article added: "The decision of the international federation was leading to the liquidation of hockey as a sport, to transforming it into a show, into an instrument for attracting people into the stadiums. This is the essence of the matter."

Monday's newspapers had reported the Canadian withdrawal and the shift of the 1970 championship site to Sweden briefly and factually. Today's longer explanatory articles reflected Soviet approval that a rule against professionals was again in force.

Thin TV Screen Developed

WATERLOO, Ont. — A University of Waterloo physics professor said Monday his department is confident that progress is being made in improving the picture on a tubeless, flat-screened television set which is only ¼-inch thick.

Prof. Philip C. Eastman said the university's industrial research institute is developing an experimental model of the idea under patent by Autotelic Industries Ltd., of Fort Erie, Ont.

"The company is aiming at marketing it," he said. "It plans to have a pilot product marketable to manufacturers perhaps within a year."

He said other countries, including the United States and Japan, have been working on ways of producing a thin television screen but most attempts had been unsuccessful in obtaining a sharp moving picture. He was confident that the problems can be overcome.

He said a model used at the university is still a laboratory experiment which picks up closed-circuit transmissions.

The picture can be made to any size.

Prof. Eastman said the model differs from a normal television picture tube in that the light source comes from all over the back of the ¼-inch panel.

The present picture tube is about 10 inches deep and spreads light from a single source.

He said no progress has been made with three-color pictures.

"That's another technical problem which would have to be overcome in time," he said.

Hijacker Captured

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A man attempting to hijack a Delta Airlines DC-9 was overpowered today when the pilot reversed his engines while landing at Jacksonville, throwing the man off balance, airlines spokesmen said.

The stewardess was injured slightly.

The Duval County sheriffs office said a man identified as Anton Funjek was removed from the plane at Jacksonville. He was held on a charge of assault to murder.

Authorities said the knife-wielding man attempted to seize the plane, Delta Flight 274 to Atlanta, as it approached Jacksonville, forcing his way forward with his knife at the throat of stewardess Sharon Barisford.

The pilot told the man he had to land at Jacksonville, the airline said, and then reversed his engines as he touched down on the runway.

When the hijacker was thrown off balance, passengers and crew members overpowered him.

Sweden Would Welcome Open World Hockey

Rivers, Manitoba–The president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Earl Dawson, has welcomed Sweden's proposal to press for Open World Hockey competition but said it comes "about 48 hours too late."

Helge Berglund, president of the Swedish Ice Hockey Federation, said in Stockholm, the Swedes would seek Open World Championships with the right of professionals to compete.

The International Ice Hockey Federation Sunday, refused to allow Canada to use nine pros, leading the CAHA to bow out of world competition.

Dawson said his first proposals to the weekend meeting at Geneva was that the IIHF stand together as the governing body of World Hockey and make its own eligibility rules.

Alternatively, if the Europeans were worried about Olympic eligibility through playing against Canadian Professionals, Canada suggests the World Championship be scrapped for an exhibition round – He said "The only time we got support from Berglund was after the meeting."

Winter Angling Again Popular

Brook trout anglers report having good success on Antenter and Howard Lakes during the past week-end. Five anglers took 38 brook trout, 12 to 14 inches in length, from Antenter Lake. Fishing with small chub minnows during the period from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. is most productive.

Some excellent catches of lake trout were made on Wonderland Lake during the same week-end. Anglers fishing for yellow pickerel report rather limited success to date.

Poor ice conditions exist on most lakes of the District. Wherever appreciable water currents exist the water is open or only covered with thin ice. Slushy areas exist on many lakes. Ice thickness on the better parts of some District lakes is as follows: Maynard Lake 18 inches of blue ice, Oak Lake 15 inches, Antenter Lake 9 to 12 inches, Howard Lake 10 inches, Lake Charles 8 inches and Wonderland Lake 6 to 8 inches. Ice fishermen and other travelling on lakes and waterways should check ice condition and thickness to ensure their safety.

TRADE RESTRICTIONS

WARSAW — Prostitutes have been barred from the cafe of the Europejski Hotel, Warsaw's largest, because a trade union leader dropped in unexpectedly and was shocked by their presence. A hotel employee said Communist party leaders often came in groups for coffee, but the vice squad had always got there first and by the time the officials showed up the place "looked like a convent."

Trio On Murder Charge Lose Plea

Winnipeg—3 men charged with capital murder in the killing of a St. Boniface policeman lost today in a bid to have their committal for trial set aside.

Their applications were rejected in a judgment by Mr. Justice F.M. Bastin of Manitoba court of Queen's Bench.

Making the application were Clarence Prince and Lawrence Hewsist, both age 29, and 37 year-old Daniel Craib. All are from Metropolitan Winnipeg.

They were committed for trial along with 52 year old Clifford Lurvey of Vancouver in the July 18th shooting death of constable Leonard Shakespeare.

Counsel for the men argued that evidence at their preliminary hearing did not justify their committal on a capital murder charge.

Safety Rules Not Always Best Advice

Toronto—The Executive Director of the Labor Safety Council of Ontario, D.E. Jones, says some safety rules can cause death. He says in a booklet, released in Toronto today by the Ontario Labor Department, "If we want to survive we might do well concentrating more on competence, control and compatibility."

Mr. Jones referred to safety rules involving bicycle riding and boating. He said persons who observe the rule about clinging to an overturned boat often succumb to exposure, where they could have been saved by swimming to shore.

He said another frightening safety rule is for bicycle riders to use hand signals. He said this reduces control and increases the cyclist's accident exposure, since it make it difficult to turn to see if a vehicle is coming.

NEW TRANSPORT OFFICERS POSTED IN PROVINCE

n new Ontario Department of nsport officers are being pos- to various locations across the vince as a further step in the ex- ching vehicle inspection pro- am.

are licensed mechanics with ny years of experience. They l visit used car dealers and ages throughout each district, oviding advice and information. mplaints will be investigated d where necessary, evidence - thered where there has been me breach of the law. Each dis- ct official will be assisted by field staff now employed in operation of the permanent d portable safety check lanes. rly in 1969, vehicle inspection evices were re-organized and vehicle inspection section was established within the Vehicle - Branch of the department. This followed the 1968 requirements that all used motor vehicles , whether sold privately or through a dealer must have a certificate of mechanical fitness before plates can be issued for highway use. During 1969, approximately 738,-392 mechanical fitness certificates were issued to used motor vehicles that successfully passed the in-depth inspection conducted by dealers or licensed mechanics.

In addition, last year, approximately 120,000 motor vehicles were inspected by the Department of Transport vehicle inspection units which consist of 13-portable lanes operating across the province and 2 permanent lanes at Downsview. Vehicle inspections are also conducted by the Ontario Provincial Police and local police authorities routinely throughout the year. The total motor vehicle population in Ontario is now about 2,936,039, of which about 366,330 are new vehicles registered for the first time in 1969.

WILD PELT PRICES DOWN 15% FROM LAST SEASON

Bidders were cautious at the season's first wild fur auction, held at North Bay on December 15, 1969. There was a total of 30 buyers representing local and foreign interests.

According to some officials, lower prices were due in part to an increase in fur farm production. Mink was the big disappointment. This prestige fur was down 40 percent with an average price paid of $7.90. Beaver was down 10 percent with an average price of $15.40. Otter was up 7 percent the average being $33.00 while fox remained stable with an average price of $12.69 per pelt. Lynx was down 10 percent at $30.40 and raccoon brought $5.34, down 15 percent.

The fur market in general is unsettled. The Ontario Trappers' Association endeavors to obtain the highest prices for the furs that trappers send in to them. The 2nd sale at North Bay was held on January 5th and the third sale is scheduled for February 9, 1970. The last receiving date for furs to be placed on the February sale is January 28th.

Test Available

TORONTO — If you think you've had a few too many and you're afraid to drive home because of the compulsory breath analysis test, all you have to do in Toronto is drop in and ask your friendly neighborhood police station for a free test.

So advised a duty officer at Metro traffic division Monday. And, he added, if the test proved you were too drunk to drive, no charges would be laid against you.

"If a man walked into the station and said 'I've been drinking and I want to know if my driving is impaired,' he would be given a voluntary breathalyzer test," the officer said.

"If a guy has enough sense to do that, we're not going to prosecute him. He'd probably be told to go around the corner and call a cab."

Only a few lawyers and doctors have asked to take the test, he said, but they had been driven to the station by someone else.

Fort Frances Business Leader Called To Rest

Rollit Van Vleck (Rusty) Green, pioneer community leader at Fort Frances, Ontario has been called to rest.

Born June 21st, 1899, at Wadena, Minnesota, he came to International Falls in 1904 where his late brother Frank Green operated the Green Hardware and Mortuary at International Falls.

He was employed by the Ontario Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company for 3 years, then took further training at the University of Minnesota at St. Paul. He went to Fort Frances in November of 1923 where he opened his first funeral home after purchasing a furniture business. He pursued this career until 1958 when he turned the management over to his son Van Green who assumed ownership, one year later.

In 1961, he opened a funeral home on Reid Avenue, later selling the business to Mr. Ray Loewen. The late Mr. Green was active in many business enterprises, he was director and president of the Fort Frances Brewing Company, holding this position until the firm was purchased by William Beck.

He was active in Civic affairs having served five terms on the Town Council and two terms as member of the Fort Frances - Board of Education. PAINT & WALL COVERING

by: Helen Allen

Those big beautiful dark eyes belong to Davey, eight months old. He is a sturdy, plump baby in excellent health, of Scottish and German descent.

Davey is a good-natured little fellow, almost always happy, with a ready laugh. He is very alert to his surroundings and obviously enjoys watching whatever is going on around him. He is a placid youngster, not easily ruffled. This also means he is in no hurry to walk or talk. One feels he has the potential but he seems not to believe in expending more effort than is necessary.

Davey was born with a birthmark on the right side of his head which was covered with dark brown hair. This made him look a little unbalanced when he was younger because of the contrast with the rest of his head. But now his hair, though still sparse, is growing very quickly and is also dark. There is a good possibility the birthmarks will be almost invisible once he has all his hair.

Davey needs parents who will appreciate a bright, cheerful little boy and who will not worry over his birthmark.

Members of the New York City Sheriff's office entered a church in East Harlem today and arrested more than fifty Puerto Rican activists, ending a sit in that began December 28th. No violence was reported.

The Young Lords, a group modeled after the Black Panther Party, had seized the church and offered breakfasts and health services to neighborhood children after church officials refused to house their programs.

Indonesia plans to include a small number of women among the thousand of communists interned in the prison island of Buru, 15 miles east of Jakarta. The Associated Press says District Attorney Edmund Dinis threatened to walk out of the court holding the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. It's reported Dinis threatened to leave the Edgartown, Massachusetts, courtroom if Judge James Boyle wouldn't give him more latitude in questioning witnesses.

Reports say the judge told Dinis he could ask his desired questions of U.S. Senator Edward Kennedy, but denied Dinis' request that Kennedy be the last witness in the inquest. Instead, the Senator was first. Despite his technical victory sources said that after it was gained, Dinis relaxed his questioning of Kennedy and stayed generally within the lines set by the judge.

London--British Officials today - confirmed that Britain has agreed to sell ground to air Tiger-Cat missils to the oil-rich Sheikdom of Qatar in the Persian Gulf.

The relatively short-range missiles are designed primarily for the defence of airfields. The order from Qatar is said to be worth less than two million 600 thousand dollars.

Labor MP Frank Allaun has said he will raise the issue in parliament later this month on whether the deal will increase tensions in the middle east.

The government view is that Britain is still responsible for the defence of Qatar until treaty obligations which run out at the end of 1971.

Tel Aviv--The Israeli military command says Israeli warplanes struck at Egyptian military targets near Cairo today and crossed west of the Nile River in their deepest air assault since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

One of the objectives was Dahashur, eight miles south of Helman, a Nile River city where a gigantic steel center is being built with soviet aid.

Dahashur and at least one of the other centers of the Nile Delta reported hit in the attack are 17 miles from the Egyptian capital. Israel claims often to have sent planes over Cairo on reconnaissance, but there has been no record of air attack so near the capital since the six day war ended. A spokesman said all Israeli planes returned safely. There was no mention of what damage was inflicted or how long the raid - lasted.

Efficient Nailing

When nailing two boards together, face to face, you sometimes find that your nails are so long that they protrude slightly on the other side. One solution to this little problem is to drive your nails at a sharp angle -- which not only lengthens the distance through which the nails must go, but also makes for a stronger grip.
