Kenora launches major clean-up drive

Municipal resources co-ordinated in effort

A mammoth clean-up job has been undertaken by work forces of the Town of Kenora, with particular concentration being focussed on back lanes and the waterfront of the downtown sector.

At a meeting of supervisory personnel Tuesday, foreman John Zilinski said that it took 2½ days to clean up one area alone. This particular eyesore was behind the old post office building, where he said, mounds of broken glass existed. Mr. Zilinski recommended that sand be hauled to the site to cover up the glass.

Clerk-treasurer Don McLeod said the situation existing along the entire waterfront from McLeod Park to the vicinity of Fifth St. S. was indeed deplorable. Thousands of empty wine and other bottles have littered the area, along with items of clothing and other debris.

He said that owners of the property, in some instances, have showed reluctance to devote any time or money towards keeping the area tidy. Several "pockets" termed as "drinking Hangouts" were mentioned.

Mr. Zilinski said his workers were hopeful on getting the rubble situation under control within the next week.

Kenora Police Chief Webb Engstrom said that he was not optimistic that a stop to the downtown drinking situation could be found. He said that the imbibers, make their purchase and either go to a dock or an area where they can watch for approaching law-enforcement officers. As soon as an alert is sounded, the bottle is cast aside and the people involved stroll innocently away.

Boards along the outside of marinas, said the chief, have been removed and those searching for a hideout, crawl below, comsume their refreshments and make their departure, after first placing the loose boards back.

The meeting was told that some of the downtown merchants make it a practice to clean up the area surrounding their premises. It was mentioned that one particular bottle-littered area in Hennepen Lane had been cleaned up by town employees a few days ago and today, the situation has returned to what it had been previously.

Oscar Hensrud, recently appointed building, plumbing and safety inspector said that he has been making a tour of the municipality, in company with a representative of the Northwestern Health Unit. Many problem areas have been investigated and the owners of certain properties have been told to have existing situations remedied.

He said that 20 derelict car bodies have been catalogued, mostly on private property, and the owners told to have them removed. If this isn't done within seven days an order will be issued.

Mr. Hensrud said that he had received information from one downtown businessman that he has been cleaning up anywhere from 50 to 60 empty bottles from the vicinity of his property daily and now has decided that he has had enough.

The town now has two men on continual clean-up work on a seven-day a week basis in the downtown sector. These men will continue their operations throughout the summer months.

Mr. McLeod told the meeting that several compliments have been received regarding the clean-up campaign to date.

George Goodwill, superintendent of public works and water works, said that the bus shelter at Norman will soon be painted and tidied up. Materials are on hand and his men are awaiting a break in the weather to carry out the work.

Mr. McLeod told the meeting that the Ontario Municipal Board has approved the sewer and water program for the north sector of the town at an estimated cost of $1,300,000. A contract for part of the work has already been let and it is expected a tender would be accepted for the remainder of the work before mid-June. This will include everything with the exception of three sewer pumping stations as the consulting engineers are of the opinion that this type of work could be better handled by a builder as opposed to a sewer-installer.

Mr. Goodwill said that the 1974 sidewalk maintenance and reconstruction program is being lined up and work should commence on this shortly.

The meeting was told that a group of downtown merchants are endeavouring to make arrangements with the owners of a vacant lot where the Zeal and Gold premises were located, to level the property, plant some trees and place benches there. In the meantime the area is being kept clean and orderly.

It was pointed out that the Ministry of the Environment would be holding a meeting in Kenora at 10:30 a.m. Friday, (May 3) in regards to the proposed Norman and Keewatin water and sewer program. Those who have suggestions or any with objections will be invited to attend the meeting and have their opinions heard. A further meeting with the OMB regarding the same program will be held at a later date.

Mr. Hensrud said that during Monday, he, along with a health unit representative has visited 15 localities in the town where litter and other problems are getting out of hand. He said that three residences have recommended for demolition.

It was announced that a special meeting would be held May 6 with representatives of the Ministry of the Environment to deal solely with plumbing. Plumbers in Kenora will all be invited along with any other interested personnel. He explained that all plumbing installations must be inspected three times before they are put into operation.

Advisor prefers inventory of priorities

By KEN NELSON
of our staff

Kenora and area would do better to develop a package of priorities rather than going with one project such as airport expansion when approaching the Department of Regional Economic Expansion for assistance.

the Kenora and District Chamber of Commerce was told Tuesday night.

Allan Baker, special advisor to Hon. Don Jamison, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, said the ideal approach today is to think broadly rather than narrowly.

Mr. Baker said he isn't suggesting narrow thinking has been the case in northwestern Ontario, but stressed local officials should get their plans into some sort of recognized form, and keep updating them as they go along.

Mr. Baker suggested the sort of things DREE officials want to see from this area besides the airport could be a new Minaki Road, broadening tourist endeavors, and broadening connections with Manitoba.

"Get yourself organized and put on the pressure in the usual way with everybody on side," he said, and DREE officials will do their best to keep up.

Mr. Baker made the comments in reply to a number of questions put forth by chamber members at the meeting in the Kenricia Hotel. (See picture, page 7)

Mr. Baker said the policy on general development agreements signed with the provinces is 75 per cent of spending goes into the infrastructure field, and the other 25 per cent to incentives.

He said the policy on incentives is to offer assistance to industry or tourist camp owners on a grant, loan or recoverable loan basis. He said the amount is geared to the payroll which he believes gives more scope to the program.

Mr. Baker said Dree has a general development agreement with Ontario and a subsidiary agreement with Cornwall for a $14 million program.

He said Cornwall was well organized and put together an inventory of projects with priorities established. The Cornwall subagreement, covering a variety of projects through a combination of grants and loans, has Ontario picking up its full share.

Mr. Baker said the next area to be designated under DREE is northwestern Ontario. He said the objective is to arrive at a positive approach to fund business, and not become a salvage operation.

He said it will be up to labor, business and government to come with a positive approach.

A planned office in Thunder Bay when fully operational will have a staff of 25. He said the staff will include people in the field who will go out and assist areas to draw up plans.

Asked when the northwestern Ontario agreement will be signed, Mr. Baker said DREE has several subsidiary agreements pending with Ontario.

Mr. Baker said Thunder Bay is hurting in many ways and is a key community in terms of development in northwestern Ontario. He said the community has a 10 year backlog in trying to accomplish anything.

Mr. Baker said the area best organized, answers the question of who comes next.

Community workers build new curling rink

SIOUX NARROWS (Staff)--Residents of this small community will pitch together to build a new three-sheet curling rink this summer, and finance the project on their own.

In days of grant monies and recreation funding, this situation is rather unique.

The old curling club building, located on donated land, is an aging structure approximately 30 years old. It was in dangerous shape as the 1973-74 curling season progressed.

"It was a race to end the curling season before the roof fell in," said one curler in the 88 member club.

The club concentrated on grant applications for two years, but to no avail. A new curling club for a community of 411 persons was not considered a worthwhile project.

Curling is not just a sport in Sioux Narrows. It is the most important winter activity in this summer resort town.

During the period of funding applications, condition of the building grew increasingly worse, sunshine poured in through holes in the roof, and the walls began to move.

Curling club members headed by president Sid Wall, decided to get a new club building by use of their imaginations, their savings and some elbow grease. In addition, there would have to be a large scale campaign for financial support.

Club members drilled and found a well on the property of the old structure. On-site water would eliminate the need for trucking large tanksfull of water for the daily flooding of the ice.

Curling club members chose Bill Salvador, a local resident, as construction superintendent. He organized "bees", and parties or working people had the old structure torn down in short order. Some materials were saved for possible use in the new building.

Blasting of troublesome bedrock will take place sometime in the near future. Two large outcroppings of rock which were a constant headache to icemakers this winter, will disappear.

A metal quanset type structure has been ordered from a Toronto firm. Parts will arrive in two foot sections, as to be easily constructed. The cost of materials will range near $27,900.

The club has $9,000 in its coffers at the present time. A campaign underway at this time will hopefully bring in the $20,000 needed to complete payment for materials.

Community residents, nearly all of whom belong to the club, will save approximately $30,000 by volunteer labor.

Publicity officers named for new term

Irv Plosker has been returned to office as chairman of the Publicity Board of Kenora for a second term, by a vote of acclamation, at a recent meeting of the board.

Other officers named were Dave Locking as vice-chairman; G. D. Eisler, treasurer, and directors D. R. Wilson, Albert Kast and Ben Cummuskey.

Frank Newstead, secretary-manager, told the meeting that until the new Northwest Ontario Travel Association becomes fully operational, there would be some doubt about the continued success of the brochure which is put out by the local board. It was announced that it may not be necessary to transport sport show material from Kenora, in the event that the new travel association becomes responsible for exhibition costs.

The fee schedule for membership was discussed and it was the unanimous decision that the fee structure as established 12 years ago was not realistic in the face of today's costs of doing business. It was pointed out that 1962 costs were adequate for 1962 expenses but not for those currently in effect in 1974. The secretary was instructed to research this area and report to the next meeting of the board with his recommendations.

C. R. Jackson will be employed as assistant manager. Payment of accounts in the amount of $6,298.46 was authorized.

Dynamite cap found

A dynamite blasting cap, was found in the Rabbit Lake Trailer Park, and was turned over to OPP in Kenora Monday.

Police ask that parents check with their children to make certain that they do not possess any of these caps. They are aluminum cylinders, 1½ inches in length, hollowed out on one end to hold a fuse. They can also be exploded by percussion.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENT

-IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room, etc. for rent, or property for sale, start your ad with the location.

-BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given complete, definite information.

-MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions.

-GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

-CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to bring the desired results do so usually, not through a lack of readership but because they are poorly worded or contain inadequate information.

Dear Abby:

Two divorces catch her in the middle

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem:

I have always been very close to my brother's wife, and I adore the children. My brother says that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see his children I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings, so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your brother divorced his wife, you didn't, so don't let him dictate whom you shall have in your home. Ask everyone you want, and if Brother doesn't want to come, let him stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have a question to which we have been unable to find an answer.

When a married man is invited to be the guest speaker for a women's club [business or social], what about his wife?

The affair is usually held in the evening at a motel or hotel beginning with a dinner. What is the speaker's wife supposed to do? Sit home and eat alone while her husband is being fussed over by a bunch of women?

I feel that if a club can't afford two meals, they should get their speakers from the membership.

Also, what if the meeting is out of town over a weekend? Don't you think the speaker's wife should be invited too? Please set us straight on this.

A CLUB DIVIDED

DEAR CLUB: It is customary when inviting a speaker to let him know that his wife is welcome, too. If this courtesy is omitted and the speaker wants his wife to be included, he should say so. Weekends? Absolutely—if the budget permits.

DEAR ABBY: To the lady who was 30 and recently divorced and wanted to know where to go to meet men. Here's what I did at age 36 and newly divorced:

I called around to all the churches [all denominations] and got information on all the religious and social gatherings the churches sponsored for singles in my age group. Then I made a list and took turns visiting all the churches. It took a lot of courage to go to so many strange groups alone, but it paid off because at the Unitarian church I met just the man for me. We have been happily married for 15 years.

HAPPY IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAPPY: Some people go to church to pray. Others go to pray they meet someone. To each his own.

DEAR ABBY: My 33-year-old son is an attractive, successful professional man who always has a girl on the string. He will date her exclusively for months, wining and dining her and giving her a big rush. He even ingratiates himself with her parents. And just when everyone expects him to slip a ring on her finger he decides she is not the girl for him.

The girl ends up with a broken heart, and my son the heartbreaker starts the same routine with another girl.

I can see it happening again, and I am terribly upset. What is wrong with a man who behaves this way?

DISTRESSED

DEAR DISTRESSED: That all depends on what goes on between your son and the girl. If he only dates her and makes no promises and she winds up with a broken heart, she has taken too much for granted. But if he leads her on with promises of marriage and then drops her, he's a heel. Don't be distressed. He's better off than the man who marries and has a couple of children and THEN decides the girl is not for him.

DEAR ABBY: I work as a cashier at a well-known chain grocery store, and my problem is the way people treat me. They act like it's my fault that prices are so high. They yell at me when I ring up items, and ask me how come canned corn went up four cents in one week. When they pay their money, they say: "Look at that! I used to be able to get three bags of groceries with a $20 bill!"

They don't realize that I only work there, and I have to buy groceries just like they do.

And while I'm griping, I may as well mention those customers who wait till their order is totaled, and then ask to get a check cashed while customers are waiting in line behind them. Meanwhile the cashier gets the dirty looks from the other customers.

I used to love my work, but no longer! Please print this. I got it off my chest, and believe it or not, I feel better.

"SUNNY"

DEAR SUNNY: Consider it printed. Now . . . smile!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Ontario

ENVIRONMENTAL HEARING BOARD

TOWN OF KENORA AND TOWN OF KEEWATIN
PROVINCIAL SEWAGE WORKS PROGRAMME

WHEREAS plans concerning a Provincial Sewage Works Programme to serve the Town of Kenora (Norman Area) and the Town of Keewatin have been developed for the Ontario Ministry of the Environment and whereas approval is required in accordance with Section 42 of The Ontario Water Resources Act, as amended;

AND WHEREAS it appears from an examination of the said plans that the sewage treatment plant will be loacted in the vicinity of 700 feet east of First Avenue and 750 feet north of Highway No. 17 in the Norman Area of the Town of Kenora;

AND WHEREAS the Environmental Hearing Board has been requested by the Ministry of the Environment to hold a public hearing pursuant to Section 43 (1) of the said Act;

NOW THEREFORE, this is to give notice that the Environmental Hearing Board shall hold a public hearing on the third day of May, 1974 at 10:30 o'clock in the morning at the Kenora Municipal Council Chambers, 100 Main Street South, Kenora.

THE PURPOSE OF THE HEARING is to enable the Environmental Hearing Board to obtain information and to hear the views expressed at the hearing so as to enable it to form an opinion on the merits as to whether the approval sought with respect to the site would or would not be in the public interest.

And Take Notice that if you do not attend at this hearing, the Environmental Hearing Board may proceed in your absence and you will not be entitled to any further notice of the proceedings.

Plans of the proposed sewage works will be available for inspection in the offices of the Municipal Clerk of the Town of Kenora, Municipal Offices, Kenora, and of the Municipal Clerk of the Town of Keewatin, Municipal Offices, Keewatin.

T. M. Murphy,
Secretary,
Environmental Hearing Board.

Rideout WI news

The regular monthly meeting of the Rideout Women's Institute took place April 23 at Knox United Church hall, with the roll call being answered by the payment of annual dues.

Correspondence consisted of a letter of thanks from the Pinecrest Women's auxiliary for the donation sent by the WI and from the handicapped society for the assistance given by the WI members at the recent Musical tea.

Mrs. A. Stevenson gave her report on the very successful bake sale and announced Mrs. Madeline Skead was the lucky winner of the doll cake. The WI are most appreciative of the support received from the many townspeople regarding this endeavor. A report was also given on the recent rummage sale.

Plans were finalized for the Women's Institute district annual meeting which takes place at the Knox United Church Kenora, May 9, with registration from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Mrs. A. Green, incoming president, presented Mrs. F. Button with her past president's pin and thanked her for a fine job during her term of office.

Mrs. H. Stajkowski and Mrs. M. Lacombe were appointed to the historical committee with Mrs. A. Stevenson as history curator.

Mrs. Stajkowski, Mrs. F. Button, Mrs. C. Jardine and Mrs. S. Symonds will be voting delegates at the upcoming conference.

Mrs. Lacombe read a notice of a forthcoming crafts conference to be held in Thunder Bay at the Lakehead university May 2-4.

Members were reminded to bring plants for next month's sale and were advised potatoes for planting will be handed out at the next meeting to take place May 27 at Knox United Church, Kenora. New members are cordially extended an invitation to join this active group.

Basic courses conclude

Mrs. Sandra Kirk, who taught in the north for several years with Indian Affairs, instructed at the course, which included mathematics, English and science to grade 8 level.

Other courses which were under the jurisdiction of the college during the past year included accountancy, creative writing, taught by Darlene Lindstrom, stretch sewing, safe boating, instructed by Ned Ludlow and a handicraft course at Minaki involving ten women students learning crocheting and knitting.

A popular course, involving the learning of the Ojibway language has just concluded. Twenty students, most of whom are working with the Indian people participated. Instructor was Mrs. Peter Seymour.

Film club report

Mrs. Rose Tittlemier, first vice-pres. Senior Citizens Film Club welcomed 64 members to the showing of a very interesting film April 23 at the Recreation Centre.

"The film, "Forests Forever", was shown by Pat Rush of the Ontario and Minnesota Pulp and Paper Co. It showed how wood can be harvested, re-planted and still maintain the woods for recreational purposes. Modern machinery is used for cutting and branching.

Mrs. Tittlemier thanked Mr. Rush for his kindness in taking time to show the pictures. Members were sorry Mrs. Vi Holm and Mrs. Pearl Bannister were unable to attend due to bereavement in the family. Members also missed president Harry Simpson, who is taking a holiday in the east. Members hope all will be at the next film showing on May 7.

Mrs. Ada McInnes and her committee served a nice lunch and every one enjoyed a nice visit with friends. Mr. Wright was pianist for O' Canada.

Former Quetico heads have new positions

Recently, several of current and former board members of Quetico Centre have been given new responsibilities.

Peter Ribotto, former board member, vice-president and operations head of Caland Ore Co., a subsidiary of Inland Steel, has been named assistant general manager, ore mines and quarries, for Inland Steel. He will move to Virginia City, Minnesota, where Inland is developing a new taconite mine and pelletizing plant.

Nat Scott, general superintendent of Caland Ore Co., has been appointed manager, filling Mr. Ribotto's position as of May 1st.

Marv Kelly was elected chairman of the Atikokan Chamber of Commerce on April 9 and Brien O'Brien has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the board of directors of Minaki Lodge, north of Kenora.

Indian teacher program topic

Dr. Angus, Dean of the Faculty of Education, Lakehead University, met recently with representatives from a number of Indian bands. The meeting was set up to look into the criteria for organizing an Indian Teacher Education Program.

Some of the representatives in attendance were Cecil Finlayson from Long Lac, Raymond Ningewance, Lac Seul, Shiela and Roy Michano, Heron Bay and Terry Percault, Fort Frances.

One of the prime objectives of this first meeting was to find a suitable candidate to be the planning specialist. Roy Michano felt that this person should be an Indian who could speak fluently in the native tongue. Once chosen, this person would start immediately to investigate the problems of education for the native peoples.

He would talk to the officials at the reservations, the high school teachers and councillors, and most importantly the parents and children. Eventually he would piece together a report on his findings and make recommendations to the advisory committee.

Cancer can be beaten!

The support of cancer research in Canada is dependent upon public donations collected by thousands of volunteers during the month of April.

Mine workers end walkout

ELLIOT LAKE -- Workers at Denison Mines Ltd., voted Tuesday in favor of returning to work today, ending an 11-day walkout over working conditions. The uranium miners voted 61 per cent in favor of returning to their jobs after management agreed to discuss working conditions with the workers' safety committee.

More spending for police work

TORONTO -- Ontario Solicitor-General George Kerr said Tuesday an estimated $98 million will be required to operate his ministry during the current fiscal year, an increase of almost $10 million from 1973-74. "The bulk of the increase is in support of the Ontario Provincial Police," Mr. Kerr told the legislature committee discussing the solicitor-general's spending estimates. "More than $5 million is for payments of negotiated salaries and benefits."

Province supports pipe line

TORONTO -- The provincial government has given qualified support for the extension of a natural gas pipeline from Sarnia to the Quebec border. In an intervention filed with the National Energy Board in Ottawa, the province stressed that while supporting the extension of the pipeline it wants to make sure that possible adverse effects are minimized. The text of the intervention was tabled Tuesday in the legislature by Energy Minister Darcy McKeough.

One strike stopped, another rises

TORONTO -- A tentative agreement averting a strike here today by non-professional hospital workers has brought the threat of similar strikes in other southwestern Ontario centres. Scarcely had the announcement been made Tuesday that the labor dispute involving 11 Metropolitan Toronto hospitals had been tentatively settled when spokesmen for workers in the other hospitals said they might go on strike for parity with wages paid here. Areas now threatened by strikes are London, St. Thomas, Simcoe, Kitchener, Sarnia, Woodstock, Tillsonburg and Meaford.

Trying to collect unpaid debts

TORONTO -- The Ontario government is trying to collect more than $3.7 million in unpaid debts from farmers and may have to write off $897,661 in loans to commercial fishermen hurt by mercury pollution, an Ontario legislature committee was told Tuesday. The public accounts committee authorized chairman Patrick Reid L-Lab, Rainy River to consult with the government to determine whether a uniform policy can be drawn up to provide a more iron-clad security for these types of emergency loans.

Federal help needed in gas fight

CHATHAM -- Unless the federal government intervenes, natural gas customers in southwestern Ontario will be paying more for natural gas than their counterparts in Ohio and Michigan by the end of 1975, Union Gas Ltd. said Tuesday. In a news release, the company bases its prediction on the economic impact of increases in natural gas wellhead prices announced by an Alberta arbitration board earlier this month.

The weather

Kenora region: Today, sunny at first clouding over by mid morning. Snow tonight winds east 15 shifting to north 15 this evening. Highs near 45. Thursday cloudy with periods of snow. Winds north 15. Lows tonight near 25.

Forecast for Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario issued by the weather office Winnipeg at 6:30 a.m. for today and Wednesday.

A disturbance which was moving across B.C. yesterday evening began to intensify and move more rapidly eastward across Alberta during the night. Early this morning the disturbance was centered in western Saskatchewan. Wet snow or light rain covered much of central Saskatchewan and had reached Brandon by midnight.

As the low continues to move eastward toward Lake Manitoba, wet snow or light rain will spread across the northern Dauphin Flin Flon, Winnipegosis and Berens River regions during the early forenoon and will advance somewhat more slowly across Northwestern Ontario later this afternoon and evening.

Little precipitation is expected in the southern most sections of the forecast district until this evening hwen snowflurries will accompany colder air being swept southward following this passage of this disturbance.

Temperatures issued by the Winnipeg weather office showing highest temperatures Tuesday, lowest in 12 hours preceding 6 a.m. today and precipitation in previous 24 hours:

You can expect 9c gas hike this month

OTTAWA (CP) — Higher prices for Canadian crude oil will be translated into an eight to nine cent wholesale price increase for gasoline and heating oil in mid-May, the chairman of Imperial Oil Ltd. said Tuesday.

J. A. Armstrong, Imperial's chief executive officer, said the company has "under advisement" the question of whether there will be a further price increase because of higher operating costs.

Mr. Armstrong and other company officials were witnesses at a meeting of the House national resources committee, which is holding hearings on a bill to legislate details of an agreement between the prime minister and the premiers establishing a Canadian price for oil for a 12-15 month period.

That agreement boosted the Alberta wellhead price to $6.50 a barrel from $4. The new Canadian price is about $4 less than the cost of landing offshore crude in Canada.

Federal and provincial officials had said at the time of the agreement, in March, that the higher crude oil price was expected to add about 7.5 cents a gallon to gasoline and heating oil prices.

Since then, there has been little formal comment from oil company executives on what the higher crude oil price might mean.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald had told the committee previously he expected the inflation price increase for products would be made at about the same time as the adjustment for higher crude oil prices.

This was the adjustment Mr. Armstrong said Imperial has under advisement.

Mr. Macdonald, in his appearance before the committee, had said he expects the two-price system for oil to be long-term part of the Canadian structure.

Mr. Armstrong repeated his view that Canadian prices should gradually be brought up to world price levels during a three-to five-year period. He recommended a time-limit on the bill to assur future readjustments.

He said Prime Minister Trudeau and "several" cabinet ministers agreed the Canadian price should move up to the world price.

Mr. Armstrong said the bill would discourage Canadian companies from moving western oil by ship to Montreal refineries, either through the Great Lakes or via Vancouver and the Panama canal.

He said the bill should provide compensation for shipping costs for such movements because the controlled price structure would require the companies to absorb the shipping costs.

Leger stresses unity

TORONTO (CP) — Unity, harmony and recognition of the values of cultural identity help make Canada a strong nation, Gov.-Gen. Jules Leger told a dinner audience Tuesday night.

The Governor-General and Mme. Leger were guests of Premier William Davis and the Ontario government.

He said his travels have reinforced his belief that there is no division in Canada, that the country is an organic whole to which all the varied cultures are essential.

The dinner audience greeted Mr. Leger's remarks with a standing ovation and then broke into a chorus of O Canada as the evening ended.

The dinner climaxed the first day of the Legers' three-day visit to Toronto.

Today, the Legers are to visit city hall as guests of Mayor David Crombie and attend the annual dinner of The Canadian Press.

CJRL gets award for broadcast of holdup

MONTREAL (CP) — The Radio-Television News Directors Association of Canada (RTNDA) announced Tuesday the winners of the annual Charlie and Dan awards, the highest awards in Canadian Broadcast reporting.

The awards, in two categories for both radio and television, are given to recognize enterprise and thoroughness in news reporting. The Charlie awards are for spot news coverage and the Dan awards for documentaries or news specials.

Francois Pelandeau of Radio Canada, president of the RTNDA, announced that CBLTTV of Toronto won the Charlie award for its entry in the livetelevision-coverage category.

The award, named after Charlie Edwards, retired general manager of Broadcast News, was given for CBLT-TV's coverage of the tense situation at the Millhaven penitentiary near Kingston, Ont. Tim Kotcheff was news director at the time.

The radio Charlie went to CJRL Kenora, Ont., for its live coverage of a bank holdup in which the bandit was blown up by his own explosives. News director at the time was John Barry.

The Dan awards, named after the late Dan McArthur, first chief news editor of the CBC, went to CFCM-TV of Quebec City and to radio station CFGM in Richmond Hill, Ont.

CFGM won the award for its documentary about a dispute between a land developer and a historian over demolition of a house. The station's news director is Peter Dickens.

The Quebec City television station was cited for its documentary on a succession of suicides in the Quebec City area. Judges noted that the station exhibited good handling of an issue usually avoided by the media. News director of CFCMTV is Louis Langlois.

The national awards winners will be submitted in the international RTNDA awards competition in the United States. The international and national winners will receive their awards at the association's annual meeting in Montreal in September.

The Multi-Sports seminar which was held at the Holiday Inn last weekend was a real experience for myself and perhaps a good majority of the delegates who attended it.

The seminar, as you might well know by now, brought up the old idea of hiring a recreation director for the town of Kenora.

At the seminar last weekend most of the delegates were very familiar with all of the concepts that the guest speakers outlined.

Several things that they said struck me as rather odd, coming from such distinguished personnel. I think each representative there interpreted the speeches in their own manner to suit their particular sport and community setting.

The hiring of a recreation director for Kenora, when suggested by one of the delegates, brought a resounding round of cheers from the seminar representatives.

People could be heard saying: "Right on, it's about time," or "why can't we get something going in this town to try and hire one again."

Right now the situation looks rather good and I know of several groups of people who are thinking about the sports situation in Kenora very seriously. I wouldn't be surprised if town council found themselves facing the same referendum again.

Another point of interest that came out of the seminar was that it made the various sports groups in Kenora aware of the Northwestern Ontario Sports Council (NWOSC).

The council formed a couple of years ago has its head offices in Thunder Bay. The main objective of the council is to promote and stimulate the growth of sport in northwestern Ontario any way they can.

One way that has proved very effective in communities other than Kenora has been the successful operation of clinics in towns.

Ken Pride, who now lives in Kenora, was the first president of the council and he tells me he hopes to set up a small committee in Kenora which would work for the betterment of sports in our immediate area.

Personally, I'm glad that Ken has taken it upon himself to help out our community. What's wrong with the rest of you people out there?

He's looking for help now and I think it would be a good time to pitch in and lend a helping hand.

Does it take a man from southern Ontario that has lived here for only the last few years to take the bull by the horns and get something rolling for us?

Although the Northwestern Ontario Sports Council held its annual meeting during the first week of March this year Kenora failed to have a single representative at the meeting.

Ear Falls sent five people while Balmertown, of all places, had at least half a dozen concerned citizens that made the trip to Thunder Bay.

Ken would like anyone who would like to help him out in his efforts in forming a committee that would act as the NWOSC's contact in Kenora to contact him at 468-5548 sometime during the week.

There were a lot of questions and ideas kicked around at the sports seminar and I'm going to find the right answers to them within the next few weeks.

Sheppard overshadows big names

CHICAGO (CP) — Gregg Sheppard can't account for his new-found scoring touch, but it's not surprising to him that he's suddenly overshadowing more highly-regarded teammates.

The 24-year-old centre from North Battleford, Sask., scored his ninth playoff goal in the third period Tuesday night to lead Boston Bruins to a 4-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks.

It ended the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final in six games and the Bruins, who last won the championship in 1972, await the outcome of the Philadelphia Flyers-New York Rangers' series.

Sheppard blasted a shot past Chicago goalie Tony Esposito at 18:11 in the National Hockey League game.

"I had the post covered," said the Chicago netminder, "and he blew it right through my pads."

It was Esposito who pulled the Hawks through most of the previous five games, but it was left for his Boston counterpart, Gilles Gilbert, to pull out game No. 6 for the Bruins.

Gilbert's acrobatics held the Hawks to one first-period goal by Cliff Koroll, and another from a Chicago power play by Len Frig, to tie the score at 2-2 early in the third.

Don Marcotte's two-period goals gave the Bruins a 2-1 lead going into the final 20 minutes of regulation time and Phil Esposito added insurance with an empty-net goal 33 seconds after Sheppard's score.

After a disappointing sophomore year, in which he scored just 16 goals—most of them after the New Year, Sheppard had a ready-made answer as to why he's suddenly developed as a scorer.

"I've always been able to score," he said, noting the 24 he got as a rookie while playing on the Bruins' checking line. "For the first two months of this year I couldn't buy a goal.

"But I sat down with coach Bep Guidolin and we checked through a few films. He told me then he had no intention of sitting me out, and this gave me a lot of confidence."

Greg Sheppard

The Hawks, outshot 31-27, dominated the game, as they have no other in the series—including the two they won on the strength of Esposito's goaltending.

"They were on us like gangbusters," said Boston defenceman Bobby Orr, a key figure in the Boston offence. "They were all over us with their forechecking, just like we did to them in Boston Sunday."

That game wound up in a 6-2 victory to give Boston the series lead for the first time, but Orr said the Bruins "were not expecting them to roll over and die on home ice."

The Hawks were continually sending two men into the Boston end of the ice when the Bruins had possession, upsetting offensive patterns.

But it was obvious Chicago missed the scoring supplied by left winger Dennis Hull who came up lame in the fourth game with a muscle spasm low on his back.

Hull didn't dress for Sunday's game and was a surprise starter Tuesday. He didn't last more than three shifts before it was obvious he was in too great pain to continue.

The loss of the Chicago veteran and an assortment of other ailments, "is something you can't compensate for," said coach Billy Reay.

"We played well in the first period," Reay said. "But Gilbert came up with a lot of good saves.

"Otherwise we would probably have been sitting on a bigger lead. But everyone on their club played well against us, and all our guys were out there to play."

He saved his parting shot for referee Dave Newell.

"He (Newell) didn't call a penalty on Orr and then he called one on (Bill) White for the same thing just a few minutes later," said Reay.

White, incensed at the call at 12 minutes of the third period, threw his stick toward the penalty box and drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty as well, prompting Reay to add:

"It's the same old story. Mr. Orr gets away with murder in that league."

Terry Crisp gets Flyers moving

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — Terry Crisp's scream woke up Philadelphia Flyers in a Stanley Cup playoff game Tuesday night.

The 30-year-old centre didn't pick up a point in the Flyers' 4-1 win over New York Rangers, but coach Fred Shero couldn't say enough about him.

"Crisp was the guy who did all the shouting at the beginning of the second period. He screamed at me and them (team-mates) that we had to get going, we had to go all out."

Shero said he didn't know what Crisp was screaming about but "up until then, the most important thing we did was to survive the first period."

The win gave the Flyers a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final series. The sixth game is scheduled for Thursday night in New York, starting at 8p.m. EDT.

Rick MacLeish scored two goals for the Flyers—his ninth and 10th of the playoffs—and Tom Bladon and Simon Nolet got one each.

The Flyers trailed 1-0 after the first period on a goal by centre Peter Stemkowski. They were also outshot 10-5.

But Crisp's screaming must have registered. First defenceman Bladon, used throughout as a replacement for injured Barry Ashbee, beat goalie Ed Giacomin at 6:49.

Then Rick MacLeish, with team-mate Gary Dornhoefer acting as a screen, sent the Flyers ahead 2-1 with less than three minutes left in the period.

Nolet gave the Flyers a 3-1 margin at 8:05 of the final period when his slapshot from the faceoff circle trickled into the net after Giacomin managed to partially block the puck with his right pad.

MacLeish completed the scoring when, after striking the goal post with his first shot, he fired the rebound into an empty net in the final minute.

New York coach Emile Francis had removed Giacomin for a sixth attacker.

The Flyers, who received a standing ovation from 17,007 fans when they emerged for the opening faceoff, are the first expansion team to have won three playoff games in one series from an established NHL team.

Dave Schultz, the rambunctious Philadelphia left winger who set an NHL record this season with 348 minutes in penalties, established a similar mark for playoff games.

Schultz, who had 79 minutes in penalties before Tuesday's game, picked up a minor, fiveminute major and a 10-minute misconduct for a fight with Stemkowski during the first period.

He now has 96 minutes in penalties after nine playoff games this season, topping the previous mark of 80 held by John Ferguson of Montreal Canadiens in 1969. Ferguson's record was set in 14 games.

MacLeish said that on his first goal he knew when he turned around to shoot that Dornhoefer would be in his usual position at the corner of the net screening the New York goaltender.

Sanderson is talking

BOSTON (AP) — Derek Sanderson says he'd like to play for Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League next season, but only if coach Bep Guidolin is no longer there.

"I don't want to leave Boston," Sanderson said Monday.

"But if Bep is back as coach, there's no way I'll be back as a player. Our situation could never be worked out. So I'll have to wait and see if there's a coaching change when the season is over. If there is a change I want to play for Boston."

Sanderson was suspended several weeks ago for the remainder of the season and the Stanley Cup playoffs after missing a flight home with the team from the West Coast.

He believes the suspension cost him about $30,000 between his loss of salary for the closing games of the season and a playoff share, should the Bruins win the Stanley Cup.

He also suggested that his appeal of the suspension to National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell was unsuccessful, "but you'll have to talk to my lawyer about that."

Sanderson, who jumped to the World Hockey Association for one year, then returned to the Bruins last season, said he has talked with seven different teams about playing next season.

Fastball executive holding meeting

The Kenora Men's Fastball League is holding an executive meeting at the Recreation Centre tonight to finalize plans for the upcoming season.

Al Spendlow, league president, said the meeting hopefully will attract all team representatives since there are several very important items to be discussed.

He said the number one thing on his list of priorities is the acceptance of one of the proposed schedules for the new season.

The league will start play hopefully on May 13 this year but at the present time Mr. Spendlow didn't know which teams would be involved.

He said it would depend on the decision of the executive tonight. Each of the two schedules that will be proposed has different teams starting the season off.

Other business to be brought up at the league meeting will be the finalization and acceptance of the revised consitiution and the collection of the team entry fees.

This season each club will be charged $60.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Remparts win final

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec Remparts advanced to the Memorial Cup final Tuesday night by defeating SorelBlack Hawks 8-4 to take the best-of-seven Quebec Major Junior Hockey League final 4-2.

The Remparts, who finished second to Sorel in the QMJHL's East Division, skated to a 4-0 lead in the first period and led 7-1 after the second.

Quebec now will travel to Calgary to compete for Canada's national major junior hockey championship with St. Catharines Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series and Regina Pats of the Western Canada Hockey League.

Jacques Locas and Real Cloutier each had a pair of goals for the Remparts with Daniel Beaulieu, Andre Perreault, Richard Nantais and8 Jamie Bateman adding singles.

Denis Carufel with two, Michel Bergeron and Pirre-Yves Giroux were the Sorel marksmen.

The Black Hawks closed the gap to 7-3 with seven minutes gone in the third period but Cloutier's second goal of the game at 9:24 cooled them out.

Referee Guy Rochefort called seven minor penalties in the contest, four to Quebec.

Toros regroup, coach is happy

CHICAGO (CP) — Toronto coach Billy Harris wasn't surprised and neither was playingcoach Pat Stapleton of Chicago Cougars after the Toros won 7-6 in a World Hockey Association playoff game Tuesday night.

"It was just a matter of time for us to get those goals because we had been getting robbed," Harris said after Toronto evened the best-of-seven semifinal series 2-2.

Said Stapleton: "They're a high-scoring team, and it was just a matter of when they were going to start putting the puck in the net."

The fifth game in the series will be played tonight in Toronto with the sixth scheduled Saturday in suburban Mount Prospect, Ill., temporary home of the Cougars.

Winner of the series will meet Houston Aeros or Minnesota Fighting Saints who play tonight in Minnespolis. Houston leads that best-of-seven competition 3-2.

Harris went with four forward lines and got production from each. But the unit of Guy Trottier, Bob Leduc and Wayne Dillon starred for the winners, who were outshot 36-30 before 2,648 fans in the 3,000-seat Mount Prospect arena.

Trottier had three goals, two in the second period, and one assist. Leduc scored a goal and picked up an assist, and Dillon had three assists.

Wayne Carleton, Tom Simpson, and Rick Sentes scored the other Toronto goals. Larry Mavety, Rosaire Paiement, Jim Benzelock, Jan Popiel, Rick Morris and Bob Liddington replied for the Cougars, who held their own with a 2-2 tie until the Toros scored five times in the second period.

Stapleton said the Mount Prospect arena may have given Toronto an edge. He must have forgotten Chicago's 3-2 win last Sunday in the same location.

"It's a big rink here and the big ice may give them an advantage because they're such a fine skating team," Stapleton said.

The Cougars' regular home, the International Amphitheatre, was denied the Chicago team for the playoffs because of a prior commitment to house a production of Peter Pan.

Both teams used two goaltenders with Andre Gill starting for Chicago and being replaced by Cam Newton in the third period. Gilles Gratton replaced Les Binkley after Morris scored in the third to reduce Toronto's lead to 7-5.

Despite allowing a goal by Liddington, Gratton turned in a strong 20 minutes to help the Toro cause.

The Toros played without defencemen Steve Addie and Rick Cunningham, both sidelined with injuries. Carl Brewer, who turned in a brilliant effort, teamed with Billy Orr while Mike Amodeo played with Brian Gibbons.

Carleton also picked up an assist to increase his playoff point total to 12, six behind leading Mike Walton of the Saints. Trottier, who hadn't scored since the first game of the quarterfinal series against Cleveland Crusaders, now has four goals for the playoffs.

Selkirk and Kelowna now tied

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Kelowna Buckaroos evened their best-of-seven Centennial Cup Junior Hockey semi-final Tuesday night by defeating Selkirk Steelers 7-3 in a game marred by second and third period brawls.

Six game-misconducts were handed out in the final frame along with five majors in the second for fighting. At least three fans were escorted from the arena by RCMP for interfering with officials.

The seventh and deciding game of the series is here tonight.

The Buckaroos got five powerplay goals as they overcame a 2-1 deficit at the end of the first period to lead 4-3 at the close of the second.

Dale Costanzo scored three times on the powerplay for Kelowna and Archie McKinnon had back to back markers in the second with Selkirk shorthanded. Randy Naito and Curt Fraser were the other marksmen for the home team.

Gord Kaluzniak and Rick Dorman got first period goals for Selkirk and defenceman Bill Whitehead added one in the second.

Kelowna took three of the five fighting majors, the game-misconducts were three to each team and Selkirk had 14 of the 22 minor penalties.

Among those ousted from the game at 7:03 of the third was Buckaroo netminder Jerry Nekrasoff, for joining into the fray. He was replaced by Bill Stankoven.

The two Kelowna backstops stopped 26 shots while 38 saves were made by Andy Stoesz of the Steelers.

Buckaroos coach Don Culley said after the game that it had been predicted it would be a long tough series between the teams, "and that's exactly what it has been and will be."

Selkirk coach George Dorman said the powerplay goals made the difference in the game, along with a breakaway bid by Gary Kaluzniak that failed in the first period as the Steeler centre missed the net with his team ahead 2-1.

He also noted his club failed to score early in the second with a two-man advantage and the same lead.

. . . another tight series

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — Lynn Jorgenson recorded his second four-goal game in the eastern Centennial Cup hockey series as Thunder Bay Hurricanes dumped Smiths Falls Bears 9-3 Tuesday night before 928 fans.

Seventh and deciding game in the series will be played tonight.

Ted Lis, Jack Davies, Don Kells, Mike Hordy and Darrell Traer also scored for the Hurricanes while Barry Kerfoot, Des Allen and Earl Moulton replied for the Bears.

The sparkling play of Smiths Falls goalie Rocky Menard kept the score from going even higher as Thunder Bay kept the Bears off-balance and bottled up in their own end.

They outshot the Central Junior Hockey League visitors 53-30 with 30 shots on Menard in the third period alone.

Thunder Bay also took advantage of Smiths Falls penalties, scoring three power-play goals in the first two periods as they built up leads of 3-0 and 5-2.

Jorgenson set the potent power-play trend with the first goal of the game just four seconds after the Hurricanes gained the man advantage. Kells and Hordy also made the Bears regret penalties.

The game was close-checking and physical throughout, with both teams often playing chippy hockey.

GM's talk football

CALGARY (CP) — The Canadian Football League can hold its own if the federal bill excluding United States football leagues from entering Canada is passed, CFL general managers agreed Tuesday.

But they also admitted a World Football League franchise in Canada would spell the death of the CFL although most expressed confidence this would not occur.

The general managers of the nine CFL teams are meeting to work out the 1975 league schedule.

Gary Hobson, recently hired to replace Rogers Lehew as general manager of Calgary Stampeders, agreed that the calibre of the average player hired by CFL teams will not be lowered.

It was in the realm of super stars that the CFL was going to get hurt, said Jackie Parker, general manager of British Columbia Lions. Big names are big box-office attractions and the WFL is offering salaries that no CFL team could match.

Ashbee moved

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — Defenceman Barry Ashbee of Philadelphia Flyers was moved here Tuesday afternoon from a New York hospital for further treatment of the eye injury he suffered in a game in New York against the Rangers Sunday.

Ashbee was struck in the right eye by a shot from New York defenceman Dale Rolfe at 1:27 of the first overtime period as the Rangers won the fourth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final 2-1.

The Flyers said Ashbee was moved to Wills Eye Hospital to get him closer to home and for further examination by specialists.

Lt-gov. of Alberta former Indian chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Ralph Steinhauer, 69, a prominent farmer and former chief of the Saddle Lake Indian band near St. Paul, Alta., has been appointed lieutenant-governor of Alberta, Prime Minister Trudeau announced Tuesday.

The prime minister said in a statement Mr. Steinhauer will succeed Lt.-Gov. Grant MacEwan at the end of June.

Mr. Steinhauer helped launch the Indian Association of Alberta and has been active in farm affairs since he joined the United Farmers of Alberta in 1923.

He was a councillor of the Saddle Lake Indian band for 34 years and its chief for three years.

He was appointed to the Order of Canada in July, 1967, as a recipient of the Medal of Service and became an officer of the order in July, 1972.

Regulations for gas line mixups

EDMONTON -- The Alberta Dental Association and the College of Physicians and Surgeons will meet May 7 to formulate regulations and inspection procedures aimed at preventing the mixup of gas lines. A coroner's jury decided April 23 that the death of a 15 year old Edmonton girl was caused by switching oxygen and nitrous oxide lines on her dentist's anesthesia machine.

30 acres sold for shopping centre

YORKTON, Sask. -- The city of Yorkton has agreed to sell 30 acres of land to Allarco Developments of Edmonton for a shopping centre and hotel, mayor Allan Bailey announced Tuesday. He said six other developers had expressed an interest in the proposals, which is expected to cost about $5 million.

$3 million allocated for park

OTTAWA -- About $3 million will be spent during the next five years on restoration of the Lower Fort Garry Historic Park in Manitoba, the Indian and Northern Affairs Department announced Tuesday. The money will be made available through Parks Canada for restoration of the stone fur trading post on the banks of the Red River about 20 miles north of Winnipeg. The present access road also will be relocated during the program.

East-west highway proposed

ATHABASCA, Alta. -- A proposed east-west highway across western Canada further north than existing routes could become an economic catalyst to many communities, George Stephenson of McLennan, Alta., chairman of an organization formed last June, said Tuesday. The group has tentatively been named the Northern Woods and Waters Scenic Route Association. The proposed route would link several existing highways that now cover some scenic northern areas.

Fraser River climbing to high levels

MISSION, B.C. -- The Fraser River runoff gauge here has been climbing in what water resources officials hope is the start of a large, long runoff. The river climbed to 8.9 feet Tuesday from 7.6 feet Friday as temperatures rose in the southern interior of British Columbia. The danger point is 20 feet.

Saving money for future land deals

EDMONTON -- The Alberta government moved Tuesday to save some money on land needed for future projects by introducing legislation to establish a $100 million land purchase fund. The fund will be used to buy land for future government projects before land prices escalate. Provincial treasurer Gordon Miniely said the fund will be utilized to purchase land for projects ranging from roadways and parks to government buildings.

Freighter fined for oil spill

COQUITLAM, B.C. -- A Liberian freighter was fined $13,000 Tuesday after pleading guilty to oil pollution. Judge D.S. Collins imposed the fine in provincial court against the Anastasia V for spilling about 500 gallons of diesel fuel while refueling at Port Moody Dec. 19, 1973. About 250 gallons were recovered.

Foul play linked to dead bodies

EDMONTON -- RCMP Tuesday identified the body of a woman found in a ditch Monday near Fort Saskatchewan, Alta., as that of Darlene Gladys Hicks, 24, of Edmonton. Police earlier said they suspected foul play was involved. The woman went missing Jan. 9. An autopsy was scheduled. Police also have released the name of a woman whose body was found Thursday in a field 4½ miles west of here. Dead is Patsy Ann Skrepnyk, 23, of Edmonton, who was reported missing after she attended a New Year's Eve party.

Bill to remove lines approved

OTTAWA (CP) — A bill designed to facilitate removal of railway yards and lines from urban cores received final Commons approval Tuesday night after drawn-out debate.

Passage of the proposed legislation came just before the House rose and after successive speeches by Conservative members made it look like debate might drag into today.

Urban Affairs Minister Ron Basford, shepherding the bill through the House, said at one point Tuesday he did not expect the proposed legislation go get final approval before the day's debate ended.

An inter-party agreement provided a quick second reading for the bill, and Mr. Basford said he could not imagine why committee study was taking so long.

Bob McKinley, Conservative whip, said there was no strategy involved, but "our guys just keep bobbing up."

Three amendments were made to the bill before it received final Commons approval. It now goes to the Senate for debate, then needs routine royal assent to become law.

An amendment by John Harney (NDP—Toronto Scarborough West) provides for mandatory public hearings on Canadian transport commission orders to railways for implementation of an urban development and transportation plan.

An amendment by Reg. Stackhouse (PC—Toronto Scarborough East) also won approval. It provides that "all reasonable costs," rather than all costs, of certain railway crossing construction or reconstruction may be the subject of grant requests by the province of municipality involved.

Andre Fortin (SC—Lotbiniere) got approval for his amendment allowing a municipality to solicit federal financial support for railway relocation without having to wait until the province applies for aid.

The bill is expected to be of almost immediate use to cities such as Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Sudbury, Ont.

Tax deadline extended

OTTAWA (CP) — The deadline for filing 1973 income tax returns has been extended three weeks to May 21, Revenue Minister Robert Stanbury announced Tuesday in the Commons.

The news came with less than 10 hours remaining before the original deadline—midnight Tuesday, April 30.

Mr. Stanbury said returns postmarked no later than midnight Tuesday, May 21, will be accepted by the government without penalty.

If amounts owing are paid in full on returns filed up to May 21, no interest will be charged. If less than the full amount is paid, interest will be charged from May 1 at the prescribed rate of six per cent a year, but there will be no later-filing penalty assessed.

He told reporters later that it is the first general extension ever granted, "as far as I know."

It was made because of delays caused by the national postal strike and flooding in Western Canada, he said.

Pension amendments pass test

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada Pension Plan (CPP) amendments providing for equal treatment of male and female contributors without a means test to those 65 to 69 hurdled another parliamentary barrier Tuesday with approval by the Commons welfare committee.

The bill will now return to the Commons for final passage before going to the Senate.

Although the bill was warmly approved by committee members of all parties, New Democratic veteran Stanley Knowles warned that persons 65 to 69 who now are eligible for CPP benefits without the means test should carefully consider their positions.

Under the present law, persons aged 65 to 69 must pass a means test and have pensions reduced if they have earnings from other sources. The changes would allow anyone in that age group, working or not, to receive benefits without the test.

But Mr. Knowles said some persons 65 to 69 may overlook the fact that if they begin to receive benefits, they can no longer make contributions from employment earnings they may have.

Under the plan, benefits increase with the length of time that contributions are made. Persons who are employed after 65 can therefore build up their future benefits by working and continuing to make contributions into the plan.

"There is no doubt they should think twice and see if they want to carry on paying and increase their benefits," Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde said.

The 57-clause bill makes widowers and dependent children of deceased female contributors eligible for CPP survivors' benefits and disability payments on the same basis as widows.

Travel grants for job seekers

OTTAWA (CP) — Travel grants and short-term living allowances will be paid to unemployed workers who want to move to temporary jobs outside the areas where they live, the manpower department said Tuesday.

A manpower release says workers who have been in a temporary job away from home for three to six months will be compensated for return transportation costs. Students who work for at least six weeks may also apply for the transportation allowance.

Another change to the federal manpower mobility program provides a three-day living allowance for workers who take temporary jobs away from home.

The release says applicants must ask for the grants and allowances before they begin their temporary jobs.

RCMP wants bargaining unit

TORONTO (CP) — RCMP members will meet Thursday night to hold exploratory talks which may lead to the formation of a labor organization, a force member said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the main purpose in forming a Royal Canadian Mounted Police Association would be to provide the force with a vehicle for collective bargaining aimed at improving salaries and working conditions.

He said invitations for the meeting have gone out to the 950 officers and men of O Division and indications are that 400 to 450 men may attend.

The move toward forming an association comes despite a grievance committee system instituted two years ago by former commissioner W. L. Higgitt.

Under the system, each RCMP division was to send delegates to an annual meeting in Ottawa at which time the commissioner and senior officers would be briefed on complaints about conditions in the field.

After the second meeting of the grievance committee, held last October, delegates were asked not to divulge what had transpired at the meeting.

Carnation Day May 10th

The auxiliary to the Lake of the Woods District Hospital will hold their annual Carnation Day in downtown Kenora on May 10.

Women of the auxiliary carrying gaily decorated baskets of carnations will be out in force in Keewatin, Jaffray and Mellick Township and Kenora selling mother's day carnations, in shades of pink, red and white in time for Mother's Day on May 11.

Proceeds from the sale of these flowers will go towards the current auxiliary project of raising approximately $25,000 for the intensive care unit at the hospital. The auxiliary have given themselves five years to raise the funds required. Other money raising projects have been their annual rag drive, and operation of the Tuck Shop in the hospital's main lobby.

Throughout the years thousands of these paper flowers have been fashioned by auxiliary members, and it has proven to be one of their most popular events. Support your hospital auxiliary Carnation day, and wear your flower with pride.

IDB issues area loans

During the three months ended March 31 the Industrial Development Bank authorized 80 loans to businesses in northern Ontario for $2,388,000 as against 63 loans for $2,016,000 in the similar quarter in 1973.

In the six months ended March 31, IDB approved 166 loans for a total amount of $7,134,000 in northern Ontario. This was an increase of 36 per cent in number and 80 per cent in amount over the same period a year ago when it authorized 122 loans for $3,958,000. At March 31, the bank had $34,752,360 outstanding in loans, investments, and guarantees to 1,071 customers in the region.

A subsidiary of the Bank of Canada, IDB provides term financing to smaller businesses in Canada which are unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources on reasonable terms and conditions. IDB lends to almost any type of enterprise for a variety of business purposes.

Prices cut on dresses

NEW YORK (AP) — Inflation is causing upper-crust consumers to cut down on the luxuries of life, these $3,000 evening dresses, for example.

That's why designer George Halley, who showed his fall collection on Monday, slashed prices drastically, cutting them by 90 per cent at the wholesale level.

Halley's prices used to start at $800—wholesale.

The expensive dresses just weren't selling well in recent years, said a Halley spokesman.

"Women are not spending that kind of money for clothes— no matter how much they have," the spokesman said.

Wholesale prices for the new Halley collection start at $79 and go up to $300. That means retail prices of from $150 to $600.

The designer managed to keep the expensive look that characterized his more-costly clothes. A parade of models, led by actress Alexis Smith, displayed a series of dresses and pants with a soft, swingy look. There were lots of autumn colors—rust, dark green and maroon—for day and plenty of sequins for evening. Hemlines hovered either at the knee or several inches above the ankle.

Halley isn't the only designer who is cutting prices. Several other Seventh Avenue fashion houses have pared their moreexpensive lines, eliminating some completely, to concentrate on the lower-priced better-selling models.

How do you cut the wholesale dress from $800 to $79? "Basically you cut back in the fabric," using less-expensive materials

Bill approved

WASHINGTON (CP) — An oil tax reform bill, expected to increase the United States petroleum industry's taxes by between $13 billion and $14 billion during six years, was approved by the House of Representatives ways and means committee Tuesday.

Tourists will remember our restaurants

In some parts of the continent health inspectors have been given the power to arrest without a warrant, for a violation of any ordinance. Dr. Peter Playfair, medical officer of health, Northwestern Health Unit says that he does not feel that this is the best way to accomplish their ends.

More often than not, the brightest memory of a trip or a visit to an area is not the scenic beauty, or a memorable sporting event, but a special meal served in pleasant surroundings by a capable and attentive staff. On the shoulders of the local restaurateur, rests the burden of public relations, both within the community and with the visitor to the communities. Lack of attention to this can lead to a black mark that is impossible to erase. Fortunately, says Dr. Playfair, the vast majority of eating establishment operators recognize this fact, and act accordingly.

A few operators relax their vigilance occasionally and the resulting complaints make it uncomfortable for their staff, the establishment and for the industry as a whole.

The Health Unit is interested in education of the eating establishment personnel, not primarily in enforcement of the applicable regulations. The latter course, says Dr. Playfair, has proven ineffective.

Frequently the health unit staff receive written and verbal complaints about restaurants; general untidiness, illness following a meal, untidy washrooms and other incidents. Such complaints are investigated and frequently both operator and patron are at fault. There are busy times when it is impossible to handle the flow of trade. For many years, restaurant prices in the health unit area were low and prevented sufficient staff to operate in the most satisfactory manner. Now, prices no longer preclude an efficient operation, including top-notch sanitation practices.

The eating public should expect at least a minimum of service, and should feel free to speak to management if things are not satisfactory. A little tact at this point will often clear up a misunderstanding.

Dr. Playfair says that the health unit will continue to work with management and staff, educating forcefully. He says "we are sure that this is the most effective approach. We cannot presently see the need for strong-arm tactics, publicizing of violators in the press, posting of inspection results, cancellation of licences but occasionally this does come to mind."

Indian grants to increase productivity

The Minister of Community and Social Services, Rene Brunelle has announced 42 self-help grants to Indian bands and organizations totalling $391,656.

The grants range from $30,000 to the Grand Council of Treaty No. 9 to assist the council in its economic development programs to $700 for the London Chapter of the Ontario Native Women's Association to aid in the development of a sewing program.

"Each grant can be termed seed money," said Mr. Brunelle, "to help this province's Indians to increase their productivity, plan employment programs, become increasingly self-sufficient and plan a variety of cultural projects."

Included in the grants is one for $13,300 to the Red Lake Indian Friendship Centre to reproduce the works of northwestern Ontario Indian painters, including Sandy Lake's Joshim Kakagemic. To this end the centre set up a silk-screen operation, using band members trained under an earlier grant of $610 for travelling to similar operations in Toronto.

Other grants include the Kenora Metis and Non-Status Indian Association $11,400 for the translation of Indian legends into pipestone carvings.

Shoal Lake Indian Band No. 39, $12,400 toward salaries and raw supplies for a sewing factory.

The Big Island Indian band, $2,100 to assist the Homemakers Club to make authentic Indian costumes to be worn at pow-wows and other cultural activities.

United Native Friendship Centre, $5,500 to assist the Fort Frances based centre in its cultural and craft programs.

Sabaskong Indian Band, $6000 for the purchase of a school bus window van to transport band members to and from sport and cultural functions.

Sioux Lookout and Communications Society, $3,500 to help defray the costs of co-ordinating the various Indian communications systems in northwestern Ontario.

The Ear Falls and non-status Indian Association, $8,000 for the operation of a referral and follow-up service for residents in need of government agency assistance.

Wabigoon band, $2,000 to cover the cost of supplies for use in the making of traditional Indian costumes.

Kenora Information and Referral Centre, $4,500 to employ an Indian artist for the purpose of organizing an Artists' Guild in northwestern Ontario.

Shoal Lake Corporation, $5,000 to assist in defraying the salary and expenses of a manager for its logging operations.

400,000 students seek jobs

TORONTO (CP) — Francis Miniter, a first-year law student at University of Toronto, is luckier than most of the 1.3 million students in Canada—including about 700,000 graduate students—seeking summer work or full employment.

Mr. Miniter, who got his real estate licence at a community college between university classes, said he hopes to make about $5,000 during the summer selling homes here, where prices have skyrocketed in the brisk housing market. Last year, he made $2,700 in commissions by selling four houses.

Ontario's youth secretariat expects up to 400,000 students will be seeking jobs in the province this summer.

A spokesman for the secretariat said it has already received 10 applications for every one of the 7,400 jobs being offered under the province's $9-million program for student jobs.

And Canada Manpower officials are guarded in forecasting the number of jobs available for students this summer, saying only that the situation should be "slightly better" than last year when 7.9 per cent of all students were without jobs.

That means that if the situation doesn't improve much this year, up to 100,000 Canadian students might not be able to find summer jobs, manpower officials said. Close to 25,000 of them would be in Ontario.

Ministry of manpower officials said they based their forecast on a canvass of Canada's 700 largest employers regarding their requirements which is carried out in December, with a further check in May.

Officials said they were unsure whether student job prospects have improved, with the easing of the energy crisis and the continuation of the industrial boom.

Despite these somewhat gloomy predictions, there are indications that jobs will be more plentiful than last year.

Students can get aid to start businesses

Enterprising students who would like the opportunity to work for themselves this summer may get their chance, thanks to "Venture Capital," part of the Ontario government's "Experience '74" summer employment program.

Students who qualify will receive financial assistance in setting up their own small businesses for the summer months. It comes in the form of interest-free loans, up to $1,000 per venture.

"Venture Capital" is administered by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities with the assistance of the Ontario Chambers of Commerce and the Royal Bank of Canada.

Interested students select a venture and prepare an analysis of its business potential with the help of members of the local Chamber of Commerce. These analyses are forwarded to a provincial panel for approval.

Successful applicants then receive an interest-free loan to cover the starting costs of their operation. The loans are free of interest for the duration of the project. All monies made by the students, after expenses are paid, remain their own.

Projects that might qualify for "Venture Capital" assistance are limited only by the imagination of the students and current market conditions in the locality. Preference will be given to those projects that do not compete directly with businesses already established in a given community. Examples range from cutting firewood to taking baby pictures and might include landscaping, house painting, pet care or even vegetable farming.

The main thrust of "Venture Capital" is to give community college and university students a chance to gain valuable business experience and, hopefully, to earn money at the same time. The amount of renumeration gained will hinge directly on the amount of planning and effort students put into their businesses.

To ensure that ventures are operated in a business-like fashion, students will utilize a standard record system and prepare periodic progress reports. In addition, a local group of businessmen will make themselves available to students as consultants.

"Venture Capital" is only one of many projects that together make up the Ontario government's "Experience '74" summer employment program. Designed to provide over 7,000 experience-oriented summer jobs to Ontario students, "Experience '74" is co-ordinated by the Ontario Youth Secretariat with individual projects administered by the various ministries of the Ontario government.

Students wishing more information or application forms for "Venture Capital" should write to Venture Capital Program, Personnel Branch, Ministry of Colleges and Universities, 9th Floor, Mowat Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario.

Watergate: Bad memories or lies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York federal court jury has provided proof of what many lawyers in the special prosecutor's office knew all along: None of the cases relating to the Watergate political espionage scandal are going to be easy.

One problem for the prosecutors is the credibility of their witnesses, especially former White House counsel John Dean.

The acquittal of former cabinet members Maurice Stans and John Mitchell only underscored the jolt received by the prosecutors a few weeks earlier at the trial of former presidential aide Dwight Chapin.

The Chapin case was much simpler than the Mitchell-Stans trial. Chapin, former appointments secretary to President Nixon, was indicted on four counts of lying to a grand jury about the political espionage activities of Donald Segretti.

But the case proved more complicated than a simple matter of demonstrating that what Chapin told the grand jury wasn't true. Chapin's lawyer, Jacob Stein, made the point that his client may have been mistaken in what he told the grand jury, but it was a case of faulty memory not deliberate lying.

CLEARED ON TWO CHARGES

Chapin was convicted on two of the four charges.

In the Mitchell-Stans trial, the government failed to convince the jury that either cabinet member intervened illegally in an investigation of the activities of financier Robert Vesco, who had contributed $200,000 to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Both Mitchell, the former attorney-general, and Stans, the former commerce secretary, admitted they had discussed the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) investigation of Vesco's affairs. But they denied they ever crossed the line separating an inquiry from an attempt to influence the case.

In attempting to prove they did cross that line, the government depended heavily on the testimony of Dean and G. Bradford Cook, a former SEC counsel and later chairman.

Both men had severe credibility problems.

Cook has admitted he lied three times to a grand jury and also to two congressional committees about the Vesco case.

Dean's credibility has been under attack after he appeared before the Senate Watergate committee last June and accused President Nixon of having had knowledge of the Watergate coverup.

DEFENDS PRESIDENT

The White House has said that the presidential tapes show that Dean lied to the Watergate committee.

But any evidence that Dean lied has yet to surface. The special prosecutor's office, which has some of the tapes in question, has said they do not contradict Dean.

Peter Fleming, Mitchell's lawyer, also effectively attacked Dean's credibility during the New York trial when he brought out the fact that the former White House counsel had pleaded guilty to obstruction of justice and is hoping his role as a government witness will help him avoid a prison sentence.

At the Watergate trial, at least two other government witnesses, Frederick LaRue and Jeb Stuart Magruder, also will be hoping their co-operation with the prosecution will influence the sentences they received on obstruction of justice charges.

Book of records sets own world mark

LONDON (CP) — The next edition of the Guinness Book of Records, due out in October, will include itself among the world's record-holders for the first time. Its publishers say it now has higher commercial sales than any British book has ever had.

Worldwide sales up to last year were some 19 million, second only to the 24 million of Dr. Benjamin Spock on baby and child care.

The 1973 Guinness Book of Records sold some 4.8 million copies, said Norris McWhirter, co-editor and compiler of the book with his brother Ross. That meant, he said, the book was due to pass Dr. Spock's record within two years and become the world best-seller among commercial titles.

The best seller of all time remains the Bible, with sales since the year 1800 estimated at well over one billion. A New Testament in modern English sold some 30,000,000 from 1967 to November, 1971.

Are we becoming a pill-popping society?

GENEVA (REUTER(— Too many doctors are issuing too many pills for too many wron reasons, according to a World Health Organization (WHO) report.

The report said there is a potential danger of a medi cine-dependent society unless urgent investigations are con ducted into drug over-use and methods to halt the alarming rise in the amount of medica tion taken throughout the world.

Its authors—Dr. Lloyd Christopher, a member of the Geneva-based organization's drugs evaluation unit, and James Crooks, professor of pharmacology at Dundee Uni versity in Scotland—said it is important to give doctors' prescribing habits "promp and careful attention before too much ground is lost."

Increasing reports of resist ant strains of bacteria could be due to an over-liberal pre scription of an tibiotics, they wrote in the current edition of WHO's official journal, World Health."

The report said doctors of ten approved combinations of drugs when one was suf ficient, prescribed higher doses than necessary and even using drugs when al ternative methods are avail able.

LACK TRAINING

It also complained of in adequate training of univer sity undergraduates in clini cal pharmacology, and said "much remains to be done in the preparation of the doctor to meet the complex problems of drug therapy."

The article recommended regular postgraduate refresher courses for general practitioners, "who could then approach the management of their patients in a more informed and critical way."

According to the article's authors, doctors often give in to the temptation to write out prescriptions to postpone the return of troublesome patients to their offices.

They pointed out that in industrialized countries, more than half the adult population may take some kind of medi cation every day.

Estimates made on the basis of "manufacturers' sales figures, government pur chases and field surveys re veal a vast increase in drug use, and although the evi dence is wholly circum stantial, there are signs that there may be a growing prob lem of drug over-use," the ar ticle said.

UP BY HALF

Dr. Christopher and Prof. Crooks noted that in the United States approximately two billion prescriptions were dispensed in 1970—a 50-per cent increase over the pre vious decade—at a total cost to the consumer of $18 billion.

In England and Wales the number of prescriptions is sued by pharmacists rose from 188 million in 1949 to 247 million in 1970. In France, even allowing for inflation, to tal national expenditure on pharmaceuticals increased by 170 per cent between 1959 and 1972.

The report also revealed that in France children under two years of age are high consumers, and that in Swe den married persons of either sex are significantly more frequent drug consumers than the unmarried.

"It is undoubtedly true that the large amount of thera peutically useful drugs made available by pharmacological and pharmaceutical research has contributed to the in creased use of drugs," the ar ticle said.

"But since many of those drugs ex ert powerful effects the extent and gravity of the potential problems cannot easily be disregarded."

The WHO article slammed drug manufacturers for mak ing excessive claims about their products. In information received from those firms by the doctor, "contra-in dications, types of patients who may develop side-effects, interaction potential and un common side-effects may not be adequately discussed," the report said.

"Another trend to be depr ecated is the use of the mass media of press and television to promote unjustifiable claims for over-the-counter products. Sales pressure of this type militates gainst the public using such drugs sensi bly."
